SUB SINKS U. S. SHIP; CAPTAIN TAKEN PRISONER

Think U-Boat Heads for Axis Port.

The sinking of two more ships in the western Atlantic was announced yesterday. One was a medium sized American merchantman torpedoed July 9 and the other was a Brazilian freighter sunk July 26. The new attacks raised to 404 the Associated Press unofficial tabulation of allied and neutral ship losses in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor. The sinkings caused 2,265 deaths, 1,628 persons are missing, and 11,903 were rescued.

U. S. CAPTAIN A PRISONER

AN EAST COAST PORT, July 30 (AP).—A veteran sea captain, 66 year old Henry Stephenson of Larchmont, N. Y., has been made a prisoner of war aboard a German submarine that sank his medium sized United States merchant vessel July 9 about 1,000 miles out in the Atlantic from the northern coast of South America.

Capt. Henry Stephenson.

Shipmates who survived the sinking and were unmolested by the Nazis told on their arrival here that the German commander imprisoned their captain and ignored pleas that he be permitted to accompany them home.

"We'll treat him well," said the English speaking submarine commander. "He'll be aboard only about 11 days."

First Prisoner Taken by Sub.

It was the first report made public here that any seaman from a torpedoed ship had been made a prisoner of war.

Ernest MacClellan, 31, of Hanson, Mass., the chief mate, said the submarine that captured Capt. Stephenson apparently was homeward bound to Germany or other axis territory from a raiding expedition against merchant shipping closer to the western Atlantic coast.

A torpedo that seriously damaged the merchant ship killed two crewmen. A third was drowned and 43 were uninjured. The Germans sent a boarding party which loaded provisions into a small boat. The vessel then was sunk with shellfire.

SUNK NEAR TRINIDAD

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 30 (AP).—The government announced today that the Brazilian ship Tamandare had been torpedoed and sunk.

The 4,942 ton freighter, which formerly operated between New York and Rio de Janeiro under the name Mormacport, sank within 40 minutes after having been torpedoed near Trinidad July 26.

Four members of the crew were lost. Three of the 45 survivors who landed at Port of Spain were injured.

ARMSTRONG SEES DRAFT OF FAMILY HEADS BY JAN. 1

The army may begin drafting men with family dependents by next Jan. 1, Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois state director of selective service, said last night at a meeting of 500 draft officials and manufacturing representatives from ten counties in Aurora.

"By Jan. 1, next," said Col. Armstrong, "draft boards will begin calling into service men 20 to 44 years of age, regardless of family dependency, in such numbers as the army has facilities to train them. All men 20 to 44 are in the armed services, on loan temporarily to vital war industries and to their families."

The state draft director said that many local draft boards in the state "have scraped the bottom of the barrel for 1A men" and that the state's July quota had not been filled. He said an army of 8 million men next year and of 10 million in 1944 is envisioned. Other draft officials who spoke urged manufacturers to employ women and to start training boys of 16 and 17 years.

MEMBERS SEEK TO CUT $200,000 YEARLY TRIBUTE

Plan to Shear Gang of Influence.

For the first time in 25 years the rank and file of the Chicago Motion Picture Operators union, one of the richest and most powerful of the city's labor organizations, is to have a chance to vote for new by-laws. The new rules, as proposed, would end a permit racket that has poured $200,000 a year into the pockets of gangsters lurking in the background of the union and would make mandatory regular financial reports to the membership.

Since the time of the first World war, officers of the union, with racketeer forces behind them, have made it impossible for the union to take in new regular members. Instead of issuing new membership cards the union has issued temporary work permits to hundreds of operators.

Forced to Renew Permits.

These extras, many of them competent men working regularly at wages of $80 to $120 a week, are forced to renew the permits each week and pay 10 per cent of their earnings into the union treasury.

Chicago motion picture theaters employ about 750 operators regularly, but the local union has only 350 regular members. This leaves 400 permit workers to pay exorbitant sums for the privilege of working. The union officials and the racketeers behind them are thus able to twist $4,000 a week from this small army of workmen who have no vote on union affairs.

In addition to this vast take the regular members must pay their dues of $40 a quarter—$160 a year. Heavy as are these dues, they are barely a third of what each temporary permit worker pays.

Give Up Half of Salaries.

Chicago operators say that government authorities both in Chicago and New York recently learned that 100 or more of the permit men are paying to the men who control the affairs of the union half their salaries remaining after the 10 per cent deduction. These are collecting, the informants say, $40 to $50 a week from at least 100 men—or $4,000 to $5,000 a week clear—to put in their pockets.

Now comes the effort by the 300 regular members of the union to end the permit racket. A committee to revise the constitution and by-laws of the union has been appointed, headed by Smith King, operator at the Granada theater, and King said yesterday that the paramount business of the committee will be to change the fundamental rules so as to throw open the books and allow many of the permit men into regular membership.

Rules 30 Years Old.

King said his committee had been formed at the suggestion of Frank Walsh of New York, head of the In-

ORDER INTERCITY BUS LINES TO POOL ROUTES TO SAVE TIRE RUBBER

A new route pooling arrangement dictated by the Office of Defense Transportation as a means of saving tire rubber is to be put into effect by several interurban bus companies operating out of Chicago.

One of the changes, announced by the ODT office here, will suspend the service of the Interstate Transit Lines between Chicago and Milwaukee by way of Waukegan and Kenosha. The patrons of the line are to be served by the Northern Greyhound lines, which was instructed to operate at least one bus each way daily on the Interstate company line. The total number of Milwaukee-Chicago round trips is limited in the order to 10.

John D. Biggs, chairman of the Illinois Commerce commission, announced that Illinois Greyhound is to abandon its local service between Chicago and Peoria by way of Ottawa, and Santa Fe Trails will take it over. Santa Fe is to give up its business between Peoria and Springfield to Blackhawk Motor Transit, and Illinois Greyhound will serve the Springfield-St. Louis route thru Litchfield, now a Santa Fe operation.

Henderson Out of Gas, Tied by Own Red Tape

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on page 7.)

Washington, D. C., July 30.—Leon Henderson, the mighty dealer in prices and rations, today strolled up to his neighborhood service station, can in hand, to buy some gas for his empty automobile tank.

But that's where the rolypoly Mr. Henderson wound up in his own red tape.

In the first place the station wasn't open—stations are limited to 72 hours a week and must open late or close early on weekdays if they want to do business on Sundays.

It was before 8 o'clock and Henderson had jumped into his car, in a hurry as usual, to get to his office and issue more regulations. The motor wouldn't start. A hasty inspection disclosed an empty gas tank.

Gas Station Is Closed.

Grabbing an empty gasoline can, Henderson marched off to the nearest station. The place was locked up tighter than an OPA regulation.

Leon isn't known as a patient or easy tempered man, but he managed to cool his heels for 15 long minutes until the attendant, John Leigh, 33, arrived at 8 a. m.

"Sorry, sir, but these new fangled gasoline regulations won't let me sell you gasoline in a can like that without a special permit," Leigh informed Henderson, pointing to the can.

Leon is said to have made an extremely forceful presentation of his case—all to the effect that Leigh was wrong.

"Look at Your Ration Card."

So Henderson pulled out the book he himself created and winced upon reading it.

"But good heavens, man," declared Henderson impatiently, "I know what those regulations are. I wrote them myself. Look here," he asserted menacingly, "I'm out of gas. I've got to get to work."

Leigh suggested that his prospective customer hire a cab to push his car to the station.

Henderson gave up and hired a cab, but took it directly to his office instead and immediately began poring over his book of regulations.

"Aha," he said, as he found this provision tucked between the covers:

"Provided further that bulk transfer may be made, of an amount of gasoline not in excess of one unit, to enable a vehicle, stranded for lack of fuel, to reach a source of supply; in such case the transferer shall retain the ration book presented until the vehicle is brought to the place of transfer, for identification."

Marking the section vividly, Henderson autographed the book of regulations and ordered it sent to the unconvincible Mr. Leigh.

JURY OF 12 WOMEN IMPANELED TO TRY SMOTHERER OF WIFE

An all woman jury—the first in the history of the Cook county Criminal court—was impaneled yesterday to begin hearing testimony today in the murder trial of Allen D. Stuver, who is accused of having strangled his pretty wife after she had admitted intimacies with other men. The trial will be conducted before Judge Harold G. Ward.

Stuver, 23 years old, is expected to plead temporary insanity and the "unwritten law" in justification of his slaying his wife, Virginia, also 23, in their home at 4729 Woodlawn avenue last May 18.

Stuver said that after smothering her by holding a pillow over her face, he attempted to kill himself by opening a gas jet and slashing his wrists.

Assistant State's Attorney Edmund Grant, in charge of the prosecution, is not expected to ask the death penalty.

The jurors who will deliberate Stuver's fate are Miss Anne Benkendorf, 42, of 657 North Tripp avenue; Mrs. Lottie E. Gleason, 50, of 4919 North Talman avenue; Mrs. Christine Kubol, 31, of 3514 24th place; Mrs. Marie Zielinski, 33, of 5514 West 24th place, Cicero; Mrs. Katherine Johnson, 32, of 4732 South Wells street; Mrs. Mabel Ulrich, 55, of 4836 North Winchester avenue; Mrs. Ruth Heidenreich, 39, of 4840 South Ashland avenue; Mrs. Jeannette Conklin, 54, of 820 East 80th street; Mrs. Wilhelmina Maki, 47, of 1725 Ridge road, Homewood; Mrs. Beatrice Wagner, 29, of 1842 North Ashland avenue; Mrs. Florence McManimen, 34, of 1643 Oak street, Chicago Heights, and Mrs. Mary Rita Callaghan, 30, of 1315 South 7th avenue, Maywood.

Sky Troopship for Army Put in Production

Buffalo, N. Y., July 30 (AP).—The new Curtiss commando [C-46] military transport plane has passed exhaustive tests and already is in quantity production.

The Commando, more than twice as large as any domestic air liner now in operation, can transport troops and scout cars simultaneously.

An idea of its size can be gained by engineers' claims that 35 of these craft could have transported all of the estimated 30,000 tons of material carried by 7,700 trucks over the Burma road during one month—and more quickly.

Speed Rating High.

Torpedo shaped and of all-metal construction, the Commando has a top speed approaching that of combat aircraft, the Curtiss-Wright corporation said. Its speed, of course, is secret, but a prototype of the Commando spanned the Atlantic nonstop in less than nine hours.

The Commando has a wing span of 108 feet, weighs 50,000 pounds fully loaded, and is powered by two 2,000 horse power engines.

Aside from the long, grueling ground and flight tests to which the giant troopship of the sky was subjected before being turned over to the army, the most interesting phase of the trials involved a series of troop carrying demonstrations.

The 712th military police battalion was used and at a signal from Maj. Robert A. Williams, fully equipped soldiers charged up runways at double quick time and poured thru a large door in the side of the fuselage.

Carries Cars, Too.

Inside, the soldiers took their places in folding seats. The soldier demonstration found acceptable, "jeep" scout cars were driven aboard, after which soldiers again dashed up the ramps and took their places.

The transportation of troops and scout cars is only one of the many military missions for which the Commando is designed.

The framework of the ship is designed to accommodate the deadweight of artillery, army tractors, trucks, aircraft engines, aviation gasoline, and other mobile equipment.

The beauty of the Commando, the company said, is its ability to land in comparatively small fields and take off from these fields with a full load.

58 Jap Planes Raid 2 Ports in West Australia

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, July 31 [Friday]—(AP).—A powerful attack on Port Darwin by 27 heavy Japanese bombers escorted by 22 Zero fighters was broken up yesterday by the "brilliant interception" of allied fighters and the attackers lost nine planes, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported early today.

Nine Planes Downed.

The defending planes accounted for seven bombers and two fighters and lost only one, the communique announced.

The heavy attack was made in the afternoon after a light aerial thrust which resulted in no damage or casualties.

The Japanese sent nine heavy bombers against Port Hedland, on the northwestern sector of Australia, yesterday and caused slight damage and one casualty by bombing from a great height, the headquarters announced.

Jap Transport Blasted.

It was the first raid of the war on Port Hedland, about 1,000 miles southwest of Darwin.

The communique also said that allied bombers set fire to a medium Japanese transport off Gona mission on the Papuan peninsula.

Tells Reports of Jap Landing on Pribilofs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—Reports that the Japanese have landed in the Pribilof islands, only 200 miles from the mainland of Alaska in the Bering sea, have been transmitted to Anthony J. Dimond, Alaskan delegate in congress, he revealed today. This information, received from several sources, remains "competely unconfirmed," Dimond said. The navy remained mute on Dimond's disclosure.

If Dimond's information is found to be authentic, the Japs will have taken a long step forward toward an invasion of Alaska proper and the west coasts of Canada and the United States. The Pribilof islands are more than 500 miles east of the islands of Attu, Kiska, and Agattu, which are now occupied by Jap invaders.

Four Isles in Group.

Four islands make up the Pribilof group, sometimes known as the Fur Seal islands. They are the St. Paul, Walrus, Otter, and St. George islands. They lie about 200 miles north of Unalaska and 200 miles south of Cape Newenham, the nearest point on the mainland.

The islands are hilly and volcanic. Two of them [St. Paul and St. George] are about 35 and 27 square miles in area, respectively. The other two are mere islets. Otter isle is 4 square miles in area while Walrus isle is only a reef covering about 64 acres. There are no harbors in the islands.

Charges Complacency.

Dimond last week told congress that the army and navy were "too complacent" over the Jap invasion of the Aleutians. His assertion that there were 25,000 Japs in the islands was disputed by the army. By taking Kiska, Dimond said, the Japs are nearer the United States Pacific coast and the Panama canal than if they had taken Midway.

Sen. A. B. Chandler [D., Ky.] left Washington tonight for the west coast, where he will join other members of a military affairs subcommittee for an inspection trip of Alaska's defenses.

BEAT BACK FOE ON STALINGRAD, VORONEZH LINES

MOSCOW, July 31 [Friday]—(AP).—The Red army hurled the Germans back in their thrust at Stalingrad yesterday and waged a battle to annihilate the enemy forces which crossed the Don river south of Tsimlyansk, the Russians announced today.

At Voronezh, on the German north Don flank, too, the Russians dislodged the enemy from a number of strong points in the course of heavy fighting, but south of Rostov it was admitted that the weight of German arms again had been too much and that a further retirement had been forced to southeast of Bataisk.

Press Germans Back.

Many German tanks and infantry regiments, driving with all their power across the barren steppes of the Don bend in an effort to reach the Volga river city of Stalingrad, were beaten back near Kletskaya, 80 miles northwest, it was said.

"Southwest of Kletskaya our troops repelled enemy attacks and in some sectors pressed the enemy back," the communique declared.

Several hundred Germans were annihilated, nine tanks destroyed, and 14 planes shot down, it added.

A great Russian stand was expected confidently by observers before Stalingrad, for which the Russians hold great emotional esteem. There it was that Stalin made his military history in the revolution of 1917.

Describes Two Day Battle.

"Day and night the shelling never dies down," it said. "In the last two days the fighting has been heaviest where the Don makes its great bend. In this key sector the enemy is going all-out to smash thru to the river. . . . The enemy is making a furious drive for full mastery of the right bank of the Don at any cost.

"The battle is raging over an area extending several dozen miles along the front and in depth and with every type of troops engaged. In the sky the fighting never ceases."

In the Tsimlyansk area, 120 miles upstream from Rostov, where the Germans made their first crossing of the Don, the Russians said they were counterattacking and had driven a wedge of tanks and infantry into a large mass of Germans and inflicted huge losses in men and equipment.

The Germans in this area were described as "masses of troops and machines."

Nazi 'Chutists in Caucasus.

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—Broadcast Vichy news dispatches heard here said masses of German parachutists from the Crimea descended at dawn today on Temryuk on the Caucasian peninsula of Taman. The report, which was not heard from any other sources, said other Germans stormed across the Kerch straits and also landed on the peninsula, where they threatened the rear of the Russian forces fighting the German frontal thrust across the Don.

Establishment of several bridgeheads across the narrow straits was preceded by an all night artillery and

AROUSED JURORS RECALL SHERIFF IN SLOT INQUIRY

Four of His Aids Also Will Be Requestioned.

The July grand jury, which has been conducting an investigation of gambling in the rural and suburban areas of Cook county, has ordered Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien and his police chief, James Fleming, to reappear for requestioning today.

It was indicated yesterday that the grand jury displayed irritation verging on anger after quizzing the three lieutenants who command the sheriff's police districts. Two of these reasons were:

1. The discovery that the lieutenants' reports of finding no slot machine gambling conflicted with almost simultaneous reports of state's attorney's detectives stating that slot machines were operating in the same resorts.

2. The inability or unwillingness of the sheriff and his aids to arrest or bring in for grand jury quizzing the slot machine syndicate heads, Edward Vogel and Jack Guzik.

Lieutenants Under Fire.

O'Brien and Fleming were questioned Monday and asserted they had told the lieutenants to stop gambling in their territories. The lieutenants, Morton Leviton of the northwest sector, Fred Mulhausen of the southern, and Henry Andel of the west district, admitted this formal but vague message had reached them.

It was when they began telling how their men visited supposed slot machine nooks and came back with reports that all was well and the laws unbroken that the grand jurors became hostile.

Shouts of "Are you a blindfolded policeman?" and "You ought to be fired" were heard while Leviton was being examined. The voice apparently was that of State's Attorney Courtney.

Reports in Disagreement.

It was said that the lieutenants had difficulty trying to explain why their reports so often were in direct opposition to the state's attorney's. Six such instances were said to have been traced to Andel and several to each of his colleagues. After the three left the grand jurors, all looking bothered as well as hot, it was reported the investigating body was discussing "phony reports."

When the lieutenants return today with the sheriff and his chief, they will be given another opportunity to produce some tangible evidence of their efficiency as slot machine suppressors. The jurors will be fortified with new information divulged Tuesday by Arthur Lorenzen, Niles filling station owner, who was recently used by the slot syndicate as a front man.

Report Jurors Amazed.

The "no arrest" policy of the sheriff toward Vogel, an old Capone henchman, is understood to have amazed the grand jurors. They have heard that the sheriff's men have been looking for Vogel and Guzik since they were identified last October by THE TRIBUNE and the state's attorney as heads of a combine making gambling profits of millions a year.

The O'Brien police have never caught up with either man. And all the while Vogel has been going about freely. His address is known, his yacht is tied up in Belmont harbor when he isn't bounding over the waves in it, and he entertains his cronies in night clubs [which regard him as a good spender]. It was expected that O'Brien would be asked why his men can't arrest Vogel, even if they miss the more retiring Guzik.

Seize a Few Machines.

At long last the highway police got around early yesterday to seizing a few slot machines. They took one at the Westward Ho golf course on Wolf road and five in the Cog Hill golf course on Archer avenue and arrested the managers of both places.

About 40 saloonkeepers who had slot machines have been questioned by the grand jury, but were said to have had little definite information.

INDICT OFFICIAL OF NEW MEXICO ON BRIBE CHARGE

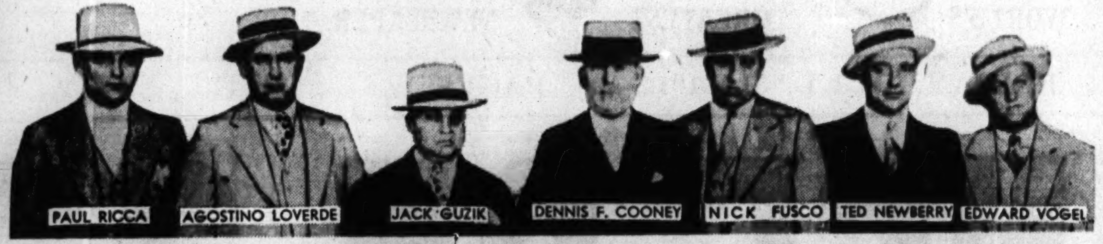
Santa Fe, N. M., July 30 (AP).—E. P. Chase, New Mexico attorney general, was indicted on a charge of bribery late today by a county grand jury investigating state affairs. District Judge David Chavez Jr. set bond at $500.

District Attorney David Carmody said the indictment charged the attorney general with accepting a fee for writing an official opinion. He declined to disclose the nature of the opinion or the amount of the alleged bribe.

The indictment was the first true bill returned by the jury, which was convened July 6. Chase was not immediately available for comment.

Two Views of Central Figure in Slot Machine Quiz

(Story in adjoining column.)



Edward Vogel as he appeared in June, 1930, in a New York showup after he had been arrested with eight others while the nine were on their way to the Schmeling-Sharkey heavyweight boxing match there. The grand jury has become angry over the failure of Sheriff O'Brien's men to arrest Vogel as a key figure in the Cook county slot machine racket. At the time the picture was taken Guzik was identified as Alfonse Capone's general manager, Newberry as a lieutenant of George (Bugs) Moran, Cooney as an alleged vice lord, said to be allied with Capone, and Fusco as a reputed Capone henchman. The New York police found $60,000 in cash on the nine men. Newberry, Loverde, and Cooney are now dead.

MOVE TO CRUSH PERMIT RACKET OF MOVIE UNION

Would End $200,000 Yearly Tribute.

ternational Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés and Motion Picture Machine Operators. The parent organization. King said: "It isn't a move directed at anybody in particular. The rules are more than 30 years old and go back to the régime of Thomas E. Maloy. Changes have come about in labor that make it necessary to bring them up to date. But I will say that the question of admitting some or all the eligible permit men is the paramount issue."

Reports from New York have been that the revision of the constitution and by-laws was in part a move to oust Peter Shayne, who draws $5,000 a year as president, and $13,000 as assistant business agent.

Shayne and John Smith, $20,000 a year business manager of the union, recently have made several trips to New York where, it was reported, they were questioned by United States Attorney Mathias Correa and a federal grand jury.

Racket Started by Maloy.

The Motion Picture Operators' union has been a turbulent one ever since the late Thomas E. [Tommy] Maloy took it over back in 1920. Maloy, who was assassinated by men who fired sawed-off shotgun blasts into his car at 24th street and the Outer drive on Feb. 4, 1935, was reputed to have taken $1,000,000 or more out of the union. It was he who conceived and started the permit racket and perfected it as a means of extortion. Thruout his 15 year régime—and since—killings, shootings, sluggings, bombings, fires, shakedowns, and extortion marked its history.

Less than a week after Maloy was slain, George E. Browne, then international president, who recently was convicted and sentenced to 10 years for extortion, took charge and remained in power for more than six years.

Browne, always credited with being the stooge head of the union, put the present president, Peter Shayne, and the present business manager, John Smith, in their respective $18,000 and $20,000 jobs and kept them there. At the same time Nick Circella, commonly known as Nick Dean, representative of the Capone mob, held a $22,000 a year job in the organization. Dean resigned this post, in which he was called "assistant to the president," when he was indicted in New York in the same extortion plot which resulted in the conviction of Browne and Willie Bioff, one time Chicago pander.

Convicted of Extortion.

Browne and Bioff were convicted by a jury of extorting large sums, running into $1,000,000 or more, from several heads of the motion picture industry thru threats of calling strikes in theaters. They convinced the movie magnates they could do it thru the local unions they controled in New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, and many other cities and the movie men testified they gave up the money. Circella pleaded guilty to the same charge and also was sentenced to 10 years.

Circella was long the reputed Capone watchman in the Chicago union. For this he got a salary of $22,000 a year, and envelopes containing gang payments were reported to have been handed him every week.

Some one, operators and government agents say, has taken Circella's place as collector for the gangsters, still in control from behind the scenes.

DECLINES UNION JOB UNLESS ALL MEMBERS VOTE

An offer of the Painters' District council last night to install him as secretary-treasurer of the council was refused by Matthew Hartlein, who demanded that a general election be held by the 21,000 members of the union's locals.

Hartlein was elected last week by the council to fill the unexpired term of Arthur W. Wallace, who was slain in a gun fight July 17 at the home of Charles Youngblood, business agent for local 147, in which Youngblood's wife also was killed. Youngblood's local refused to approve the election.

Hartlein, in declining the post as proffered by the council, said that he felt the council's vote might not be representative of the attitude of the membership as a whole, and that he would not accept the position unless all members had an opportunity to ballot. The election will be held within 90 days.

Razor Maker Gillette's Son Files Bankruptcy Petition

Los Angeles, Cal., July 30 (AP).—King G. Gillette, son of the late razor manufacturer, King C. Gillette, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today. He claimed no assets but listed debts of $489,933, including $8,160 due the government in excise and income taxes. Gillette lives on a ranch near Palm Springs.

MAYOR CLOSES TWO MORE LOOP 'HOT SPOT' BARS

Mayor Kelly late yesterday revoked the licenses of the Royal Frolics café, 426 South Wabash avenue, raided early yesterday morning, and of the Comfort Tavern, 708 South State street, on the recommendation of Capt. Thomas J. Duffy of the central police station.

Two men and six women were arrested in the raid on the Royal Frolics café, after police witnessed a show which Capt. Duffy described as "undoubtedly the most lascivious performance in Chicago."

Basis of the revocation of the Comfort Tavern's license was a complaint received at the central station that a customer had purchased seven bottles of beer for a hostess, and had been charged $43. Subsequent investigation by detectives indicated that the customer's experience was not an unusual one, Capt. Duffy said.

Detectives and police charged with keeping the loop free of hostesses, prostitutes and lewd shows were warned by Capt. Duffy yesterday that they were growing derelict in their enforcement of the city ordinances, and that suspension orders would be issued unless more diligence was shown.

CLOP, CLOP, CLOP; WOMEN'S SOLES TO BE OF WOOD

Washington, D. C., July 30 [Special].—Specially treated wooden soles may be the answer to the lack of top grade leather for women's shoes, the consumer division of OPA reported today.

It was said the wooden soles will not be the stiff clogs women are familiar with in beach and sports shoes. Experts are working to make the wood as pliable and durable as leather for street and dress shoes. The outcome will probably be a sole constructed of a series of wooden sections joined by leather hinges.

The introduction of wooden soles, however, will not be made for some time as tanning requirements for sole leather are expected to increase the wearability of regular shoes from 10 to 15 per cent, the division declared.

New Assignments Issued for Municipal Court Judges

New assignments of Municipal court judges, effective Monday, were announced yesterday by Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler. Judge Charles S. Dougherty, now in Boys' court, and Judge Gibson E. Gorman, now in Safety court, will exchange places. Other changes include assignment of Judge Nuncio J. Bonelli to Women's court and Judge John V. McCormick to the Jury and Auto Theft court.

ATTACKS STATE PAROLE REFORM LAW AS INVALID

Convicted Thief Applies to Federal Court.

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe granted a writ of habeas corpus yesterday on behalf of a convicted thief in the first legal challenge of the amended Illinois indeterminate sentence act. The new law, which permits judges to recommend maximum and minimum sentences, was enacted by the legislature in 1941.

The writ, made returnable Aug. 31 before Federal Judge John P. Barnes in the federal District court, was filed by W. G. Anderson, Negro attorney, for Daniel Bardell, 26 years old, 2706 Ogden avenue. The court ordered that Bardell be held in the county jail until the Aug. 31 hearing.

Invokes 14th Amendment.

Anderson alleged in his petition that under the new law Bardell would be deprived of his liberty without due process of law as guaranteed by the 14th amendment to the Constitution. He was convicted of larceny and sentenced in the Cook county Criminal court on July 1 to serve 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary. The court recommended that he serve a minimum of five years.

Under the amended indeterminate sentence act the court recommendations on a prisoner's sentence may be changed only by a vote of four of the five members of the parole board and the concurrence of the state director of public safety.

Attorney Anderson charged that the new law gives the division of correction of the department of public safety [the parole board] a judicial function and permits it to exercise judicial power to set aside the recommendation of the trial court. He held this to be unconstitutional.

Wants State Court Ruling.

Assistant State's Attorney James V. Cunningham replied that the writ should not be granted until the state Supreme court is called upon to rule on the constitutionality issue.

Anderson said out of court that if the amendment is declared unconstitutional it would affect hundreds of prisoners whose sentences have been changed by the division of correction.

Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg, who was in the forefront of the fight for parole reform in several sessions of the legislature, said the framers of the new law had drawn it carefully in an effort to meet the objections raised by Attorney Anderson.

"Under the amended law," he said, "the judgment of the court cannot be altered by the parole board. The judge still sentences a prisoner to serve, for example 1 to 10 years, and then makes a recommendation as to the maximum and minimum time to be served within the limits of the sentence. The law gives the court an added power to limit the authority of the parole board."

SMEAR'S PINKO TWINS: NATION, NEW REPUBLIC

Red Handmaidens Sing 'Liberalism' Tune.

Various individuals and organizations have tried to smear the independent press of the country. In the belief the public should know the backgrounds and motives behind these pogroms, factual stories about these detractors are printed from time to time. Another in this series is presented below.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

Down in New York City, where radicalism finds a fertile field for cultivation, there are two little butcher's paper magazines which have labored hard and long in the vineyard of the Reds. They call themselves the New Republic and the Nation.

As much alike as two peas in a pod in editorial policy, the two weeklies have been handy little handmaidens for the local brand of communists, or commies, for years. The rumor in the left wing trade is that they are planning to merge.

Their brand of goods is swatting capitalism, but the editors and contributors haven't been backward about taking money from capitalist fortunes whenever there was a hand-out and nobody was looking.

Perish C. P. Thought!

They say the magazines have no connection with the American Communist party, which in radical lingo is known as the C. P. They loudly claim their complete divorcement from the C. P. In fact, the New Republic once filed an affidavit to that effect with Mr. Dies' congressional committee investigating un-American activities, which makes everything official.

The boys on the New Republic and the Nation merely run around with the commies and sleep in the same ideological bed with them every night. They are ex-officio or honorary members, enjoying all the club privileges without taking out cards in the C. P.

Thus, there is no connection with the C. P. Perish the thought.

When President Roosevelt commuted the sentence of Earl Browder, national secretary of the C. P., the magazine twins sang loud hosannas. But the pair groaned editorially when, a few weeks later, Attorney General Francis Biddle ordered the deportation of Harry Bridges, west coast labor boss, as an alien communist.

Call It "Liberalism."

This line of policy, of course, was based on what the magazines like to call "liberalism," because as has been shown there was no hookup with the C. P.

The New Republic slammed Biddle's deportation order as one of the "most stupid, ill-advised, undemocratic actions in recent years." There was the little matter of Bridges' activities in the North American Aviation company strike, which paralyzed the production of war planes for Britain, but the New Republic gracefully skirted that one by saying he now was "doing a magnificent job."

When the country's number one communist was released from his cell in a federal penitentiary, where he was serving a sentence of passport fraud, the Nation hailed the move with these words: "New Dealers have greeted with approval and relief the President's courageous action in commuting Earl Browder's sentence." Pure liberalism. No connection.

Friends of Purge Crowd.

Editors of the magazine twins are the principal promoters of the so-called Union for Democratic Action which is attempting to purge 28 members of congress, some of them isolationists before Pearl Harbor and others, just by happenstance, outstanding foes of communism.

Just by accident, the roster of the 28 "obstructionist" congressmen marked for oblivion failed to include the name of Rep. Vito Marcantonio of New York. Marcantonio is a faithful hewer to the C. P. line. He was casting the lone vote in the house against defense appropriations during the days of the Nazi-soviet pact. The Reds called it an "imperialist war" in those days.

The Nation and New Republic were interventionist in editorial policy during the great debate which preceded the attack on Pearl Harbor. Their attitude toward Russia before the German attack was of the mild, slap-on-the-wrist variety.

Mix in Front Groups.

In their zeal for "liberalism" many of the editors and contributors of the two magazines found it desirable to mix actively in the affairs of numerous communist front organizations, especially the American League Against War and Fascism, which later became the American League for Peace and Democracy. Attorney General Biddle, in his opinion on the Bridges deportation, described the league as a communist front setup.

The "liberal" record of some of the editors and contributors to the New Republic and Nation follows:

New Republic.

Bruce Bliven, editor—Active in the American League for Peace and Democracy and other Red front organizations; lecturer for the Socialist "Rand School"; came to the front for the English communist, John Strachey, when he was detained at Ellis Island.

Malcom Cowley, editor — Recently let out of his $8,000 a year job in the Office of Facts and Figures, headed by Archibald MacLeish, when the Dies committee exposed his communist connections; in 1932 a member of the communist "League of Professional Groups for Foster and Ford," candidates for President and Vice President.

George H. Soule, editor—His books praised by the Daily Worker, the communist newspaper; adherent to such extreme left groups as the League for Industrial Democracy, which campaigns for "production for use and not for profit;" author of "The Coming American Revolution."

Stark Young, editor—Member of the book committee of the American Society for Cultural Relations with Russia and of the communist "John Reed club."

Aids Communist League.

Edward C. Lindeman, contributing editor — Member of the American League for Peace and Democracy; Committee Against Militarism in Education; advisory editor of Champion, official organ of the Young Communist League and also of the International Workers Order.

Harold J. Laski, English contributor—In his book, "Communism," he compares communism with the early struggles of Christianity; in the League for Industrial Democracy's pamphlet on Karl Marx by Laski it is stated: "The Communist Manifesto still remains the most inspiring and up to date socialist document."

H. N. Brailsford, London correspondent—Among his books is one titled, "How the Soviets Work," which contains fulsome praise of the soviet system; contributor to New Masses, the Communist weekly magazine; member of the Society for Cultural Relations Between Great Britain and Soviet Russia, a "sister" organization to the American Society for Cultural Relations with Russia; member of the Independent Labor Party; in company with Laski represented the Independent Labor Party at the communist controled Brussels congress in 1927 when the soviet "League Against Imperialism and for National Independence" was born.

Ex-Editor of Nation.

Max Lerner, contributing editor—Executive committee member of the American League Against War and Fascism; former editor of the Nation, and as such, one of the most vigorous sympathizers with the Spanish communist régime; member of the general committee of the American Friends of Spanish Democracy.

Granville Hicks, contributor—Was an avowed communist, but resigned from party for its policy during soviet-Nazi pact; for a number of years was an editor of New Masses and book reviewer for Daily Worker; American history instructor at Harvard and associated there with Archibald MacLeish.

The Nation.

Freda Kirchwey, editor and publisher—Formerly on executive board of New Masses; member American League for Peace and Democracy; American Committee for Democracy and Intellectual Freedom, communist dominated; American Student Union, communist controled; National Committee for Defense of Political Prisoners, Red controled; and Spanish aid organizations set up by Communist party; in private life is wife of former Socialist functionary, Evans Clark, high salaried director of the Filene Twentieth Century Fund.

Robert Bendiner, managing editor—Former editor of New Masses.

Maxwell S. Stewart, associate editor—On national executive committee of American League for Peace and Democracy; Friends of the Soviet Union; New Masses contributor; Soviet Russia Today; Spanish aid communist groups.

Louis Fischer, contributing editor—American League for Peace and Democracy; International Labor Defense; New Masses; Soviet Russia Today; Red Spanish aid groups.

Reject Profit-Seeking.

Reinhold Niebuhr, contributing editor—American League for Peace and Democracy and other communist front groups; secretary of the United Christian Council for Democracy which has a platform advocating pure Marxism as follows: "We reject the profit-seeking economy and the capitalistic way of life with its private ownership of the things upon which the lives of all depend. We propose to support the necessary political and economic action to implement these aims."

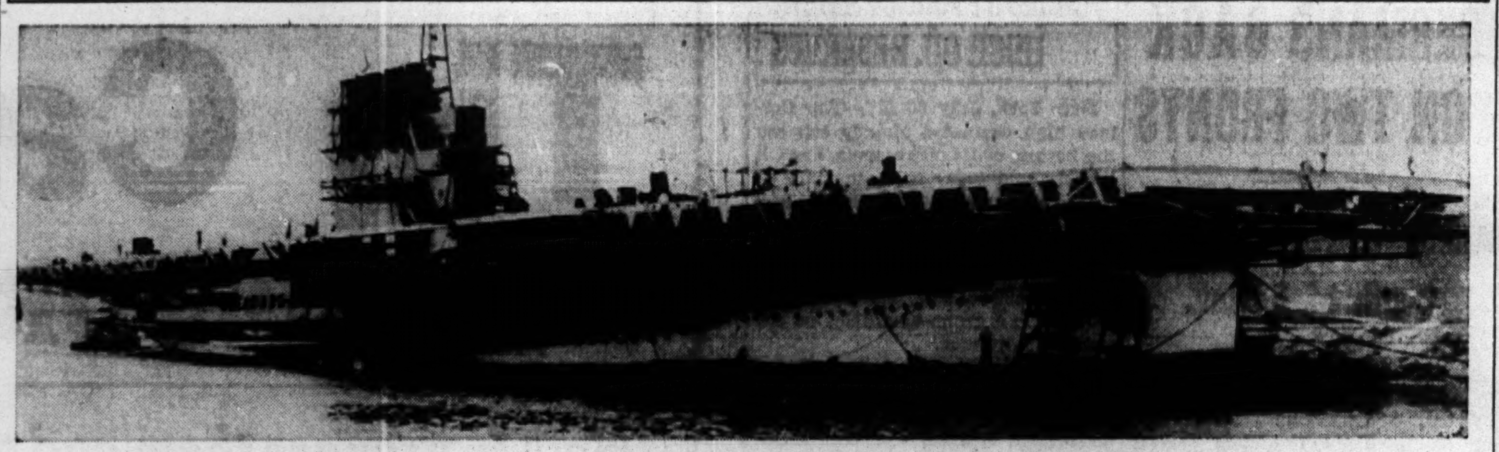
It happens that from time to time both these literary "liberals" have been propped up by large fortunes.

The New Republic, from the outset, paid its printer thru subsidiaries from the Willard D. Straight fortune, earned in the service of the house of J. P. Morgan.

The Nation, founded two days after the Fourth of July in 1865, was an urbane conservative organ until 1918. Oswald Garrison Villard inherited its ownership, along with the New York Evening Post, now a horrific afternoon tabloid sheet. Villard came out in the Nation as strong as horse radish for "civil liberties," pacifism, and friendly relations with soviet Russia.

Villard was shoved to one side because he opposed the scheme to pack the United States Supreme court, true "liberalism" then being on the other side. Before Pearl Harbor he disagreed with the magazine's interventionist policy and sat on the platform at America First committee meetings.

Sidewheeler Converted Into Aircraft Carrier for Training on Lakes



The former Seeandbee, queen of the Great Lakes passenger liners, in a Buffalo, N. Y., shipyard where its conversion into an aircraft carrier training vessel is nearing completion. The 29 year old ship, built in Detroit, Mich., will be the only sidewheeler aircraft carrier in the world.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Work Nearly Done

Buffalo, N. Y., July 30 (AP).—Conversion of the S. S. Seeandbee, former queen of the Great Lakes passenger service, into an aircraft carrier training vessel for navy flyers "is nearing completion."

Lieut. Comm. Edward A. Eisele, navy supervisor of shipbuilding here, said today the job probably will be finished ahead of schedule.

Stripped of superstructure and smokestacks, the Seeandbee will be put in service "somewhere on the Great Lakes" as the world's only sidewheeler aircraft carrier.

SENATE PASSES $974,634,000 BILL FOR NAVY ASHORE

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—A bill authorizing $974,634,000 for naval shore construction to keep pace with fleet expansion and providing for a new secret weapon was passed today by the senate and sent to the White House.

Hidden somewhere in the program, probably in a $60,000,000 appropriation for "fleet facilities," is the plan to use $30,000,000 for development of the mysterious weapon and the training of men in its use. So closely guarded is the navy's secret that only the naval affairs committees of the house and senate have heard about it.

The bill authorizes "such temporary or permanent public works as the secretary of the navy may consider necessary" for the development of naval shore activities. Among other things, it provides for. Aviation facilities, $399,494,000; storage, $24,000,000; liquid fuel storage, $20,000,000; marine corps training, $11,000,000; ordnance storage, $52,000,000; personnel training and housing, $26,140,000; hospital and dispensary, $25,000,000; shore radio, $15,000,000; naval research laboratory, $2,000,000; passive defense, $25,000,000; miscellaneous structures and advance bases, $315,000,000.

TEXAS TRAINED FLYER CREDITED WITH SINKING SUB

Lieut. Carlus Turner of Redbud, Ky., as far as can be ascertained, is the school's first graduate to smash an axis objective.

Brig. Gen. I. Davies said today the Fort Myers army base had reported that Lieut. Turner, a member of MAFS class 42-7, has received official credit and a letter of commendation for sinking a German submarine off Yucatan in the Gulf of Mexico on June 21.

HOFFMAN BLASTS MOVE TO BAR HIM IN MILWAUKEE

Forum Under Attack for Invitation.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 30 [Special].—An attempt to smear Rep. Clare Hoffman [R., Mich.] and prevent him from appearing as a speaker at the Milwaukee community forum was met tonight by a blast from the congressman, who declared, from the forum platform, that America will find itself without a representative form of government if it fails to fight the smear forces.

Members of the Milwaukee chapter of the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties today complained that the forum was trying to disrupt national unity by inviting Hoffman or other speakers who were at any time connected with the anti-interventionist movement.

Hits Officers of Chapter.

Mrs. Katherine Wendelburg, chairman of the forum, said the management of Jefferson hall, where tonight's meeting was held, had been urged in telephone calls today to prevent the forum from using the hall in the future. The forum has had many distinguished speakers in its six years' existence.

Rep. Hoffman castigated Chairman Max E. Geline and Secretary David Sheldon of the complaining chapter as examples of those who boast of their love of freedom of speech and free press, but try to deny others the freedom of speech and thought for which America is fighting.

"We have been losing the war on the home front," Hoffman declared, "for while our men are fighting to establish the four freedoms everywhere we are steadily losing the rights guaranteed by the Constitution and fought for and established by our forefathers.

Urges Fight on Smear Forces.

"No patriotic American can remain on the defensive when his patriotism is challenged, but should carry the battle to those questioning his loyalty. We should, by citing the record and referring to fact, show, as we can, that those who hurl these charges only tend themselves to create disunity.

"Every loyal American, when his patriotism is questioned, should fight the intimidation being practiced by those whose interest is more in establishing their own theories here in America than they are in the preservation of America.

"No longer should we delay in demanding that this administration, and the publications which have been branding many of the American people as pro-Nazi, cease their attacks and turn their attention to winning the war."

LONDON PAPERS DUEL ON YANK AS ALLIED LEADER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—Editorial opinion expressed in the London Mirror, indicating that the British are opposed to the appointment of an American generalissimo to command a second front army was repudiated today by the Daily Telegraph.

In an editorial page column the paper categorically asserts that the suggestion that neither the British people nor the British army favored an American generalissimo is "calculated to create a false and damaging impression in the United States" and is "completely untrue."

The Daily Telegraph column says Britain wants the best man at the head of allied forces whatever his nationality, but assumes that an appointment can be made only "after full consideration of the qualifications and abilities of all possible leaders." The appointment of an American general after such consideration, it says, "would be welcomed both officially and unofficially in this country."

DENTAL GOLD STOLEN.

Robert W. Hall, 6066 Northcott avenue, Norwood Park, reported to police yesterday that thieves broke into his car in a parking lot at 4719 South Park way, and stole dental gold valued at $218.

BRITISH PAPER HAILS JOHNSTON GALLANTRY IN CORAL SEA BATTLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31 [Friday].—Commenting on the epic stories of the battle of the Coral sea by Stanley Johnston, Chicago Tribune war correspondent, which have been reprinted in England, the Daily Telegraph today said:

"No one who has ever known Johnston would be surprised at his gallantry during the sinking of the [American aircraft carrier] Lexington in the battle of the Coral sea. A tall, lean Australian, Johnston enlisted with the Australian imperial forces in the last war at the age of 14 and at 15 was with the artillery at Gallipoli. He still bears scars of his wounds. While reporting the battle of Britain [in September, 1940] he made a remarkable escape from Dover when his hotel was hit. He fell four stories, was pinned under the wreckage, and then got up and spent four hours pulling out dead and wounded." Under the headline, "Journalist Hero Who Went Back for His Papers," Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard yesterday printed a story quoting Lieut. Comm. Weldon Hamilton of the United States navy as calling Johnston "one of the real heroes of the Lexington" for his rescues of wounded men. Beaverbrook's Daily Express previously had printed part of Johnston's dramatic Coral sea stories, and the British Broadcasting corporation had carried a special broadcast of Johnston's story of the sinking of the Lexington, which had been published in the Manchester Guardian.

PAY ANNIVERSARY TRIBUTE TUESDAY TO COAST GUARD

Next Tuesday will be "Coast Guard day" in Chicago.

Mayor Kelly will proclaim the day, the 152d anniversary of the founding of the guard, as "Coast Guard day" in recognition of the service performed by that branch of the armed forces and to lend impetus to a recruiting campaign.

At ceremonies at the coast guard station in Jackson park, 300 recruits will be inducted, the largest single group ever to be sworn in here, and a half mile section of the winding Outer drive near the station will be officially renamed Coast Guard drive.

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world and now a lieutenant in the coast guard, is scheduled to give a pep talk to the recruits, and high ranking officers of the navy are expected to be present. The navy will be further represented by the bluejacket band from Navy pier.

BAN ON 'CANNED' MUSIC DEFENDED BY UNION CHIEF

Thousands Out of Work, Petrillo Tells Fly.

New York, July 30 [Special].—The public may be surprised to learn that 95 per cent of the music heard nowadays in the United States and Canada is recorded or "canned" music, James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians [AFL], declared tonight in an attempt to explain his union's determined stand against activities which deprive its members of employment.

Petrillo's statement was made in a letter to James L. Fly, chairman of the Federal Communications commission, who last week asked the union president to explain why the weekly concerts of the Interlochen, Mich., National High school band were ordered banned from the National Broadcasting company network.

Petrillo said that while the primary reason for the union's objection to these concerts was because of the clash between free music and the need for professional musicians, the Interlochen situation involved commercialization.

$400 Tuition for Season.

"Interlochen is a commercial proposition," he wrote Fly, "while in public schools thruout the country children receive their tuition free. Fees paid by some of the pupils at Interlochen exceed $400 per season of eight weeks. This, in my opinion, puts the school squarely on a commercial basis. Radio advertisers pay musicians and all other participants a commercial price for advertising their commodities and the same rule should apply to this school."

Petrillo said that if there is a continuation of the high rate of unemployment in the music profession, which has reached 90 per cent in some union locals, there will be no incentive for youth to become professional musicians. If the children at Interlochen become professionals later, he said, they will resent the very thing that has been taking place at the school.

8,000 Thrown Out of Work.

Referring to the AFM ban on making recordings, effective Saturday, the union leader declared that 500,000 juke boxes in the United States and Canada have thrown about 8,000 musicians out of work and that several thousand more have no jobs because of about 500 radio stations "which do not employ a single live musician."

Members of the AFM receive about 3 million dollars annually for making "canned" music, Petrillo said, but when this music is distributed around this country and Canada, it takes the place of live musicians who would receive 100 million dollars for their work. He added: "Certainly no one can say this is a healthy condition."

Answering Fly's assertion that the ban on canned music would force the small independent radio stations out of business, Petrillo asked: "Who shall go out of business first? Why can't we all live? Why should all big revenues go into the pockets of these radio stations, officials, and others, without paying one dollar to the musicians?"

Help Put Selves in Eclipse.

Petrillo cited the irony of the situation in which musicians, by making the "canned" music, are committing professional suicide, for they are making the instruments that puts them out of business. He conceded that various labor saving devices, such as the refrigerator, had replaced virtually an entire class of workers, but pointed out that in those cases the displaced worker had nothing to do with the machine that deprived him of his livelihood.

The union leader complained that not one recording or transcription company had approached the AFM with any suggestion to solve this problem. Instead, he charged, they bring pressure on Washington to fight their battles with the result that the government spends time and money to protect those interests while the AFM must protect itself with it own resources.

Resents Title of "Czar."

Expressing his resentment against being called "czar" and "dictator," and statements that the only music on the air is the kind of music permitted by him, Petrillo declared that the ban on "canned" music was ordered by unanimous vote at the AFM convention in Seattle, Wash., last year. He said he is only doing what the convention and executive board directed.

In defending his position, Petrillo recalled the situation 18 months ago when the broadcasting companies, during a fight with the American Society of Authors, Composers and Publishers [Ascap], kept from the radio public for nine months some of the finest music written.

United Nations Ship Sunk in Collision in Atlantic Fog

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, July 30 (AP).—An allied ship has been sunk in a collision in the northwest Atlantic, but all her crew of more than 30 seamen have been rescued and brought to this port. In a dense fog, the vessel collided with another united nations craft. The second ship was able to proceed under her own power. Further details of the collision were not made known here.

MICHIGAN AVENUE AT RANDOLPH

MISSIONARY AIDS JAPS 45 YEARS; REWARD—PRISON

Threatened with Shooting, He Calls Their Bluff.

BY JOSEPH DYNAN.
[Former Associated Press correspondent in Tokio.]

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, July 28 [Delayed]—(AP).—Smilingly and without a visible trace of bitterness, Dr. Harry W. Myers, 68 years old, told me today how he remained unbroken in the face of Japanese threats to shoot him unless he confessed to charges of espionage.

"Go ahead, I am ready," Myers told his guards. Their bluff called, the Japanese gave up.

That was in February and already the missionary teacher had started losing his toenails and his ankles were swollen with an incipient threat of gangrene from long hours of sitting in the knee straining fashion enforced by his jailors.

Moreover, he was half famished at the time from the crude prison fare and had been slapped frequently thruout the examination in January and early February.

Since boarding the repatriation boat [both Dynan and Dr. Myers are now en route to the United States] he has been told by a physician that he had barely escaped losing both feet. In all, he had spent six months in jail, separated from his wife who suffers from paralysis. That was the final chapter of a 45 year career of teaching in Japan.

Seized on Dec. 8.

Myers, a teacher at the Presbyterian seminary at Kobe, was arrested on Dec. 8 and taken to a drafty detention house. A month later he was thrust into a cold district station cell. There he was examined for one month and forced to sit on his heels during long questioning.

Myers was accused of concealing assets, of maligning the Japanese army, and of espionage. The professor said he admitted the first charge, explaining that two years earlier he had given a Japanese friend sufficient funds to support himself and his wife until retirement.

The second charge—maligning the army—arose, Myers said, from the fact that he had received a letter from a fellow missionary describing the Japanese occupation of Nanking, China, which he had shown to various Japanese teachers at the Kobe seminary at their request.

Myers said that the only basis for the spying charge was his friendship with the British and American consuls at Kobe.

"They also were convinced that I was a spy," Myers said, "because a year and a half before I took Sunday school classes on a 36 hour picnic on an island of the Inland sea. There were only prayers, Bible studies, and a good time."

Spying Charge Dropped.

The police said that the fact Myers had asked to go to the island proved he knew there was an arsenal on the island.

In February Myers' case was turned over to a Japanese prosecutor. The espionage charge was dropped and he was convicted of concealing assets and maligning the army. He was sentenced to 6 months and 10 days' imprisonment which he started to serve on April 2. By then he had lost 30 pounds. The Japanese food was of the poorest sort, he said.

He was released a week before the departure of the repatriates from Japan and Mrs. Myers is with him now.

"I whistled 'Silent Night,' 'Adeste,' and other carols softly thru the prison stillness," Myers recalled. "The guards came and shrieked to cut it off. The next day, a Japanese prisoner, a personal friend, braved the wrath of the guards by whispering, 'Thanks for Christmas.'"

Dr. Myers was born in 1874 at Lexington, Va.

STALIN INVOKES GREAT HEROES AS WAR INSPIRATION

MOSCOW, July 30 (AP).—In a message to the Russian people, Premier Josef Stalin today invoked as inspiration in the war the names of Russia's great heroes of the past.

"Let us be inspired in this war by the courageous images of our great ancestors, Nevsky, Donsky, Minin, Pozharsky, Suvorov, and Kutuzov," he said. "Be inspired by the victorious banner of the great Lenin."

The Communist party newspaper Pravda also rallied the armies in a long editorial which said: "Soviet warriors! Not a step back. . . . Retreat is impossible."

"Our country is going thru grave days," it added. Our task is to avert the danger . . . to check and then to hurl back and rout the enemy at any cost. The soviet country is great and abundant. There is nothing more harmful than to think that since the territory of the U. S. S. R. is vast we can retreat farther and farther. Every inch of soviet territory given up by us weakens our forces and lessens our possiblities.

"The enemy is not as strong as he seems to some scared panic-mongers.

"We need supreme endurance, unshakable stanchness, iron discipline of the soviet warriors. . . . Our country is a land of heroes. . . . Our task is to withstand the enemy onslaught, to hurl him back to the west, and to insure victory."

Litvinoff Sees Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian ambassador, conferred for nearly half an hour with President Roosevelt today as newspaper headlines blazed Stalin's order to the soviet armies to stop retreating. The ambassador, on leaving the White House, was asked if he informed the President of the soviet leader's order and he replied "I suppose the President reads the papers."

Asked whether his visit had any connection with the current situation of the Russian army, Litvinoff said: "No, no, the situation remains as it is."

HOPKINS GOT STALIN SECRETS, WRITERS SAY

Philadelphia, Pa., July 30 (AP).—Premier Joseph Stalin "unlocked the inner chamber of soviet defense secrets" for Harry Hopkins, personal adviser to President Roosevelt, a year ago this month, and promised to "stand firm against Nazi aggression," an article in the August issue of the Ladies' Home Journal relates.

The article, entitled "How War Came," and written by Forrest Davis and Ernest K. Lindley, Washington writers, says Hopkins first gave the information to the President.

"The President, optimistic by nature," the article continues, "received the detailed circumstantial news of the magnitude of Russia's forces and her effort with something like elation. Churchill, too, was rejoiced."

RUSSIANS DRIVE GERMANS BACK ON TWO FRONTS

Claim Rail Link Severed.

BERLIN, July 30 [from German broadcasts] (AP).—German tank forces have severed at several places the last important rail connection between the oil rich Caucasus and the remainder of Russia and have cut off the soviet route of retreat eastward in the big bend of the Don river farther to the north, the German high command declared today.

[Severance of the railroad, which runs southwest from Stalingrad on the Volga to link with the Caucasian railways at Tikhoretsk, would leave Russia dependent on Caspian sea shipping for her oil from the Caucasus.]

"To the south of the Sal river mechanized troops captured by storm the town of Proletarskaya and at several points interrupted the last important railway communications between the Caucasus region and the rest of the soviet union," a communique said.

Pursue Retreating Forces.

Regular army and SS [élite guard] forces are pursuing the Russians south of Rostov and are fighting the rear guards, it was said.

On the north flank, in the Voronezh area 300 miles above Rostov, 18 Russian tanks were reported destroyed yesterday.

On the north central front south of Lake Ilmen, the communique said, "successful fighting is taking place in difficult terrain."

SAYS NAZIS NOW CAN SEE BOTTOM OF THEIR HUGE OIL RESERVES

New York, July 30 (AP).—The German high command already can see the bottom of its oil reserves, the Oil Weekly said today in a summary of axis petroleum resources and supplies.

"There can be little doubt that the axis now is gravely concerned over its deficiency of oil," the trade journal said in a group of articles on the world's petroleum.

Basing its figures on known statistics and calculations of use, the magazine estimated Germany had for its present Russian campaign about 2,000,000 tons of fuel oil after deducting reserves for the western part of occupied Europe. [A rough conversion figure would be seven barrels to the ton.] It estimated Germany used 12,500,000 tons in 23 weeks of Russian war last summer and fall.

Against the slim total, however, was balanced tremendously stepped up production of 240,000 tons a week, double the output at the beginning of the war in 1939 and 50,000 tons weekly more than at the start of the war with Russia.

Hungary Seizes 3 Russian Agents Landed by Chutes

Tin Cans NEEDED FOR WAR

How to prepare them and turn them in

1. After emptying contents, wash the can thoroughly.

2. Cut off bottom as well as top of can, or cut open, as illustrated, so can may be flattened.

3. Step on can hard to flatten. But do not flatten by hammering. Now tear off paper label which is loosened by flattening. Labels printed on can do not have to be removed.

4. Prepared can looks like this. It is thoroughly clean. Paper label is entirely removed. Both top and bottom ends are saved.

Warning—Do not save any cans that have not been washed, opened at both ends, flattened, and stripped of paper label.

Before the war 86 per cent of our tin came from British Malaya and the Dutch East Indies. The country needs every ounce of tin it can get. Tin is used to make bearings in airplane engines, for solder, and for new cans to ship food to our fighting forces.

When your old tin cans go through the detinning process every bit of the tin coating and every bit of the steel is saved. Nothing is lost.

TYPES OF CANS WANTED

All food cans—those containing both solid and liquid foods, including those that have labels printed right on the metal. Also coffee cans and beer cans with flat tops.

Do NOT save paint, varnish, oil or grease cans; and it is not practical to save cans with cone-shaped tops or with special rims such as evaporated and condensed milk cans, from which the ends are difficult to remove.

Hundreds of tin cans must be gathered and processed to get even a single pound of tin, so it is impossible to pay you for the individual cans which you collect. It is one thing you can do to help, and it doesn't interfere with your other war work.

HOW THEY ARE COLLECTED

Start saving and preparing cans now and keep them conveniently accessible for collection in a fruit basket or convenient container. In city of Chicago, city trucks will pick up cans at every home weekly, on regular collection day. Private scavenger service to apartments and hotels.

They will be collected in this way only. Do not turn them in with other metal, rubber, paper, rags and other salvage, either to a charity or to a junk dealer.

DESCRIBES YANK FIGHTER PLANE BASE IN BRITAIN

Flyers Training to Bolster RAF Assaults.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—American fighter pilots operating American planes maintained by American ground crews have taken over air bases in the British Isles preparatory to joining RAF attacks on Nazi territory, it can now be revealed.

Brig. Gen. Hunter.

THE TRIBUNE correspondent and others recently visited one of these bases and saw new fighting planes in action—planes which are said to outrange even Britain's Spitfires and to outgun most fighters.

Altho the air base was only recently transferred to the American air force, it might well have been a part of the American middle west. In one unit alone the men represented 41 states.

See Former Tribune Man.

The sortie was arranged by Maj. Morrow Krum, a former employé of THE TRIBUNE in Chicago, now a press relations officer for the American air force here.

The correspondents were greeted by Lieut. Bernard Grandell of Galesburg, Ill., who is base security officer, and by the chief constable of the city, who had personally arranged for the billeting over night of 24 members of our party.

Altho Americans have taken over defense of the airdrome, they retained about 100 RAF men to assist in the defense and train American crews in operating mobile guns. In a demonstration with this gun the American crews were able, starting from scratch, to have it shooting at the prescribed range within seconds.

[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

Veteran of Barnstorming Days.

Maj. John F. Malone, born in Woodstock, Minn., is commander of the base. He has flown since the last war, and used to barnstorm in the middle west. A reserve officer, he joined the army air force in August, 1940. The adjutant of one unit was Lieut. James G. Moore of Lansing, Mich., who 13 months ago was teaching history in Grand Haven.

Another aviator from the middle west was E. J. Goebel, who 18 months ago coached football in Racine, Wis. And the mess officer of the base and technical inspector for the outfit was Capt. Gustav J. Albrecht from Milwaukee, Wis.

Americans, altho employing American cooks, were for the time being using British rations, but at the American canteen British personnel on the field have equal rights with others.

Find England Like Home.

Altho most of the enlisted men only recently arrived in Britain, they seemed to have made rapid progress in adjusting themselves to their new surroundings.

"We're no longer strangers here," said Corp. Charles F. Dewey, who a year ago in January was working in a Gary, Ind., steel mill. "The countryside seems almost like Illinois. It's only when we get into the pubs that we know we're in a different country."

The arrival in Britain of Brig. Gen. Frank O'D. Hunter, commanding the United States army's fighter command in this theater, and other high ranking officers was announced today by Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz, commanding all American army air forces here.

Among the new arrivals are Maj. Gen. W. H. Frank, head of the air service command in this theater, Brig. Gen. Robert C. Candee, commanding the ground air support command, and Brig. Gen. Asa N. Duncan, chief of staff of the army air forces here.

All except Gen. Candee saw air service in the last war. Candee, 50 years old, is a native of Hinsdale, Ill. A specialist in bombardment tactics, he was formerly air officer of the Panama canal department.

BRITAIN AGAIN HINTS 2D FRONT IS NEAR AS NAZIS HOWL DEFIANCE

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—For the second time in a week Sir Stafford Cripps, the government spokesman in the house of commons, today parried pointed questions from members of parliament with the suggestion that second front action would be forthcoming. He gave no intimation as to when it might be expected.

"Whatever the military intentions of the government may be," he said, "we would be unable to state them in secret session, but I can tell you now we have intentions."

He affirmed that Prime Minister Winston Churchill would make no further war statement before the house recesses, and said that commons will have no secret session.

The German radio, meanwhile, continuing to exploit Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' campaign of second front defiance, quoted puppet Premier Vidkun Quisling as declaring Norway is "the strongest fortress in the world under German military rule."

U. S. REAFFIRMS PLEDGE OF WAR AID TO CHINESE

Chungking, China, July 30 (AP).—President Roosevelt's pledge that ways would be found to deliver weapons ad munitions to the Chinese armies was emphatically renewed tonight by the President's special envoy, Lauchlin Currie.

In his first public speech in Chungking, Currie declared that "munitions are flowing into India for China's account." He said that the United States had confidence in Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and that there was no reason for Chinese fears that America was primarily concerned with the war in Europe.

RAF Harries Japs in Burma.

NEW DELHI, India, July 30 (AP).—Widespread harassment and damage to Japanese positions and communications in northern Burma were effected on Monday and Tuesday by the India based RAF, a communique reported today.

Stations and rolling stock of the Mandalay-Myitkyina railway were bombed on Tuesday, and a water tower was directly hit, the British said. Barracks were bombed and machine gunned.

WARNING TO INDIA —BRITAIN SET FOR ANY GANDHI MOVE

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—L. S. Amery, secretary for India, told the house of commons today that the government in India would do everything in its power to meet any developments arising from Mohandas K. Gandhi's proposed civil disobedience movement. He said:

"The government, while reiterating their resolve to give the fullest opportunity to India for attainment of complete self-government, can not but solemnly warn all those who stand behind the policy adumbrated by the working committee of the Congress [All-India Congress party] that the government of India will not flinch from its duty to take every possible step to meet the situation."

The All-India Congress is expected to approve on Aug. 7 Gandhi's call for a civil disobedience campaign to obtain self-rule now, instead of waiting until after the war, as Britain has proposed.

AXIS SETS UP AIR LINK WITH JAPS, BRITISH REVEAL

CAIRO, Egypt, July 30 (AP).—The axis already has established a direct air communications link with the Japanese, reliable British sources said today. They said Italian planes are flying regularly between Italian territory—possibly Libyan air bases—and Japanese occupied territory—perhaps Sumatra. [The Rome radio said Tuesday that a long range Italian plane had made one such round trip flight to Japanese territory from Rome.]

What way stops these planes are making remained a mystery here. One British source asserted that an allied plane had been shot down recently over Djibouti, the Vichy French port at the lower outlet to the Red sea, and suggested this might indicate that the French might not want the allies to know what was going on there.

The hop from Libya to Djibouti would be an easy flight—less than 2,000 miles. From Djibouti across the Indian ocean to Sumatra would be about 3,000 miles. It also was suggested that the Japanese might have occupied an island in the Indian ocean which could be used as a stopping place.

7 Swedes Seized by Nazis in Poland, Stockholm Told

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 30.—Seven Swedish citizens have been arrested in Poland by the Gestapo [German secret police], it was reported tonight. Those arrested were said to be directors and employés of the Polish branch of the Swedish Match company and the director and an employé of a telephone company. German authorities, the report said, have refused to reveal to the Swedish legation in Berlin the reasons for the arrests.

75½ JAPANESE DIVISIONS IN WAR, CHINESE REPORT

CHUNGKING, China, July 30 (AP).—The Japanese now have 75½ divisions deployed in China, Manchukuo, Corea, and the southwest Pacific islands—1,132,500 troops on the basis of 15,000 men per division—according to a statement today by a Chinese army spokesman.

The present allocation was given as follows: 31½ divisions in China, 22 in Manchukuo, 2 in Corea, and 20 in the southwest Pacific.

The spokesman said at a press conference that the bulk of Japan's military strength had, at different times, been sent to China and that all the units had suffered losses. The largest strength ever employed at one time in China, he said, was 37½ divisions in 1940.

More Canadian Soldiers, Plane Crews Reach Britain

A BRITISH PORT, July 30 (AP).—More thousands of Canadian soldiers with ground crews for RCAF squadrons have arrived in Britain in a large convoy from Canada, crossing the Atlantic virtually without incident.

AXIS RAIDS CAIRO DESPITE THREAT TO ATTACK ROME

Ignores Churchill Warning of Retaliation on Capital.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 30 (AP).—Axis air raiders dropped bombs on Cairo in the predawn moonlight today in defiance on a long standing threat by Prime Minister Winston Churchill that the royal air force would reply to any such attack with raids on Rome.

Churchill made his threat to retaliate with bombs on the Italian capital in 1941, before the fall of Greece, declaring Rome would be a prime target if either Athens or Cairo was bombed. The Greek capital was not attacked.

Bomb Allied Airdromes.

The attacks on Cairo and allied airdromes in the Nile delta area were made by small flights of axis bombers apparently seeking to cripple the sources of allied bombings on Marshal Erwin Rommel's sea and land communications.

Sirens screamed the alarm in Cairo, the Suez canal zone, and in other scattered areas far behind the stalemated desert front west of El Alamein. Cairo's defenses threw up the greatest anti-aircraft barrage ever seen in this area.

The lull in the desert was broken only by artillery duels and patrol actions.

Dust curtailed air operations to some extent, but British fighter bombers were able to carry out two successful attacks in the southern sector and fighters maintained sweeps over forward troops.

Sicily Bombed, Says Italy.

ROME, July 30 (AP).—British bombers attacked Licata, on the island of Sicily, last night, while axis planes raided Malta, downing two British planes, the Italian high command reported today. On the Egyptian front action was said to have been limited to patrol and artillery activity, while enemy airdromes and communications were reported raided by axis aircraft.

JUGO-SLAVS ASSERT NAZIS DESTROY 16 TOWNS, SLAY PEOPLE

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—The Jugo-Slav government reported tonight that 16 villages in German-occupied Slovenia had been obliterated and all their inhabitants shot for violation of occupation rules.

Vice Premier J. Krek said the government was unable to obtain an estimate of the number slain, but declared:

"The Germans recently have deported 160,000 Slovenes, including the most prominent scientists, teachers, and physicians, to Poland, Serbia, and Croatia after shooting 1,064 hostages in Maribor and Bled."

In the section of Slovenia occupied by the Italians, 130,000 men have been put into concentration camps, 410 hostages slain, and 42 villages burned recently, he added.

Eleven Slain in France.

VICHY, France, July 30 (AP).—Eleven persons charged with sabotage and accused by the Germans of being Communists, have been executed at Nancy in occupied France, it was disclosed today.

FINDS COLOMBIAN ARMY LOOKS NAZI BUT BACKS ALLIES

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 30.—An observer familiar with military matters, watching regiments of the Colombian army on parade, might easily imagine himself in an axis held land witnessing units of the German war machine passing in review.

I watched such a parade recently in this capital city of Bogota on Colombia's Independence day. It was an amazing sight.

Rank upon rank of olive green clad infantry marched by, wearing the coal scuttle helmets of the reich and with more than a hint of a goosestep in their stride. Other infantrymen rode by in big German diesel troop carriers. Mechanized scouts passed on German military motorcycles, armed with German light machine guns.

Autos, Guns Are German.

Officers raced past in German staff cars. The troops' field packs and sidearms were German. Their rifles were German Mausers. The howitzers and heavy machine guns were products of Krupp and Skoda.

The observer naturally leaps to the conclusion that here is a South American country so strongly pro-Nazi that it has even patterned its army after that of Germany. And he thinks with alarm of the Panama canal, lifeline of the united nations, less than 500 air miles away.

Fortunately the observer is wrong. Colombia is strongly on the side of the united nations. It was necessity, not choice, which forced Colombia to put her soldiers into coal scuttle helmets, arm them with Mausers and Skoda machine guns, and transport them in German troop carriers.

"For many years we of Colombia have tried to buy military equipment from the United States," an army spokesman told me, "but without avail. We were told repeatedly that your country had regulations against the sale of arms. Not having the industries to manufacture them ourselves, we turned to the only available source."

Germany Eager to Sell.

That source was Germany, ready and willing to sell Colombia and any other South American neighbors obsolete German equipment in exchange for coffee and other native products. The South American countries would much rather have bought United States equipment, but had no choice.

Germany did more than supply arms: she sent military missions into Colombia to help train and organize the army and to attempt to inculcate Nazi beliefs into its officers and men. That is the reason for the ghost of the goosestep.

But on the whole Colombia was not too taken by the German missions. Missions from France, Belgium, and half a dozen other countries were invited to help train the army. Thus the influence of the Germans did not upset the nation's balance. In February, 1939, a United States military mission came to Colombia and soon the last German mission left.

Pearl Harbor's Effect.

Pearl Harbor had a profound influence on Colombia and her army. Here is what a neutral expert said about that influence:

"Colombia's armed forces always have been characterized by extreme loyalty to the government because of the highly democratic form of government here. Since Pearl Harbor there has been a growing feeling in the army that any axis influences are a grave danger to the present democratic form of government which these people love so well. Therefore there are few officers today who have any sympathy toward the axis."

FBI Arrests Bund Member on Charge of Conspiracy

Muskogee, Okla., July 30 (AP).—A man identified by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation as Hans Diebel, German-American bund member, was brought to the city-federal jail today. FBI agents said he was one of 29 bund leaders indicted by a grand jury in New York on charges of participation in a nation-wide conspiracy to induce aliens to deny their bund membership under oath. He is being held pending a hearing on an order to return him to New York for trial.

2 American Eagle Flyers Lost After Raids on Nazis

London, July 31 [Friday] (AP).—Flight Lieut. John Joseph Mooney of East Hempstead, N. Y., and Pilot Officer Leroy Skinner of Webb City, Mo., members of the second American Eagle squadron, today were reported missing after fighter sweeps over German occupied territory. Both the young Americans with the RAF were veterans of aerial dogfighting.

She is Mrs. Bernard L. Bell, the wife of Lieut. Bernard L. Bell, 837 E. 61st place, the wife of Lieut. Bernard L. Bell. Mrs. Bell's letter said that Bell had dropped bombs on Hayzbrock, France, in a raid that cost the British five RAF planes. After returning, Bell was fêted in a party and presented with pictures and maps of the target, the letter said.

GERMANS FORCED TO ESCORT SUBS WITH SEAPLANES

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—Sweeps by British bombers into the Bay of Biscay, where they look for Nazi U-boat packs traveling to their North Atlantic hunting grounds, have become so strong, British air sources said today, that the Germans have been compelled to convoy their submarines with Condor flying boats.

Dogfights between British bombers and the huge German flying boats, Messerschmitts, and Arado-196 heavily armed seaplanes have become a daily occurrence, the British said.

Running fights between Condors and bombers frequently take place hundreds of miles at sea, with little hope of rescue for the vanquished.

DRIVEN OUT BY FIRE, TRAPPER LEARNS OF WAR

New York, July 30 (AP).—A 29 year old bearded German trapper, the FBI disclosed today, didn't know of the war with Germany until two weeks ago when fire in his secluded Maine shack forced him back to civilization. He now is at Ellis Island for internment as an enemy alien.

He learned about the war after living three years as a "Rip Van Winkle" and desired to "return to Germany to fight against the United States," the FBI said. Reports that a bearded German had inquired along the Hudson river waterfront about passage to Germany led to his arrest. His name was not disclosed.

TAXIS PUT UNDER PRIORITIES' RULE BY NEW ZEALAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, July 30.—New Zealand completed its wartime road transport control today with the issuance of a priorities list covering taxicab operations. Under the control board taxi owners must carry maternity cases, sick and injured, and train and boat travelers before meeting other calls.

Use of the highways now is tailored to meet a triple need: Conservation of gasoline supplies; nursing of existing tires to save rubber; making automobiles available for national use in event of attack.

LONDON HAS TWO ALARMS, BUT NO BOMBS HIT CITY

Alert Sounds Sixth Time Within a Week.

LONDON, July 31 [Friday]—(AP).—German raiders gave London two quick alarms this morning, the fifth and sixth of the week in the British capital, and struck at the west Midlands, their favorite target of the week, and western and southern England. Seven were shot down.

No bombs fell here, but the capital's new anti-aircraft guns were in action.

Altho there were some casualties in one west Midlands town, the raids were on a lighter scale than any this week.

The first London alarm today was without incident, but gunfire was heard during the second. One or two planes were heard over London, apparently headed for targets farther west.

Small Fires Started.

Incendiaries started two small fires in a town in the south, and a west Midlands town reported both high explosive and incendiary bombs.

The new British guns drove off raiders appearing singly over London last Wednesday and Monday nights. A few bombs fell in the Greater London area on Wednesday night.

Continuing the RAF's heavy assaults on the Germans, fighters and bombers yesterday damaged two ships off Brittany, attacked the French coast, and raided an airdrome near St. Omer. Thirteen British planes were lost, but seven German planes were downed.

Big Raid on Saarbruecken.

Yesterday's raids followed a heavy overnight assault on the German steel and railway center of Saarbruecken, where "great damage" was said to have been done.

That the German airmen have a healthy respect for Britain's new anti-aircraft guns was shown by one Nazi pilot, who said over the German radio:

"It is a glowing missile that looks like a flaming shell. It explodes high in the sky and falls down on our planes in numerous little shells. The whole thing looks like fireworks."

Admit Saarbruecken Casualties.

BERLIN, July 30 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—A Nazi regional theater was destroyed last night in the RAF's raid on Saarbruecken, and there were civilian casualties, the German high command announced.

"Strong formations" of German planes were said to have set extensive fires in a raid on Birmingham, England.

ALL AMERICANS WANT OFFENSIVE WAR—MacLEISH

CAMBRIDGE, England, July 30 (AP).—Archibald MacLeish, librarian of congress and assistant director of the United States Office of War Information, declared today that the American people "are still unanimous in their demand for an offensive war." Lecturing at Cambridge university, MacLeish said Americans "are no longer willing merely to fight the Fascists' war—to accept a war forced upon them by their enemies and to fight back in that war and eventually win it.

"They propose, with your help and the help of their friends in Russia and China and other countries, to fight their own war—a free man's war having a free man's purposes."

He declared isolationism is America "is dead," but added, "Isolationists are still isolationists. Driven from a policy of isolationist peace, they have taken refuge in a policy of isolationist war. If they must have war they will have a war which shall alter nothing and accomplish nothing, a war which shall have neither social effects nor political implications."

SUPREME COURT LIKELY TO RULE ON SPIES TODAY

Biddle Attacks Bulwark of Civil Liberties.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—The attack of seven Nazi spy-saboteurs on the validity of the military commission appointed by President Roosevelt to try them was taken under consideration by the United States Supreme court today after Attorney General Francis Biddle had asked the justices to over-rule one of the bulwarks of American civil liberties.

The court recessed until noon tomorrow, when it probably will deliver a formal opinion on the application of the Nazi prisoners to apply for a writ of habeas corpus, whereby they are seeking to be released from the military commission and turned over to the civilian courts for trial.

The arguments had taken nine hours. Shortly after court adjourned Biddle said the military commission would resume at 10 tomorrow morning.

Attacks Milligan Case.

Attorney General Biddle urged the Supreme court to set aside the decision in the historic Milligan case, in which the court held in 1866 that persons other than members of the land and naval forces are not triable by military commissions under the laws of war in a district where the civilian courts are open and functioning and where there is no insurrection or rebellion.

The attorney general argued that the decision in the Milligan case is "very bad law" and should be "knocked out" because it "manifestly interferes with the exercise of the authority of the commander in chief in time of war."

If the principle of the Milligan case should be overruled, not only enemy alien spies and saboteurs but American citizens accused of any conceivable violation of the unwritten and nebulous "law of war" could be tried by a secret military commission, without the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus and without appeal from the sentence of the military tribunal.

Keystone of Jurisprudence.

The Milligan case has long been regarded as a keystone of American jurisprudence second only in importance to the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus itself.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus provides that it "shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it." The Supreme court held in the Milligan case that the President has no authority to suspend the privilege and that congress may do so only in cases of rebellion and insurrection.

One of the extreme arguments made by members of the senate against President Roosevelt's proposal to pack the Supreme court in 1937 was that a complaisant court at some time in the future might overrule the Milligan case.

Both Justice Jackson and Justice Hugo L. Black expressed surprise that Biddle should seek to overturn the decision in the Milligan case. They suggested that it would not be necessary for the court to go that far in order to sustain the President's actions in the pending case.

Might Affect Strikers.

Col. Kenneth C. Royall, one of the army officers oppointed by President Roosevelt to defend the Nazi saboteurs, told the court that the theory advanced by the attorney general in his attack on the Milligan case would subject strikers in war plants to trial by military commissions.

The defense counsel contended that civilians who commit offenses outside of actual theaters of military operations are triable only in the civilian courts and under the criminal statutes of the United States. Only members of the land and naval forces and others who commit offenses in connection with military operations or military fortifications, encampments, installations, etc., are triable by military commissions, he maintained.

'Absurdity,' Royall Says.

The theory that everything which gives aid to the enemy creates a "zone of operations" and constitutes an offensive that may be tried by a military commission reduced itself to an "absurdity," Col. Royall said.

"If that were true," he added, "a strike in a war factory would be a crime triable by a military commission."

Col. Royall in civilian life practiced law at Goldsboro, N. C. He was commissioned a temporary colonel on June 5, 1942. He is a graduate of the Harvard law school. A regular army officer, Col. Cassius M. Dowell, assisted Col. Royall, but did not participate in the arguments before the court. Col. Dowell enlisted in 1902. He served with distinction in the World war, after which he studied law and obtained a degree at George Washington university.

PLANES ARE FINE WHEN ON YOUR SIDE, SAYS SAILOR

Relates How Fighters Beat Off Japs.

A ruddy, youthful looking sailor who recently survived a Japanese air assault in the South Pacific yesterday told how fine it feels, and how important it is, to have adequate air power on your side in a naval engagement.

Edmund Carr.

He is Edmund Carr, 28 years old, of Denver, Colo., who is on his way to the east coast where he will board another ship. He paused in Chicago long enough to try to enlist in the aviation branch of the navy but was turned down because he is over age.

"Planes look good to some one in the spot I was in," he said. "They were responsible for us driving off three waves of Jap fighter craft and dive bombers. I hate to think what would have happened, if we hadn't had those pursuit ships with us."

Engagement Still Secret.

Carr was not permitted to report the name or type of his ship, when or where, specifically, the action took place, nor the damage or personnel losses.

"When the fun started," he explained, "our fighters weren't far away and they hurried back to engage the first wave of Jap fighter planes who had time enough to strafe us. This gave us a chance to return to our guns—most of us had taken cover—and prepare for the second wave, which was made up of light bombers, dive bombers, and fighter planes."

"While we were being bombed there were about 50 planes, probably half of them ours, involved in dog fights, all over the sky. The dive bombers made excellent targets for our guns as they came down at us. I remember us getting two of them vividly. Our small guns riddled their bellies, but there was no explosion—they merely dropped to the ocean like tired swans."

Not Scared—Just Numb.

Carr said he was so busy he didn't have time to feel any fear, only a kind of numbness.

There was a third wave of Jap bombers and fighters, Carr related, but it was beaten off successfully.

An unusual feature of the engagement, he said, was that one Jap plane dropped an eight inch shell to which fins were welded to make it plunge like an aerial bomb. He recalled that the shell hit the afterdeck and struck upright, like a dart. It didn't go off, tho it was set to explode 35 seconds after it landed, he explained.

The sailor said he was hospitalized for a few weeks after the fight, but the navy was just being nice to him, for he felt all right.

Lieut. J. Smith Ferrebee, member of the local naval aviation cadet selection board, said Carr's story explains concretely why the navy is trying to get more pilots into the air as quickly as possible.

"Young men shouldn't wait until they finish college before they enlist," he emphasized. "They're needed right now."

U. S. NEARS END OF CASE AGAINST PELLEY AND AIDS

Silver Shirts Laud Aims in Sedition Trial.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., July 30.—The government neared the close of its case this evening in the sedition trial of William Dudley Pelley, leader of the fascistic Silver Shirt legion, by introducing testimony to refute the allegedly false statements concerning America's war effort which Pelley made in his writings. The prosecutors expect to complete their evidence tomorrow.

Former Silver Shirt legionnaires, including a Chicagoan, were reluctant government witnesses earlier today before Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell and the jury. They told of receiving and circulating Pelley publications and asserted they still follow his doctrines implicitly. Pelley stroked his goatee and grinned appreciatively when these witnesses reaffirmed their faith in his "esoteric, metaphysical, and religious" teachings.

Contradicted by Witnesses.

Pelley wasn't so pleased when the prosecutors called two traveling salesmen and a bank president, all of Indianapolis, and an insurance company investment analyst from Zionsville, Ind.

The traveling men, Clifford Hackerd and Harley T. Litteral, told of talking to customers thruout Indiana since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor last Dec. 7 and finding their sentiments all for America in the war and against the axis. Pelley, in his magazine the Galilean, had written that in Indiana and thruout the country there was no feeling against the axis, but that "typical Americans gloated over axis victories—even against our own forces."

"Did you find any such gloating?" Litteral was asked by Oscar Ewing, chief of the government prosecuting staff.

"No," Litteral answered. "All my customers are good Americans."

Denies Nation Is Bankrupt.

Pelley also had written that the nation was bankrupt. The government challenged this thru Paul E. Fisher, the insurance investment man, and James S. Rogan, president of the American National bank of Indianapolis.

Fisher said he placed the national debt at 64 billion dollars, which he regarded as a 20 per cent mortgage on an estimated national wealth of more than 300 billion dollars. He added that his company invests heavily in government securities as proof that it doesn't think the country to be bankrupt.

Judge Baltzell sustained a prosecution objection when Oscar Smith of defense counsel asked on cross-examination whether the government had enough money on hand to pay its debts if they all became due at once.

Banker Rogan also declared he did not consider the country insolvent and said his bank buys government securities.

Chicagoan on Stand.

Among the Silver Shirts who testified were Frank Colombo, 54 years old, of 5155 South Union avenue, Chicago; John Maciolek and Vassilios H. Petas, both of West Allis, Wis.; Martin and Michael Gall, brothers, of Cleveland, O.; Lowery D. Trumble, a public school custodian of Lansing, Mich., and George Shimanski of Priest River, Idaho.

Martin Gall, a stocky meat salesman, said he approved of Pelley's proposal to segregate Jews.

Lester K. Santa, a corporal at Fort George Wright, near Spokane, Wash., said a civilian gave him a Pelley pamphlet on a Spokane street and hurried away. Santa turned the document over to military police.

Pelley, president of the Fellowship Press, Inc., which published the Galilean, is on trial with Lawrence A. Brown, secretary of the Fellowship Press, and Agnes M. Henderson, secretary, on charges brought under the 1917 sedition act. The act makes it a crime, with the country at war, to convey false reports which might cause insubordination in the armed forces or otherwise interfere with their operation and success.

Norse Plane Again Attacks Nazi Bomber Off Iceland

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, July 30 (AP).—United States army headquarters announced today that for the second time in a week a Norwegian plane had attacked a German Focke-Wulf bomber off the northeast coast of Iceland. The German plane returned the fire but disappeared into the clouds.

The special grand jury investigating seditious activities in the Chicago area yesterday heard the following four persons: Martin J. Higgins, chairman of the Patrick Henry forum; Arthur Koegel, editor of the German-American Citizens league newspaper; Miss Rose Janka, manager of the Germania club, and Hans Nissen, official of the German-American Vocational league. The jury didn't have time to hear A. G. Strobel, an official of the German-American Vocational league, who will appear today.

PRICE VIOLATORS FACE SUITS, OPA OFFICIAL WARNS

Civil suits for triple damages face violators of the federal price and rent regultaions, John C. Weigel, regional administrator of the Office of Price Administration, warned yesterday. The right to file such suits under the price control law becomes effective today.

"Housewives and other members of the buying public acquire the legal right to bring civil suits for a minimum of $50 or treble the amount of an overcharge, whichever is greater, plus attorney's fees and costs, against any storekeeper who charges them more for an article than OPA regulations allow," he said.

"Similar suits may be filed by tenants in defense rental areas against landlords who collect rents above the maximum set by OPA rent orders," he added.

The emergency price control act of 1942 also provides that willful violators of the price orders are subject to criminal prosecution with maximum penalties of $5,000 and a year in prison, as well as civil injunction suits and proceedings to suspend the seller's license.

U. S. ARRAIGNS 8 IN WASHINGTON FOR 'SEDITION'

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—Eight of the 28 persons indicted on federal charges of conspiracy to undermine the morale of the armed forces were arraigned in district court today.

Seven pleaded innocent and the eighth, Ralph Townsend of Lake Geneva, Wis., and Washington, said he did not wish to plead until he could consult counsel.

Others arraigned were: Elmer J. Garner and his son, James F. Garner, both of Wichita, Kas., who were connected with the magazine "Publicity;" George Sylvester Viereck, who, like Townsend, is under prison sentence for violating the foreign agents' registration act; Prescott Dennett, now an army private, formerly of Washington, who was a witness at the Viereck trial; James C. True and Oscar Brumback, both of Washington; and Charles B. Hudson of Omaha, Neb.

William Powers Maloney, special assistant to the attorney general, suggested that trial be set for Oct. 7.

RUSSIAN PRIEST LINKS PREACHER TO NAZI SPY RING

Tells Court of Parleys in Chicago Hotel.

Hartford, Conn., July 30 (AP).—A witness who said he traveled the length and breadth of the United States pretending to further the aims of an alleged Nazi-Japanese spy ring told a federal court and jury today of two meetings with the Rev. Kurt Molzahn of Philadelphia, who, he said, was trying to help Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, German-American Bund leader, leave the country.

The witness at Molzahn's trial on an espionage conspiracy charge is the Rev. Aleksi Pelypenko, a Ukranian who testified that he left the Russian Orthodox clergy in 1925 and was ordained in the Ruthenian rite of the Roman Catholic church.

Testifying in Russian thru an interpreter, the stocky witness, clad in clerical garb, said he was in the employ of the Federal Bureau of Investigation from March, 1941, until Aug. 18 on that year and told about two meetings with Molzahn.

Others Plead Guilty.

Kunze, Anastase A. Vonsiatsky, a Russian Fascist leader from Thompson, Conn.; Dr. Otto Willumeit, Chicago bund leader, and Dr. Wolfgang Ebell of El Paso, Tex., were indicted with Molzahn on a charge of conspiracy to violate the 1917 espionage act by collecting United States military information and delivering it to Germany and Japan. Kunze was the messenger who would carry the information by way of Mexico, the indictment charged. All the accused excepting Molzahn pleaded guilty.

The priest spent several hours on the stand, relating, under Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd's questioning, dealings he said he had with all those named in the indictment except Dr. Ebell, who was away when he called on him in El Paso.

Reviews Chicago Meeting.

His first contact was with Dr. Willumeit, he said, and he attended a meeting in the cocktail room of the Hotel Bismarck, Chicago, just about a year ago with the Chicago bundsman Kunze and Vonsiatsky.

There, during a conversation carried on in German, English, and Russian, it was decided, he said, that Kunze would have to go abroad with military information that he had been collecting because Vonsiatsky had missed connections in San Francisco with a woman espionage agent from Japan when the ship on which she was traveling did not arrive in time.

Father Pelypenko told of letters he received from Kunze, which were introduced as evidence; of visits to the palatial Vonsiatsky estate in Thompson, and of carrying messages between the Russian leader and a Japanese "military attaché" regarding the nonappearance of the woman agent in San Francisco and the desire of the Japanese to know whether the United States was sending planes to Russia by way of Alaska.

EDUCATOR SAYS YOUTH IN BRITAIN IS O. K. THO SKEPTICAL ABOUT WAR

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 30.—Reporting on a survey made during the recent registration of youth in Herefordshire, Director of Education J. H. Newsom said today that the young people of Britain are first rate human material and if given a chance can be guided to become first rate citizens.

Newsom said there was a certain amount of skepticism and disillusion among them about the leadership of the country, and that many look upon the war as something their elders got themselves into and which is no concern of the young.

He deplored the tendency to underestimate the intelligence of the young people of this era, adding they are capable of comparing the public broadcasts and utterances of national leaders with what is accomplished.

MAYOR TO OPEN 'VICTORY KEYS' SALVAGE DRIVE

Mayor Kelly will launch the "Keys for Victory" salvage drive Aug. 10 by throwing the "key to the city" into a barrel which will be placed on the main floor of the city hall, Wilbur J. Peak, president of the Junior Association of Commerce, announced yesterday.

The association was designated as the opening agency of the drive by William L. McFetridge, Chicago metropolitan area salvage director of the Office of Civilian Defense. The campaign will be conducted from Aug. 10 to 16.

Peak noted that 200 old door keys contain enough metal to plate all the instruments on an army bomber.

Proceeds of the key salvage drive will go to the United China Relief. James M. Cleary, vice president of the relief fund, said, however, that part of the proceeds will be contributed to Russian war relief "as a gesture of good will from one ally to another."

BYRD ASKS HALT IN GROWING PILE OF UNUSED CASH

163 Billions Available to Bureaus, Says Senator.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—Declaring a national debt of more than 200 billion dollars inevitable as a result of the war spending authorized since the beginning of the emergency, Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] today warned that congress fast is appropriating itself out of its constitutional control over the federal purse.

Byrd disclosed that there now is available to government departments a total of 163 billion dollars in unexpended balances from appropriations already voted. In view of the power of President Roosevelt to transfer funds between various agencies, and for various purposes, Byrd said there is no justification for piling more unexpended balances upon this huge reserve.

At Least 2 Years' Reserve.

"To increase further from month to month this great sum of unexpended balances, which certainly will take two to two and a half years to spend, simply means that congress will lose control of exercising proper supervision over such expenditures," he said.

The Virginian's speech marked the first official disclosure of the extent to which actual spending by government departments has lagged behind the sums placed at the disposal of department heads thru enactment of appropriation bills requested by the administration.

Byrd, who has fought steadfastly for governmental economy and reduction of nonessential expenditures in the interest of winning the war, emphasized that all his figures were approved by the budget bureau.

Offers Monthly Table.

[In millions of dollars.]

1940.
July	194	7,764

June [up to 22d]	*....	102,749
Available July 1, 1942 [beginning of fiscal year]		163 billion dollars

*Not given.

Authorizations and appropriations for the war effort totaled more than 205 billion dollars on July 1, 1942, Byrd said.

"In order to spend the amount of the unexpended balances, our war expenditures must average for the next two years more than 80 billion dollars, or about 7 billions per month," he said. "This is in excess of the estimates that have been made."

TEN GENERALS HERE TO REVISE SUPPLY SERVICE

The new decentralization of the army supply services among the nine geographical service commands [formerly corps areas] will be planned in detail at a three day conference which opened yesterday in the Palmer House.

This is the first meeting of top ranking army officials ever held in Chicago. It was called by Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commanding general of the army services of supply, as a result of a reorganization order issued last week.

The fourth floor of the hotel assumed a military air with the arrival of Gen. Somervell's staff, and the commanding general and two aides from each of the nine service commands.

Commanding generals at the conference are Major Generals Sherman Miles, 1st service command, Boston, Mass.; Thomas A. Terry, 2d, Governors Island, N. Y.; Milton A. Reckord, 3d, Baltimore, Md.; William Bryden, 4th, Atlanta, Ga.; Fred C. Wallace, 5th, Fort Hayes, O.; George Grunert, 6th, Chicago; Frederick E. Uhl, 7th, Omaha, Neb.; Richard Donovan, 8th, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and Kenyon A. Joyce, 9th, Fort Douglas, Utah.

Secretary Wickard's Father Ill of Heart Ailment

Logansport, Ind., July 30 (AP).—Andrew Jackson Wickard, 77 years old, father of Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, was brought to Cass County hospital today, suffering a heart ailment, and was reported in "only fair" condition tonight. Wickard was brought here from the 388 acre farm on which he was born and which he and his only child operate jointly. Mrs. Wickard said the cabinet member would leave Washington tomorrow for his father's bedside.

Motorist Stops to Aid Stranger; It's Mistake

No more will Norbert Unverzagt, 4826 Oakdale avenue, offer to lend a helping hand to a stranger. Late last night he stopped his car at Cicero and Barry avenues when a motorist signaled that his car was stalled. That was a mistake, because the stranger was joined by another and both had guns. They robbed Norbert of $35, then drove off in their car, which ran perfectly well.

Hollywood, Cal., July 30 (AP).—A backstage romance that began three years ago culminated today in the marriage of Diana Barrymore, 21 year old daughter of the late John Barrymore, and Bramwell Fletcher, 38, an actor.

The ceremony took place at noon in the bride's home, with her mother, Mrs. Harrison Tweed of Long Island, as her attendant. Antonio Sylva, an old friend, was best man.

The Rev. H. Paul Romeis, Lutheran pastor from San Bernardino, officiated. He recently united Barbara Hutton, dime store heiress, and Actor Cary Grant.

BIG CARGO PLANE PROGRAM AWAITS F.D.R. 'GO' SIGNAL

'Will to Do It,' All That Is Needed, Says Kaiser

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—Henry J. Kaiser solemnly assured two senate committees today that a signal from President Roosevelt would translate his vision of a fleet of giant cargo planes into a construction program such as only American ingenuity could initiate.

Given a "green light" and a steady flow of materials, the Oakland, Cal., shipbuilder told a military affairs subcommittee, he could turn out the first of such ships "within 10 months after receiving plans."

Shipyards Not Affected.

Not only could his shipyards be converted in part to the production of planes to speed up war deliveries, Kaiser declared, but the conversion would not interfere with his shipbuilding contracts, and Bethlehem and United States Steel and other shipbuilders would do likewise if the President asked.

In an appearance before the senate defense investigating committee he agreed with Chairman Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.]: "The job can be done if there's a will to do it."

Plans 29 Day Ships.

He declared that altho he had never seen a ship launched before he took over his present contracts in 1940, he had built in 46 days a ship called for in 140 and that he expected to turn out a 29 day job next month.

Kaiser insisted the two bottlenecks of engines and steel could be broken.

"If the automotive industry of America, which supplied 85 per cent of the world's motor cars, can't produce enough engines," he said, "it is indeed sad."

Kaiser said he had from "50 to 60" engineers working on the engineering features of big flying boat construction, "because we want to be ready to go ahead if the President tells us to."

GREEN TO TAKE VACATION AFTER SPEAKING TOUR

Springfield, Ill., July 30 (AP).—Gov. Dwight Green will take a brief vacation trip to New York with Mrs. Green and a group of friends next week, it was announced today.

The governor will leave next Wednesday or Thursday after a week of speaking engagements that will include an address Saturday night to a meeting of midwestern Republican leaders at Omaha, Neb.

The governor's schedule calls for appearances tomorrow night in Aurora; Saturday noon in Lincoln, Neb., as a guest of Gov. Dwight Griswold; Saturday at Omaha; Monday at the state defense council meeting in Chicago; Tuesday at a patriotic rally in Park Ridge, and Wednesday at a luncheon sponsored by the American Cheese institute in Chicago.

BILL PREPARED TO PAY SOLDIERS' FAMILIES NOW

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] drafted for introduction in the senate today a measure to repeal a provision of the soldiers' family allowance bill holding up payr[illegible] to dependents of service men u[illegible] after Nov. 1.

Vandenberg said he was surprised to learn that when it passed congress the bill carried a provision specifying that "any allowances which accrue under this title for the period preceding Nov. 1, 1942, shall not be actually paid until after Nov. 1, 1942."

"That is just two days before the general election date and it seems strange that such a provision should have been put into the law," Vandenberg told reporters. "I didn't know it was in there and I am sure that few others did."

MOBILE '75' BEST TANK WRECKER, EXPERTS CLAIM

Test Guns in Carolina Maneuvers Today.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wadesboro, N. C., July 30.—Heavy 75 millimeter guns on comparatively agile half-tracks or semitractors are the best means of stopping tanks, experts on duty at the 6th army corps Carolina maneuvers said today.

Development of the "tank destroyers" has been in progress for about a year. Many of these artillery pieces on mobile mounts will be functioning in tomorrow's pitched battle between Red and Blue forces operating in the first problem of the air-ground maneuver phase. Reconnaissance and preliminary skirmishing have been in progress for 36 hours now and the technique of battle calls for the concentrated use of all weapons, infantry, artillery, air corps, and the armored units.

Armored Unit Sent Out.

Because of his established air superiority, the Blue commander, Maj. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem Jr., whose mission is to obliterate the Red invaders, tonight sent his armored combat team on a wide end run apparently intending to strike at the Red flank or at their rear.

The deciding point of the problem is expected to rest upon the ability of the Red commander, Maj. Gen. Fred L. Walker, to meet the Blue attack.

Umpires will rule upon the effectiveness of tank destroyers, or tank killers as the Germans call them, in tomorrow's battle.

Whereas artillery is used from behind the lines and the gunners seldom see their targets, tank destroyers work much closer to the enemy and fire by "direct laying," that is, the target is constantly within the gunner's sight.

Destroyers Outspeed Tanks.

So, since the destroyers are faster than tanks, altho they do not carry the complete armament of the latter, they can maneuver quicker, sometimes on a hit-and-run basis, stopping, training their big guns, firing then roaring away toward safety. And if they score a hit even on the snout, which is the best protected part of the tank, there will be penetration, which means that it's all up with the tank.

Some strategy involves a concentration of destroyers, "a ganging up" on the approaching tanks. In any event the policy of sitting and waiting has no place in a tank destroyer's book of tactics.

Small tanks mounting 37 mm. guns are also used in harassing larger ones in a "worrying" sort of process which of itself might not be so effective but in support of destroyers would make the life of the attacked tank commander a busy one.

TAXPAYERS ASK JURY LOOK INTO CHANDLER POOL

Lexington, Ky., July 30 (AP).—United States Attorney John T. Metcalf said he received a petition today requesting a federal grand jury investigation of "certain charges" made against Sen. A. B. Chandler, seeking the Democratic renomination in Saturday's primary.

Metcalf said the petition, signed by six persons who described themselves as taxpayers of Fayette county, stated that Chandler is charged with violating federal "regulation L41, which forbids the expenditure of more than $500 on any private improvement in and city," which the senator does not deny, and who it is charged has received from a war contractor a gift of a swimming pool costing $10,000.

"Even in the face of the fact that this conduct has been condoned by certain official boards in Washington, we feel that these circumstances should be investigated by a fair, impartial, nonpolitical, fearless grand jury in the eastern district of Kentucky."

M'CLELLAN, HOLT NECK AND NECK IN ARKANSAS VOTE

Little Rock, Ark., July 30 (AP).—The battle for the senatorial runoff nomination in the Aug. 11 regular primary remained a neck and neck race today between former congressman John L. McClellan and youthful Attorney General Jack Holt of Harrison.

With nomination at next month's primary tantamount to election, the winner will succeed Sen. Lloyd Spencer, an interim appointee.

The Associated Press' final tabulation of unofficial returns from Tuesday's primary covered 2,019 of 2,127 precincts and gave McClellan 53,546 votes; Holt 52,757; Rep. Clyde Ellis, 33,526, and Rep. David D. Terry, 26,486.

Navy Will Train 1,000 Women as Officers for New Auxiliary

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—The navy laid plans to enlist sailorettes tonight after President Roosevelt signed into law a measure creating the women's navy auxiliary corps of 11,000 members.

The reserves which are expected to be given the nickname WAVES were officially mentioned as "Women Appointed for Volunteer Emergency Service" in official announcements today. The corps, designed to release thousands of officers and enlisted men for sea duty, will include 1,000 commissioned officers and 10,000 enlisted women.

Secretaries for Admirals.

Duties of the sailorettes will range from decoding secret messages to serving as secretaries for high ranking officers. Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the house naval committee said some may get culinary assignments.

The feminine officer candidates will receive indoctrinal and technical instruction before winning commissions. They may apply at naval procurement offices in the 12 cities of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Richmond, Va.; Charleston, S. C.; Miami, New Orleans, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, or Seattle. Enlistments will follow the commissioning of officers.

An advisory educational council of eight members has been set up to assist naval officers in establishing requirements for the corps. Miss Virginia C. Gildersleeve, dean of Barnard college, New York, heads the council. Miss Mildred H. McAfee, president of Wellesley college, who has been prominently mentioned as probable director of the corps, is a member at large.

College Heads on Council.

Others on the council are Miss Ada Comstock, president of Radcliffe college, Cambridge, Mass.; Mrs. Thomas S. Gates, wife of the president of the University of Pennsylvania; Miss Meta Glass, president of Sweet Briar college, Sweet Briar, Va.; Miss Alice M. Baldwin, dean of women's college of Duke university, Durham, N. C.; Miss Alice C. Lloyd, dean of women, University of Michigan, and Mrs. Malbone Graham, professor, author, and lecturer of Santa Monica, Cal.

Smith Training Site

Northampton, Mass., July 30 [Special].—In accordance with the act recently passed to establish a women's naval auxiliary in the navy the navy department is to set up an officer training unit at Smith college, Dr. Herbert J. Davis, president of the college, revealed today.

The reserve will be open to college and university women and the training will be in some respects similar to that which is being carried out by the women's army auxiliary corps at Fort Des Moines, Ia.

Three Smith dormitories will be given up to house 400 in the naval unit and the remaining 500 will be housed in the Hotel Northampton.

CHARGE GENERAL LAX IN PLAN TO PROTECT PUBLIC

San Francisco, Cal., July 30 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. J. L. De Witt and the war department were accused today by Judge William Denman of the 9th district, United States Circuit Court of Appeals, of failing to develop an adequate plan for evacuating San Francisco in the event Japanese bombs set the city afire.

The jurist made public his correspondence with John J. McCloy, assistant secretary of war, under the caption, "Gen. De Witt's ghastly seven months plan, or lack of planning to prevent the burning alive of the city's women and children, sick, and aged."

Judge Denman said if Japanese incendiary bombs ignited the city's wooden structures the prevailing wind could readily repeat on an even greater scale the San Francisco fire of 1906 when 28,188 buildings were destroyed.

He asserted that Gen. De Witt had not developed an adequate plan of evacuation, had not informed civilians of his plans, had not agreed to practice evacuation, and had not asked for civilian aid.

HINT BRITISH CABINET SHAKEUP AS RESULT OF LABORITE REVOLT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—Shakeups in the Labor party's executive council and the party's leaders in the war cabinet were foreshadowed tonight as a consequence of the rank and file revolt in the house of commons over the old age and widows' pensions issue. Forty-nine Laborites voted against the government and 25 abstained from voting. It was the largest opposition vote since the Churchill government went into office.

65 LAKE COUNTY BOYS FORM NEW MARINES UNIT

There's a new unit of the United States marines speeding west to San Diego, Cal., today—a unit of 65 Lake county boys who have been promised they will be kept in the same field group for the war's duration.

The 65 new marines were sworn in last night in a ceremony at Weiss field, Waukegan, as the climax of a 10 day marine recruiting drive in Lake county.

Lieut. Col. Chester L. Fordney, marine recruiting officer for 13 central states, who lives in Lake Bluff, said the 65 would be known as the Lake county, Illinois, unit and would remain intact. After the ceremony the recruits boarded a special train for the marine base at San Diego.

Sixteen cases of liquor, valued at $400, were taken from her apartment at 2248 Melrose street, Mrs. Alice Brendorfer reported to police yesterday.

Harvard Opens a Course in Guerrilla Warfare

Cambridge, Mass., July 30 (AP).—A course in guerrilla warfare was inaugurated tonight at Harvard university, with more than 200 students signing up. Members of the unit will attend sessions four times a week. Henry N. Lemar, boxing coach, will teach commando tactics, and the unit will be in charge of Allan Grant Jr. of New York City, a graduate of Culver Military academy who is a sophomore at Harvard.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

SILVER NONSENSE.

With the government's coffers overflowing with silver, there is still such a shortage for essential war uses that the War Production board has just issued an order restricting use of foreign silver except on high priority ratings and prohibiting its use after Oct. 1 for silverware, jewelry, and other industrial arts purposes. Meanwhile the government sits on a silver pile amounting to more than 2 billion 953 million troy ounces, or 67,000 tons, which eventually must be restored to its former size of 3 billion 325 million ounces, or 114,000 tons.

The WPB order does not affect domestic silver, but the civilian user, if he wants to lay hands on any of that, must go into the market and compete against the treasury department, which is required to buy all newly mined domestic silver at 71.11 cents an ounce. This is double the world price of silver—or what silver is really worth—so the civilian buyer is hardly likely to offer the government much competition. The effect of the WPB order is to close the foreign supply sources, such as Canada and Mexico, to all users except those engaged in essential war production.

For eight years, under the terms of the silver purchase act, the treasury has been buying the entire domestic silver output at a highly inflated price, closing off the supply from civilian users. It must go on doing this endlessly under the law on the books. It cannot stop until one-fourth of the total monetary value of gold and silver stocks is held in silver. We already have more than 22 billion dollars' worth of gold, and the more gold we buy the more silver we must buy, even tho for eight years we have been taking the limit of domestic supply. And so far, after this interminable buying, government silver stocks amount to only 15.7 per cent of the total monetary value of all government owned gold and silver.

As if this were not the ultimate insanity, the government may not sell any of its silver in the open market until the metal reaches the absurdly high statutory price of $1.29 an ounce. Whatever screwy economic argument may have originally been advanced for this procedure, it has long since been exploded, as every one admits except the congressmen from the silver states. They are interested only in maintaining the shameless subsidy to the silver producers.

Under a ruling of the attorney general last April, it was declared admissible for the treasury to loan 47,000 tons, or 1 billion 370 million ounces, of the government's hoard to war industry. All of this must eventually be replaced in the treasury. It was not, however, found legally admissible to release the remainder of the pile, which is held in silver coin or is "pledged" as currency backing. The backing represented by the 40,000 tons pledged against silver certificates is largely fictional, for the unsubsidized value of the silver does not approach the exchange value of the outstanding certificates.

Of the 47,000 tons of "free" silver all but 5,000 were immediately loaned to aluminum plants for bus-bars, thus releasing an equivalent amount of copper, another scarce metal, both silver and copper being prime conductors of electricity. Silver is also in wide demand for many other war purposes. With the principal sources of tin in Japanese hands, silver is used to form solder by uniting it with lead. It is used in photographic film, which is needed by the army and navy, and in the pure state it is used for airplane bearings. It goes into tanks, trucks, ships, planes, shells, bombs, and a long line of miscellaneous products.

But with all this demand the treasury cannot make use of the vast silver hoard reserved for hypothetical currency backing. It cannot use about 13,500 tons in coined money not in circulation. Even the administration realizes the folly of the situation, but congress, perhaps because of the power of silver congressmen in vote trading deals, has shown no disposition to do the sensible thing. That is to repeal the silver legislation in its entirety.

A PIONEER CARGO.

On Aug. 7 THE TRIBUNE will add another to its list of important firsts. On that date the motorship Chicago Tribune, one of a fleet of vessels owned by a subsidiary company, will handle the first cargo of a 150,000 ton contract of midwestern coal from Chicago to Fort William, Ontario, on Lake Superior.

Three years ago the railroads entering the Chicago district attempted to publish lake cargo coal rates from Illinois and Kentucky mines to Chicago. The proposed rates were lower than those on coal for local consumption and were designed to cover the movement of coal for transfer to vessels out of the port of Chicago.

Eastern mines and eastern railroads prevailed on the Interstate Commerce commission to suspend the rates and institute a hearing as to their lawfulness. The charge was made that the proposed new rates would discriminate against these eastern interests. On account of lengthy litigation before the commission, the rates did not become effective until April 5, 1941, and then on a level generally 10 cents per ton higher than the railroads had proposed. The movement during 1941 was small, due partly to the fact that the rates became effective too late for the consummation of sales contracts and partly because of a lack of ships for the traffic. The new contract for 150,000 tons will cover coal consigned to the Canadian Pacific railway. It is believed the pioneer cargo will open new markets for middle west coal.

In the past THE TRIBUNE's boats have come to Chicago loaded with newsprint and then have run light from Chicago to Heron bay on the northeastern shore of Lake Superior to load pulpwood for transfer to THE TRIBUNE's paper mills on the Welland canal in Ontario. Due to the scarcity of lake transportation the Canadian Shipping board has adopted the policy of eliminating wherever possible the movement of vessels without cargoes. The new coal traffic, therefore, fits in admirably with the shipping board's policy and it has the enthusiastic approval of that board.

It has taken a war to overcome burocratic inertia and establish a new natural trade route.

THE PAY ROLLERS STILL GET PAID.

The county government rents space in the Burnham building for some of its departments. It has been stalling the building management for seven months on its rent, just as it has been stalling more than a thousand of its other creditors. The manager dropped in the other day with a bill for $55,000 and told the county commissioners that unless it is paid it is doubtful whether the building can pay its tax bill due this fall.

There would be a certain amount of poetic justice in this, except for the fact that the county would get less than a tenth of the taxes. By reneging on its bills it is gypping the other local governments.

Any one who could add and subtract, including several members of the county board, could see that the budget that the board passed this year was a fake. It was obvious that the county would fall several million dollars short of the revenue needed to meet the obligations it authorized. It is significant, however, that while there is no money to pay bills, those for whose benefit the county was pushed into bankruptcy are not suffering.

The pay rollers who spend the day playing the horses and their evenings pushing doorbells for Small Potatoes McKeough and the other nominees of the Democratic party are still drawing their checks on the 1st and 15th. The creditors can go hang, the county hospital can lack supplies, but nothing must happen to disgruntle the pay rollers in an election year.

The county has been broke before, but the last time it was broke every one else was, too. It couldn't pay its bills during the depression, but the merchants who supplied it then did so because the county's promise to pay was better than no sale at all. Now there are more customers than goods, and merchants can afford to be choosy, even if Regulation W doesn't require some of them to cut the county off along with their other slow pay customers.

When inmates of county institutions start to suffer from lack of supplies, as they will, the public can look beyond the county commissioners and the judges of the Circuit court, who overloaded the pay rolls, to the Morrison hotel. The boys in the back room there don't care about the sick people and the old folks as long as their pay rollers get paid.

PINKS AND PUNKS.

Another little meeting has been held by the pinks and punks of New York who are presently playing their part in the smear campaign. This time they have been denouncing Rep. Dies as a fascist. Their hatred of him is easily explained. He has exposed the connection of many of them as Communists and fellow travelers and they didn't want to be exposed.

The smear brigade is possessed of an unparalleled impudence. These Greenwich village characters who are without influence in their own districts presume to tell the men and women of other parts of the country how they shall vote. The pinks and punks have prepared a list of members of congress who are to be purged, and tho the primaries held in 15 states have shown the voters' contempt for this unsolicited advice it is still being solemnly offered. Mr. Dies, whose defeat was demanded, was renominated without opposition. The smear brigade couldn't find any one to make the race against him.

In this connection it is noteworthy that the charge against Mr. Dies is that he is a fascist. If that were true his neighbors in Texas wouldn't have to be told about it by New York's amateur politicos. He would have been retired to private life long ago. In fact, of course, Mr. Dies, far from being the fascist at heart which the smearers call him has been the enemy of totalitarianism of all kinds in this country and has been able to do something about it because the representatives of the people in congress have repeatedly and by overwhelming votes authorized his committee to pursue the investigations. He owes his authority to the representative system. It is hateful to the pinks and punks because as long as it exists it will prevent them from destroying the republic and replacing it with a dictatorship.

JIM CROW AT THE POLLS.

Negroes who presented themselves at the polls in Arkansas to vote in the state's Democratic preferential primary were turned away because the state's party rules restrict membership to "white electors only." The rebuff at the polls in southern states is nothing new. Usually the Negroes do not even attempt to assert a right to the ballot. Perhaps this time, with so much talk of the four freedoms in the air, they felt that things would be different.

The northern states under the leadership of the first Republican President achieved emancipation of the Negro, and he is not denied the ballot in them. Good sense counsels him to belong to the Republican party that traditionally stands for his rights as a citizen, rather than to the Democratic party that perpetuates his bondage, and denies him even the liberty of coöperating in his own oppression.

MOBILE AIR POWER?

[New York Times.]

A dispatch from Moscow says that the Germans are using their air force as a mobile unit, shifting it rapidly from front to front as necessity dictates, sometimes as much as 500 miles. That statement suggests to the nonmilitary mind that one of this war's lessons has not been learned as well as it should have been learned by the united nations.

The Germans shift air power swiftly from front to front in Russia; they send squadrons to Libya when they are needed; they concentrate them on Crete. The mind of the civilian wonders if this is not the function of air power and wonders why the British could not detach 500 bombers for a swift flight to Russia to bolster faltering armies; why, over night a group of bombers could not be shifted to Egypt to do their work and be back in England in a week.

And when the Chinese are so pressed—and the English also—in Asia, why it is not possible to detach a group of fast bombers for service in China, or Burma, or any other place where the Japanese would be vulnerable to air attack. If it is a question of supplies, surely gasoline and ammunition could be flown in for a brief period, long enough to make a dent in an offensive.

Certainly ground forces are needed in such an undertaking; but for a short, sharp attack, planes can go out and come back, leaving disabled ones for later repairs. An air force can, and should, move around. Wiley Post flew around the world in less than a week.

WHAT NEWS ON THE RIALTO?

It is no novelty for a theater to become a church; in fact many theaters, during their careers as so-called shrines of drama, have been used as churches while the mummers were taking their Sunday morning naps. But when a theater becomes the chapel of a monastic order and the entire building becomes a monastery, old denizens of Chicago's Rialto are likely to need a little brow-fanning to recover from the surprise. All along the few bright-lighted blocks of Randolph street the topic of the week is the acquisition of the Woods theater by the Franciscans.

* * *

The history of this playhouse before its conversion into a movie was lively but not distinguished. It was built some 20-odd years ago by or for the New York producer, Al Woods, then almost as well known as Al Smith, and its bookings were generally according to his taste, which was lusty rather than fine. It was named in his honor, but its title was not an example of the possessive case. "Woods' theater" is incorrect; "the Woods" is the formal designation. . . . We have always thought that it would have done better with some fancy, impersonal name.

* * *

The Woods is lacking in legends, perhaps because the shows it offered, altho often amusing, were the sort of stuff that passes in one ear and out the other. For example, we have seen every dramatic production ever staged in the Woods but have difficulty in remembering them. Our most vivid recollections are of the uproarious Potash and Perlmutter comedies [there were several with Barney Bernard and Alexander Carr as the quarreling cloak-and-suit partners], and "Friendly Enemies," a play of similar type.

* * *

"Gertie's Garter" is a legend of the Woods for us, because of the unorthodox manner in which we reviewed it. "Why," we muttered, "should one waste words on it?" So we sat down and wrote a notice of an entirely mythical play, with a remarkable plot and a new set of characters, called "Goethe's Goiter." . . . Mr. Woods promptly defied us by changing the title of his opus to "Getting Gertie's Garter."

* * *

Came the depression; the "empire" of Mr. Woods vanished, and his playhouse became just another emporium for film-grinding.

SUMMER STORM IN CHICAGO.

Painter, here's bounty for your palette! Paint,
To the south, clear sunlight in a yet-clear sky—
But north, a tumult of piled clouds with faint
Lightning, and headlong dark, and waters high;
And inshore, one red lifeguard's white boat bobbing
Round swimmers' heads, and the intermittent flash
Of whitecaps in the wind. That powerboat's throbbing,
The shriek of excited waders, the storm's brash
Fierce blues and blacks, sharp golds, the soft, sunbland
Bronze of illumined sand—ere the light grows duller
You still can capture. And then, for a final, grand,
Climactic foreground touch, add—'tis your duty!—

Scriptures vs. Supreme Court.

In a recent volume of the Illinois Supreme court reports is an account of one Scragg and his paramour who mulcted his relatives out of many thousands of dollars on the pretext that she was the heir to a large fortune and needed funds to establish her claim. In accordance with tradition, the woman alone was brought to trial and convicted of operating a confidence game.

After reading of her conviction and appeal, we find this:

"Plaintiff in error's sole contention is that because of the inherent improbability in the testimony of the witness Scragg in many respects, and because he is so discredited by his admitted relations with plaintiff in error, it does not establish her guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. The only authority relied upon to support this contention is John viii., 7."

Do I have to say that this refers to the Scriptural qualifications for casting the first stone?

But this is what the court had to say about it: "While we fully concur in the rule there announced and accept without question the authority cited, the statutes of Illinois prescribe no such qualifications for a prosecuting witness."

AT THE MOUNTAIN RESORT.

With the mountains spread before us
In their tow'ring beauteous sheen
Caused by pine trees' sparkling needles,
And an azure lake between,
There we sat on the veranda
Of the chalet "Squawking Squeaks,"
'Mid the wondrous, startling grandeur
Of the lofty granite peaks;
There we sat, a silent fifty,
With our heads bowed as in prayer,
Not a sound, 'cept muffled voices,
To pervade the sacred air.
Were we stupefied with wonder
At Dame Nature's grand display?
Or, perchance, were we just watching

In La Salle Street's Good Old Days.

In my earliest days in La Salle street, brokers' boardmarkers were often interfered with by an old codger with gray hair and goatee. He usually wore a Prince Albert, slightly tarnished, and would stand at the ticker and yell the quotations, employing all the railroad monickers that have recently appeared in the Line [and one that is yet to be noted] until the boardmarker whizzed the wheeled ladder across his toes.

The railroad nickname missing to date is "Old Woman," or OW on the tape, standing for the New York, Ontario and Western, which with its connections provides a route from the Pennsylvania anthracite fields to New England.

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

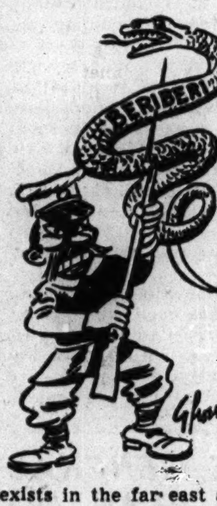
THE JAPS HAVE CONQUERED ONE ENEMY.

MODERN advances in nutrition have come just in time to help the Japanese become a formidable foe. In 1923 beriberi was responsible for more than a third of the illness that appeared in their army. They called the malady "kakke," which means "disease of the legs." It was the peculiar gait adopted by these victims, in which heel and toe walking becomes impossible, that gave rise to the term.



The disease still exists in the far east and is a prominent cause of death among infants in Japan. But it is not nearly as widespread as it was years ago, before it was learned that a proper diet would be curative. No longer are their fighting forces fed wholly on polished rice, from which the outer portion has been removed.

The origin of beriberi is a lack of sufficient vitamin B1 [thiamin]. Among our fellow citizens it rarely reaches the stage where incapacity develops. The chances are, however, that we have many cases of just enough deficiency to render the individual below par.

The onset is usually characterized by a sense of heaviness in the legs, shortness of breath, and palpitation of the heart. Sooner or later, the patient will complain of sore muscles. Eventually, swelling is observed about the ankles. At this point the progress of the disorder may stop.

Later manifestations include typical attacks of pain which is explained by the fact that the nerves are affected. This is called "polyneuritis" and is similar if not identical with alcoholic polyneuritis which has been recognized for many years. It is not the alcohol that occasions the damage. It is the fact that the one addicted to liquor forgets to eat properly.

The digestive tract likewise becomes involved. Loss of appetite is characteristic. The gastric acid drops below normal and the entire alimentary canal may exhibit a species of laziness which is quite incompatible with normal health.

Almost every vital part which has to do with the behavior of the body, and which is dependent upon the nerve supply, may be affected. Thus the pituitary, adrenals, and other glands are likely to be substandard in their output.

Even the nerves of the cranium will degenerate if the condition persists long enough. Every now and then the heart becomes definitely disturbed. It is thought that the vagus nerve, which has something to do with the heart beat, has been injured. Thus it is that the structure may enlarge, become dilated, and less efficient.

Of course, this does not indicate that all patients with cardiac disease should take vitamin B1 and anticipate recovery. But in every instance wherein irregularity develops, with distention, this food accessory should be supplied.

While we can look to our vitamin laurels, few of us will demand extra quotas if we follow a balanced diet. Furthermore, we need not form the bad habit of eating carelessly and expect to compensate for our neglect with a capsule or two a day. But for the one whose appetite is flagging, extra rations of B1 will be helpful.

NOT WRITER'S CRAMP.

P. C. writes: I have developed muscle atrophy in the third and fourth fingers of my right hand. I use a pen a great deal. Could this be writer's cramp?

REPLY.

Probably not. Writer's cramp is an occupational neurosis. The muscles of the fingers, hand, and forearm may contract spasmodically. In addition, pain is usually present. The remedy is the same, however, namely—rest, plus electrical stimulation.

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

A TIME FOR COURAGE.

Springfield, Ill., July 25.—I have just finished reading your editorial, "Propaganda Trial," which appears on the front page of this morning's TRIBUNE, and I wish to congratulate you upon the courageous stand you and your newspaper are taking at this time.

If a few of our leaders of public thought do not have the courage to speak out, our leadership down in Washington will ultimately destroy this nation just as France was destroyed. With the Japs standing with one foot in our back door on the Aleutians and the national administration dissipating our military strength by scattering it over every continent and sea on the globe, we certainly do need courageous leadership of public thought to tell our people what is going on.

Under the rules of censorship I have no means of knowing how much of our armed force is scattered about the world, but I certainly hope that we will have enough left to stop the Japs before they get an invasion foothold in our northwest territory. BENJAMIN S. DE BOISE,
Probate Judge, Sangamon county.

NOMINATIONS FOR THE SCRAP DRIVE.

Chicago, July 27.—Now that Uncle Sam needs scrap iron I would suggest the elevated lines be contacted and arrangements be made to tear down the abandoned steel structure which is rusting away on the west side of Union street, south of and adjoining the elevated railway south of Pershing road. This structure, which at one time apparently accommodated four or five tracks, is very unsightly and certainly could be well used in the war effort.

CHAS. A. WHETSTON.

Chicago, July 25.—On Dearborn street, north of 16th street, and for several blocks south, there is a double track of street railway rails. This is an abandoned sector of the city; the tracks have not been in use for at least 25 years. Why not have the city salvage these rails and turn them in for wartime purposes? There's many tons of potential ammunition in those nonused tracks. I could scout for more if the powers that be would be interested. MARY CROWLEY.

FLOWERS FOR COUNTY HOSPITAL.

Chicago, July 26.—I am a patient in the County hospital and I know there are many patients who do not have any visitors come to see them or friends write to them. In Chicago and other places there are people who raise flowers. If they could share some with the sick it would make the rooms cheerful and help to make the patients happy as well as the persons who share the flowers.

MARY GUILFOYLE.

EARLY BIRDS.

Chicago, July 28.—Regarding F. Y.'s complaint about North avenue beach, my wife and I have overcome the annoying experience of being chased out of the water by the life guards. We get down to the beach before these public servants go on duty. OTIS A. VAIL.

SEGREGATION IN BLOOD BANKS.

Evanston, Ill., July 28.—I was glad to see William Edgerton's protest against the segregation of Negro donations to the Red Cross blood bank.

This policy is typical of a blundering approach to racial problems. It looks harmless on the surface—since admittedly there is no practical difference involved, why not yield to traditional preferences? But there is inevitably a suggestion that "black" blood is inferior to "white" blood, a groundless prejudice that should not be upheld by official compliance. A tacit insult of this kind may be resented as keenly as a real disability.

Discrimination against colored races is too deep-rooted an evil to be destroyed over night. Education toward a new outlook must accompany political action and often precede it. Meanwhile continued segregation in some phases of life where it has long been customary can hardly be avoided. But there is no excuse for extending it to a newly developed phase where it is demonstrably irrelevant.

On the positive side, we should consider the potentialities of blood donation in fostering interracial good will. The plasma of the blood is a uniform substance. By giving it, almost any person can render the greatest service to any other person, unhindered by barriers of race, creed, or color. A means is provided whereby even the unskilled, the unlettered, the inarticulate of all races may assert their common humanity, may implement the statement of universal brotherhood. Will we accept this stepping-stone, or make of it another stumbling-block? WHITE DONOR.

ANCIENT LOCOMOTIVES.

Chicago, July 27.—We have seen much of late about dismantling automobile parking equipment and elevated structures to provide scrap for the national defense program.

Before requisitioning usable facilities, may I suggest to the WPB that they investigate the scrap pile in the form of dozens of locomotives and tenders which have for years stood rusting on the rails in the North Western yards near Lake street and Mannheim road.

They have stood there so long that possibly the North Western has forgotten they exist. No doubt other yards would yield many of these white elephants.

F. D. BEAMER.

BLOCKED VIADUCTS.

Chicago, July 28.—Yesterday after the rainstorm the viaduct west of Wentworth avenue on 59th street was flooded again. This happens every time it rains for more than five minutes and has been going on for years. People had to get off at the viaduct, walk two blocks south to 61st street, around to the other side of the flood, and there board the waiting street cars. After the car was packed the conductor told every one to get off and board the car that had arrived just in front of ours.

When the time element is so important to workers these days, why in heaven's name don't the city and Chicago Surface Lines get together and do something about these viaducts?

CHARACTER, NOT MORALE.

Chicago, July 26.—I, for one, am fed up with the recurrent use of that meaningless word "morale." What does it mean, if anything, and who is responsible for having substituted it for the good old fashioned word "character," which did, in grandpa's day, carry a wallop? It is high time that we stand or fall on the basis of character. HARRIET OSTRUM.

DIVORCE.

Chicago, July 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A, a former resident of Illinois, is now residing in an adjoining state. He is being sued for divorce by his wife residing in Illinois. There are no children. The wife left A while they both resided in Illinois.

1. Can the wife compel A to return to Illinois in view of the fact that A has some personal property that she would like to get a share of?

2. The personal property is out of the state. Y. T.

1. No.

2. If the property is in the same state in which she lives, she might subject it to her proceedings there.

Test Your Horse Sense By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 27.

1. Which one of these is inappropriate in this general grouping?
   Saxophone Trumpet Cello Oboe.
2. A soldier who had shown the white feather would probably have an enemy bullet in his Chest Back Forehead Abdomen.
3. Which one of these has magnetic properties?
   Lodestone Granite Shale Marble.
4. With which of the following can a man win a sweetheart most easily?
   Pearl Diamond Ruby Blarney stone.
   Nausea 104 fever Flexed right leg Constipation.
6. Here is a detective problem. A southern belle fell in love with a northern lad. They wanted to marry, but her father absolutely forbade the match. So they planned to run away for the ceremony. The girl was to meet her sweetheart at the old mill when the moon first showed itself that night. The boy waited with his automobile, but she didn't arrive. He wasn't aware that her father had caught her in the act of departing from the house and had locked her in her bedroom. But before she was locked up she signaled to the old deaf-mute cook. The latter wrapped a cardboard box in brown paper and ambled off toward the mill. When the cook met the young man who was waiting there she simply handed him the box and motioned for him to open it. He did. Inside he found a common farm product, but it told him the story. What was inside the box which revealed his sweetheart's message?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

SAVINGS STAMPS WILL BLOOM AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

On Sale with Tickets for Aug. 15 Spectacle.

Tickets for the 13th Chicago Music Festival, to be held the night of Aug. 15 in Soldiers' field, are on sale at 55 cents and $1.10 at The Tribune public service offices in Tribune tower and 1 South Dearborn street. All seats are reserved. Mail order checks should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

War savings stamps by the million will be the colorful background of the 13th annual Chicago Music Festival, to be held the night of Aug. 15 in Soldiers' field.

In boutonnieres and corsages, and pinned individually to lapels and dresses the war stamps will stream into the great lake front with the more than 90,000 spectators. To make it easy for every one who attends to wear war stamps, they have been placed on sale with festival tickets at the Tribune public service offices in Tribune tower and at 1 South Dearborn street.

Combinations Are Available.

The boutonnieres and corsages will contain clusters of red 10 cent stamps, green 25 cent stamps, or a combination of the two and will vary in price according to the number of stamps used. The plan was worked out by the festival staff, in coöperation with the United States treasury department.

When the official photographs of the vast throng are taken at the climax of the show, it is hoped that every one within camera range will be shown with a boutonniere, a corsage, or with individual stamps displayed on their persons.

The custom of wearing war stamps has become immensely popular in Chicago and the nation in the last few months. They have been seen at the opera and at sporting shows alike. But never will they have been seen in such numbers as at the festival, if festival goers coöperate with the plan approved by the treasury.

Patriotic Spectacle of Year.

And the show to which the clusters of war stamps will serve as a background will be Chicago's patriotic spectacle of the year. The army, navy, and marines are sending picked troops and musical organizations to add martial color and thrill to the great show.

Special guests will include families of American fighters who have been cited for valor in this war, who have been taken prisoners, or who have given their lives for their country. A special section has been reserved for them and tickets will be mailed to all who apply and establish family relationship to any man whose name has appeared on an official citation or casualty list.

See Aid to Campaigns.

Those who purchase war stamps for the festival may save the boutonnieres and corsages for other occasions, or may put them into war savings books to be exchanged for war bonds. It was emphasized that not only will these purchases assist the war effort and serve as an investment for the buyers, but the mass display of them at the festival will give great impetus to stamp and bond buying campaigns.

STIMSON BANS FURLOUGHS FOR HARVEST WORK

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—Every interference with the rapid and efficient preparation of the armed forces for combat must be halted at once, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said today in response to appeals for furlough of military personnel during the harvest season.

Exceptions to this policy, he said in a letter to Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], were being confined to cases of extreme emergency, and excessive furloughs or leaves would "prejudice the progressive growth of our military power."

"If it should develop that the American people are confronted with a food emergency which cannot be met by the existing surpluses," Stimson added, "the use of military personnel may be considered, but only if all sources of harvest labor have been exhausted."

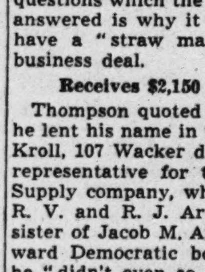
QUIZ STRAW MAN IN CICERO SCHOOL BUYING SCANDAL

Grand Jurors Told of Furniture Deal.



Louis H. Farber.

Louis H. Farber, 30 East Congress street, dealer in office equipment, described himself yesterday as only a "straw man" in a deal last summer thru which school furniture priced at $6,001 was sold to the Cicero board of education, district 99, for $13,095. The $13,095 transaction included $9,825 paid for 500 desks priced at $4,687.

Farber discussed details of the deal with Assistant State's Attorney C. Vernon Thompson before returning for further questioning by the grand jury investigating the school board's dealings. Thompson said one of the questions which the grand jury wants answered is why it was necessary to have a "straw man" for a simple business deal.

Receives $2,150 for Services.

Thompson quoted Farber as saying he lent his name in the deal to Henry Kroll, 107 Wacker drive. then a sales representative for the Crown Office Supply company, which is headed by R. V. and R. J. Arvey, brother and sister of Jacob M. Arvey, former 24th ward Democratic boss. Farber said he "didn't even so much as type an invoice or make a telephone call," yet got $2,150 from the transaction.

The rest of the money was deposited in the Liberty National bank, Chicago, in a joint bank account, Farber told the prosecutor. He said all withdrawals had to be co-signed by Mrs. Kroll, who used the name E. Vehon. He showed Thompson checks which indicated all but $4.87 had been withdrawn.

Comparison of Prices.

The prosecutor said the $6,001 represented the price Kroll paid the American Seating company and other companies for the equipment. The equipment involved, with the prices paid to the companies and the prices charged the school board, as outlined by Farber, follows:

Five hundred combination seat and desk chairs, $4,687 and $9,825; library tables and chairs, $426 and $1,126; folding chairs, $602 and $1,565, and manual training benches, $285 and $579.

Attorney Harold Levy notified Thompson that he would bring Mr. and Mrs. Kroll before the grand jury today.

ANNOUNCES RENT CONTROL OFFICE FOR NEGRO AREA

A recommendation that a district office of the OPA rent control division be established in the Negro sections of the city, which was drawn up by the National Negro council at a meeting this week in the Metropolitan Community church, 41 South Park way, has been approved by the OPA office in Washington, D. C., Edgar G. Brown, director of the council, announced yesterday.

The office will be established in the early future at 47th street and South Park way, he said.

A petition that Negro rents be reduced to their July, 1941, status is being drawn up under the chairmanship of the Rev. H. B. Hawkins, president of the Chicago Baptist Negro Ministers conference, Brown said. The petition, for which signatures of 100,000 Chicago Negroes will be sought, is to be sent to President Roosevelt and Leon Henderson of the OPA.

AMATEUR SLEUTH SCENTS SPY AND CATCHES ROBBER

Ex-Convict's Driving New Car Also Solved.

Clarence Cogdell.

For all his immediate troubles, Clarence Lamar Cogdell, a soft speaking Louisianan, can blame [1] his wife for talking too loudly and [2] an auxiliary policeman who is spy conscious.

His troubles began yesterday when the auxiliary cop, who is a civilian defense sleuth in his spare time, informed Capt. Frank Reynolds of the Chicago avenue station that he had uncovered a spy in the rooming house where he lives at 820 North Dearborn street.

"I'm sure he's a spy because I overheard him and his wife talking about big money," said the auxiliary policeman. "She asked him for some money, and he said he didn't have any.

Quotes Wife's Questioning.

"Then she said, 'Well, you had a big handful the other day. Where'd you get that?" He said nothing. Then his wife said, 'Yes and you had a new car the other day. Where'd you get the money for that?' Only a spy could have lots of money one day, and be broke the next."

Capt. Reynolds sent Detectives Frank Breitenberg, James Dwyer and Edward Harte to the Dearborn street rooming house. They nabbed Cogdell as he was alighting from a new automobile.

They quickly established that he wasn't a spy, but that he was an ex-convict with prison records in Louisiana, Michigan and Leavenworth, and that he was the robber who early Saturday stole $350 in a holdup in the Ranch restaurant, 123 East Oak street.

FBI Takes Him Into Custody.

The police also established that Cogdell had stolen in New Orleans, La., July 17, the new car he was driving. Because of this, they called in agents of the federal bureau of investigation. One look at the motor numbers and the agents said they'd take Cogdell off police hands. The car had been stolen from a colleague, H. L. Dollman, an FBI man in New Orleans.

Police said they were grateful to the spy suspicious auxiliary cop for his tip, and they'd like to clear up for him a mystery as to why Cogdell was so broke after having had a handful of money. The money was the $350 loot from the Ranch robbery, and he had used $300 of it to buy two diamond rings for his wife.

BREWERS OFFER TO COLLECT CANS IN SALVAGE DRIVE

Large brewers and bottling companies in the Chicago metropolitan area have offered their distributing systems to the War Production board as collection media in the tin can salvage drive, William L. McFetridge, area salvage director of the Office of Civilian Defense, disclosed yesterday.

The companies have requested WPB officials to credit them with all the tin cans collected and to allocate a corresponding amount of blackplate [steelplate not coated with tin] for the processing of bottle caps during the summer months.

The bottlers' supply of tinplate for caps has been cut 30 per cent below 1941 levels and many were forced to purchase discarded tin cans from which to process caps to augment their supplies during the summer, when beverage consumption is at a peak, salvage officials explained. However, the WPB has requested the companies to cease buying tin cans in communities where it is conducting tin salvage drives.

William Johnson, executive secretary of the Chicago and Suburban Ash and Scavenger association, urged members at a meeting at 840 North Michigan avenue to spur collections of tin cans from hotels, restaurants, office buildings, and other large sources.

LIGHTNING HITS WOMAN AS WIND, RAIN STRIKE CITY

A short lived rain storm accompanied by high winds and lightning hit parts of Chicago last night, blowing over trees and seriously injuring one woman.

Mrs. Isabel Knoop, proprietor of a stable at Sauk Trail and Ashland avenue in South Chicago Heights, was closing a window in the horse barn when a bolt of lightning struck her and then killed one of the animals. She was taken to St. James hospital in Chicago Heights where physicians said her side was paralyzed.

In the Albany Park police district the storm blew down more than 100 trees in the area bounded by Foster, Montrose, Western, and Kedzie avenues. At 3008 Wilson avenue the wind picked up an outdoor staircase and deposited it on the roof of an adjoining building. Several chimneys were destroyed. Property owners in the Morgan Park and Gresham police districts also reported that several trees had been blown down.

George Rohde, 1100 Harvard terrace, Evanston, and three companions with him in his sailboat were towed to safety in Belmont harbor by a Lincoln park police patrol boat after the craft's mast was snapped in the high wind.

JANET McHALE.

Irish eyes will be smiling tomorrow evening when pretty Janet McHale, 705 South Sacramento boulevard, will be crowned queen of the Festival of the Gael at St. Phillip's stadium, Van Buren street and Kedzie avenue. The festival, which is sponsored by Irish societies, commemorates the kindling of the paschal fire on the hill of Slane in Ireland by St. Patrick 1,504 years ago.

Miss McHale, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McHale, was selected from among 84 candidates for the title. She is five feet five inches tall, weighs 119 pounds, has blue eyes and brunette hair. Her paternal grandfather, Patrick McHale, was a leader in County Mayo, Ireland, and her maternal grandmother also was from the Emerald Isle.

Friend of the YANKS

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

F. O. asks: "I am an embalmer and want to enlist in the navy. If I am accepted, will they [the navy] give me a few days to straighten up my business?"

ANSWER: At the time you are accepted, you may request enlisted reserve status in order that you may attend to the closing or other disposition of your business.

D. A. C. writes: "I have been married four times. I have three children by my present wife, and had children by all my former wives. If I enlist or am inducted, how will my present wife and children stand in reference to allotments?"

ANSWER: In complicated cases such as yours, it is best for you to write directly to the Allotment and Allowance branch, Building "Y," 20th and B streets, N. E., Washington, D. C. If the children of your former marriages are over 18 years of age, they would not be considered dependents. If your former wives obtained court orders for alimony or support and the court order is still unsatisfied, your former wives may be able to collect the allotments.

R. C. P. asks: "Is war insurance made payable to a wife, payable unconditionally, or is it canceled if she should remarry? In other words, can a second husband benefit from the payments being made to his wife because of her first husband's death in service?"

ANSWER: The payments to the wife would continue even tho she remarries, and she can make whatever disposition of them she wishes. This is not true, however, if the wife is beneficiary of the "automatic" insurance, nor of the pension granted to dependents of a man killed or disabled who has not paid for insurance.

J. K. writes: "I was honorably discharged from the army on account of disability. Is it permissible for me to wear my uniform on occasions?"

ANSWER: There is nothing in the army regulations to prevent you from wearing the uniform for short intervals as long as you do not do so with intent to misrepresent your status.

E. J. writes: "I am a merchant seaman working on a Great Lakes steamer and wanted to join the coast guard but the recruiting officer refused to consider me. Why? Can't I enlist anywhere?"

ANSWER: It is true that the water borne branches of our armed forces are reluctant to encourage the enlistment of men in the merchant marine. Such men are not barred from enlistment unless they are engaged on a vessel or service transporting essential war materials. This is particularly true when the seaman is on an ocean-going vessel. If the seaman on a lake carrier can get a letter from the captain of the boat stating that the seaman is not considered "irreplaceable" or is not engaged in the transport of essential war materials, there should be nothing standing in the way of his enlistment.

2 ENSIGNS TELL OF GIVING AROFF CUFF LINK SETS

San Francisco, Cal., July 30 [Special].—Two newly commissioned ensigns today testified at the court martial of Lieut. Comm. Maurice N. Aroff in support of navy charges that the former Los Angeles plumbing contractor accepted gifts from them in exchange for facilitating their navy appointments.

Still to be heard was Tony Martin, actor and singer, whom the navy charges gave Aroff a $950 automobile for an appointment as chief specialist that rescued him from draft board difficulties.

Similarly, Ensign Irving Cummings Jr., 24 years old, former Stanford university football player and son of a Hollywood film executive, testified he ordered a $40 pair of cuff links, for which his father paid, and slipped them into Aroff's overcoat pocket.

HOPKINS BRIDAL FAMILY AFFAIR AT WHITE HOUSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—Harry Hopkins, Presidential aid and confidant, and Mrs. Louise Gill Macy, New York fashion writer, were married at noon today in the first White House wedding in 24 years.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Russell J. Clinchy, Congregationalist, in the presence of President and Mrs. Roosevelt and 16 invited guests, mainly the executive family, in the second floor study of the White House. Impromptu guests included Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the army; Adm. Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, and members of the White House staff.

Lieut. David Hopkins, son of the bridegroom by his first marriage, who received his commission in the navy yesterday, was best man. Diane Hopkins, 10 year old daughter of the 51 year old bridegroom by his second marriage, was maid of honor. The 36 year old bride, whose first marriage ended in divorce, was given away by her brother-in-law, Lieut. Nicholas Ludington, U. S. N.

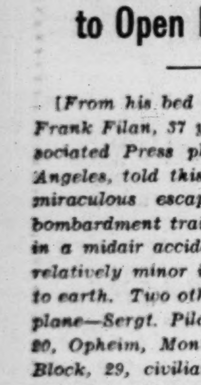
AP MAN TELLS MIRACLE ESCAPE IN HIGH AIR CRASH

Falling, Comes To Enough to Open Parachute.

[From his bed in an army hospital Frank Filan, 37 year old veteran Associated Press photographer of Los Angeles, told this story today of his miraculous escape from an army bombardment training plane involved in a midair accident. Filan received relatively minor injuries parachuting to earth. Two other occupants of the plane—Sergt. Pilot Rodney M. Grim, 20, Opheim, Mont., and Clarence L. Block, 29, civilian photographer attached to the west coast army air forces training center at Santa Ana, Cal., were killed.]

BY FRANK FILAN.



Frank Filan.

Victorville, Cal., July 30 (AP).—I am a very lucky guy. I half dived, half fell from a spinning plane last night over an army bombing range near here, dropped thousands of feet before regaining consciousness sufficiently to pull my parachute ripcord, then floated to earth under the big silk chute, which is probably the best friend I'll ever have.

With a party of Los Angeles newspapermen I have been touring west coast army flying fields for 10 days, learning first hand the steps it takes to train an army pilot.

On High Altitude Flight.

We took off about dark last night on what the army described as a local routine flight. It was listed in the itinerary as accompanying "high altitude record mission."

I don't know how high we were. Pretty high, I guess. Other planes also were in the air. I was riding near the door when the accident occurred.

Missed Chance to Jump.

I had one chance to jump, but I missed it. We went into a spin, and some way I never will know I managed to get out. I 'blacked out' and when I came to I was falling. I decided I'd better pull the cord and get it over with, so I yanked the ring. Then I passed out again. When I came to I was floating down near the earth. I wrecked my ankle when I hit. The first thing I did was say a prayer that I was alive.

After I got down, I gathered up the 'chute and started walking toward some lights. The lights proved to be on the bombing range, and I hurried away as fast as I could with a bum ankle. I was afraid they might be dropping bombs.

Find Him in Daze.

[Lieut. Col. A. J. McVea, director of flight training for the air base, and Lieut. Clarence M. Skaggs, returning to their base after investigating the crash, found Filan wandering dazedly. They said they had hoped to find a survivor, because there were indications that one of the occupants had bailed out.]

They said I looked like a ghost coming out of the darkness. I was wrapped in the silk parachute, trying to keep warm. As I was coming down, I remember seeing the plane burning on a slope a long way off.

WOMAN AND BOY CRASH VICTIMS DIE OF INJURIES

Mrs. Grace Barnhisel, 22 years old, 76 West 150th street, Harvey, an expectant mother and one of 10 persons injured in an automobile accident last Sunday on route 83 at Ridgeland avenue, died yesterday in Oak Forest infirmary. She never regained consciousness. She is survived by her husband, Raymond, 23, a war plant worker.

Anthony Pavliscak, 15, of Whiting, one of those injured last Sunday when a passenger train struck a truck at the county line road and U. S. Highway 12, died yesterday in St. Anthony's hospital at Michigan City of a skull fracture without regaining consciousness. Three others were killed in the crash.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 416 persons had been killed in Cook county by automobiles since Jan. 1. Of these 324 were killed in Chicago, where 11,830 were injured.

Eight Victims Along 'Just for Ride.'

Rep. Oscar Youngdahl [R., Minn.] said he was considering asking congressional investigation of the wreck.

The twin motored ship was being taken aloft at 7:40 a. m. by First Officers Kenneth S. Olson, 28 years old, and John F. Fischer, 26, both of Minneapolis, for a check flight. Witnesses said it had attained an altitude of about 200 feet when it nosed up, stalled, and crashed.

Gas Bursts Into Flames.

Gasoline in the plan's tanks, totaling 270 gallons, burst into flame, preventing field attachés from reaching the victims.

Eight of the dead were mechanics and groomers or junior mechanics, all of whom had just gone off duty and had climbed aboard the ship for the flight.

Youngdahl said he would demand the investigation "if length of the runways contributed to the crash."

Seeks Land from Fort.

"I will renew my efforts to get 100 acres from adjacent Fort Snelling needed to extend the runways to the length recommended by the Civil Aeronautics authority," Youngdahl said. Efforts have been made to extend the port into the military reservation.

Olson was a native of Hortonville, Wis. He is survived by his widow and one child. Fischer was a native of Fremont, O.

Plane Hits Pole; One Dies.

Pine Bluff, Ark., July 30 (AP).—Aviation Cadet Gilbert F. Brendle, 26 years old, Tiffin, O., was killed, and Civilian Instructor George E. Goodhead Jr., 27, Tulsa, Okla., was injured critically today when their training plane struck a power line pole and crashed during a practice emergency landing near Moscow, 15 miles south of Pine Bluff.

ICC ORDERS FULL INVESTIGATION OF TRANSIT MERGER

The Illinois Commerce commission yesterday ordered an immediate inquiry into Chicago's 179 million dollar transit merger plan and directed that full hearings on the financial and legal phases of the unification commence today before Leslie Salter, commission examiner.

This action was announced by Commission Chairman John D. Biggs after representatives of the city, the attorney general's office, and the traction lines submitted oral statements on the merger program.

William H. Sexton, city traction attorney, urged the commission to approve the unified setup before the end of August, but William R. Morgan, assistant to Attorney General George F. Barrett, warned the commissioners that many serious questions as to the financial feasibility and legality of the program remain to be answered before a ruling can be made.

Woman Is Held for Quiz After Husband Kills Self

Mrs. Hazel Patterson was taken into technical custody yesterday by Morgan Park police in connection with the death of her husband, John, 40, a carpenter. He was found shot to death June 25, a gun in his hand. A coroner's jury found he had committed suicide. Mrs. Patterson was seized at 762 West 72d street in the company of John Jaskoviak, 42, of 10249 Charles street.

OBITUARIES

Eugene B. Clark.

Funeral services for Eugene B. Clark, president of the Clark Equipment company, Buchanan, Mich., will be held at 3:30 p. m. today in the Rosehill cemetery chapel. Mr. Clark, who lived for many years at 1320 North State street, died Wednesday at the age of 69 in Billings hospital. He was president of the American Ore Reclamation company, the American Sintering company, and the Buffalo Sintering company. He was also a director of the Liquid Carbonic corporation, the Associates Investment company, of South Bend, Ind., and the Upper Avenue bank of Chicago. His widow, Luella; a son, John, and a daughter, Mrs. Leo Wolman, survive.

John Bremer.

John Bremer, 90 years old, of 3213 Vernon avenue, a lifelong resident of Chicago, died in County hospital Wednesday of injuries suffered in a fall June 9. When the great fire swept the city in 1871, his home was destroyed. He was employed many years as an engineer for the Chicago and Alton railroad. Survivors include two sisters and a brother.

Mrs. Catherine O'Connor.

Mrs. Catherine O'Connor, who retired in 1928 as assistant principal of the Poe grade school after 47 years' service with the Chicago board of education, died yesterday in her home at 3735 Lake Park avenue. She was 81 years old. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in Holy Angels' church. Surviving are a son, Edward, and a daughter, Margaret.

FACES 2 WIVES WHO BORE HIM BABIES AT ONCE

Robert Pruitt, 23 years old, manager of a loop parking lot, was confronted in Felony court yesterday with two wives who bore him children at approximately the same time in July, 1941, in the same ward in County hospital.

Pruitt, in explaining the second marriage, told Judge William V. Daly he "did it to give the baby a name" and pledged that if he was given a chance he would "support both families."

"For your gallantry, I'll hold you to the grand jury," the judge said, as he placed bond at $4,000 on a bigamy charge.

The first Mrs. Pruitt, Alice, 23, of 545 Dickens avenue, testified she bore him three children after their marriage Oct. 27, 1937, at Crown Point, Ind. The second Mrs. Pruitt said she became acquainted with him while both were on their way to an event at Soldiers' field and they were married Oct. 19, 1940, in the county building.

3 MARRIED MEN GIVEN PROBATION IN LARCENY CASE

Three employés of Montgomery Ward & Co., 618 Chicago avenue, who were sentenced Wednesday to six months in the Bridewell and fined $25 when they pleaded guilty to charges of petty larceny yesterday were granted a year's probation by Judge N. J. Bonelli in Chicago avenue court.

The three, accused of stealing $800 worth of merchandise from the company, are James Malek, 34 years old, 3018 South St. Louis avenue; John Reynolds, 32, 646 Belden avenue, and Adolf Knistoft, 32, 3545 5th avenue.

Judge Bonelli reconsidered the sentences after the three men, all married and the sole supporters of their families, promised to make restitution. The probation was granted with the consent of company officials.

MANSION LINKED TO MURDER TRIAL TO BE WRECKED

Recalls Famous Case of Dora M'Donald.

The 15 room marble paneled residence at 4501 Drexel boulevard, former home of "Mike" McDonald, millionaire gambler and Cook county political power at the turn of the century, and his wife, Dora, will be razed shortly to make room for a swimming pool and recreational area for crippled children, it was learned yesterday.

Leveling of the mansion, built during the World's Fair of 1893, and now the property of the Martha Washington Home for Dependent Crippled Children, recalls the sensational trial in which Mrs. McDonald, then 40 years old, was acquitted of the murder of Webster S. Guerin, an artist, 25 years old.

"Prettiest Girl in Town."

During the trial it was brought out that Mrs. McDonald, who as Dora Feldman, had been known as the "prettiest girl in town," met Guerin when he was 15 years old and she was 30. An infatuation developed and it was charged that they met in various cities and under various circumstances for several years.

Then Guerin began to waver and began receiving letters from other women. He was shot to death in his office in the Omaha building Feb. 21, 1907. Mrs. McDonald, hysterical, was found near by with a revolver.

Husband Remains Loyal.

Mike remained loyal to his wife and brought his fortune and political influence to her defense. He died, however, before the trial started—of a broken heart, it was said. He willed his wife and her son almost $1,000,000.

At the trial Mrs. McDonald denied jealousy was the motive for the shooting and asserted she had gone to Guerin's studio to demand that he cease blackmailing her. When he refused, she shot him, she said. She was acquitted.

Not long afterward Mrs. McDonald moved to California. The mansion was the home of the Starrett School for Girls from 1924 until it became the property of the Martha Washington home which recently moved to 4515 Drexel boulevard, the adjoining site.

AUTO DEATHS CUT IN JUNE AT RATE OF 10,000 A YEAR

The National Safety council reported yesterday that there would be 10,000 fewer automobile fatalities in 1942 if a record breaking reduction in traffic deaths in the nation during June continued for the remainder of the year.

Council experts said that a continuance of the June trend, which showed a decrease of 32 per cent from the same month in 1941 would mean that about 30,000 would be killed in automobile accidents this year, compared to 40,000 in 1941.

For the first half of 1942, the council declared, there were 14,800 traffic deaths in the nation, with 2,090 of these being recorded in June. More than half of the victims were said by the safety body to be workers, some of them engaged in war production, who cannot be immediately replaced in their work.

The June toll showed the greatest reduction in any month in council records, the organization reported.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

20 OF 42 THOUGHT UNEMPLOYABLE HOLD JOBS NOW

A survey of the United Charities' most seriously handicapped clients shows that 20 out of 42 persons previously considered totally unemployable now have jobs, Joel D. Hunter, general superintendent of the agency, reported yesterday. He said it is an indication that persons with conspicuous defects are beginning to get "better breaks" in seeking employment.

Included in the employed 20, he added, is a man with a shriveled arm and leg who now operates a news stand, a girl with a weak heart who is a comptometer operator, and a woman who has found work in a shoe repair shop, tho her back is in a cast. He also mentioned a young man who lacked muscular control of the eyelids, giving him the appearance of "extreme stupidity," who is making good in a war department office.

EX-GRID COACH SLAYS FLEEING NEGRO BURGLAR

Gilbert Atkins, 4903 Federal street, colored, was shot and killed yesterday by Detective Andrew Byrne of the Stockyards police station while attempting to escape.

Atkins, 27 years old, had been taken to 51st and Dearborn streets when he told police that he would help them recover loot from 50 burglaries he confessed after his arrest Wednesday.

Altho wearing handcuffs, he suddenly darted between two houses and ran to Federal street. Byrne, a former St. Rita High school football coach serving his first day as a detective, chased Atkins and killed him in front of 5245 Federal street when he refused to halt after Byrne fired three shots in the air.

HITCH-HIKER DIES BEFORE FIRING SQUAD IN UTAH

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 30 (AP).—Donald Lawton Condit, 25 years old, was executed by a firing squad today for the slaying of Harold A. Thorne, Salt Lake City salesman, on March 30, 1941.

Condit, a hitch-hiker whom Thorne had given a ride, chose this way to die in preference to hanging, after he was convicted of first degree murder.

U. OF I. ADVISERS AWAIT REPORTS; IGNORE BARRETT

The general advisory committee of the University of Illinois met behind closed doors for three hours in the Union League club yesterday and then issued a statement ignoring Attorney General George F. Barrett's squabble with the university and Sveinbjorn Johnson, the school's legal counsel and former state director of the Office of Government Reports.

The statement released by Benjamin F. Affleck, chairman, said the three hour session accomplished these results: the committee resolved to "await with interest" a report by a firm of management engineers on the efficiency of business operations and procedures at the university; a report from the American Council of Education on the university's educational program, and the report of an investigation by the council on medical education of the American Medical association regarding the college of medicine.

The group also authorized the appointment of a subcommittee to look into affairs at the university "in pursuance of the general advisory committee's announced purpose to do everything it can to be helpful to the university."

Old Age and Children's Pensions Gain Over June

Springfield, Ill., July 30 (AP).—Old age assistance awards to 150,600 Illinoisans over 65 years of age averaged $26.67 for July, a gain of 26 cents over June. The division of public assistance announced increases in total payments for both old age assistance and the aid to dependent children's program. The old age assistance total was $4,017,038 for the month, compared with $3,973,750 for June. An additional 157 persons received checks during July. Aid to dependent children payments totaled $735,210 and benefited 51,158.

STEVENS MOURNS WHILE CONGRESS HAS FINAL FLING

Hotels to Become Units of Army at Midnight.

Patrons held a wake over the demise of the Stevens hotel last evening but the Congress closed with a bang.

At midnight, the moaning at the bar ceased in both. The United States army air forces will take possession at 12:01 Saturday morning for the training of radio technicians.

Old time residents of the Stevens hotel, who had moved out days before, returned to sit in glum silence in their favorite chairs in the lobby and watch the changing scene. The information girl, who has been telling persons about the hotel for 13 years, answered her last questions in tears. Employés and patrons gathered in the bars and virtually whispered their farewells. Footsteps echoed eerily along the carpetless corridors, and pictureless, frame-marked walls stared at the passers-by.

Jubilee at Congress.

But in the Congress hotel it was a jubilee. The Elks, in shirt sleeves and good cheer, played their last poker game in their clubroom. The Congress Hotel Employés Social club did their farewell party up brown with free drinks, free music and free laughter. Only Anna [Sis] O'Donnell, who started as a printer's devil in the hotel back in 1899, dabbed her handkerchief to her eyes. Hundreds of patrons jammed The Glass Hat room and many of the drinks were on the house.

"We've done Peacock Alley proud, tonight," Emil Petri, who has been captain of waiters there for 40 years, boasted as he ushered the last, gay customers to the door.

Since the government acquired the Michigan avenue properties in a surprise condemnation suit on July 9, a vanguard of the air force personnel, led by Brig. Gen. Arnold N. Krogstad, commandant of the school, has been at the Stevens. By the time the school opens for classwork on Sept. 7 most of the permanent personnel is expected to be on hand to handle an enrollment of 15,000 men for the 14 week courses.

Police to Arrive Today.

Two battalions of military police will arrive today to assume protection of the hotels which henceforth will be known to the army as Unit 1 [Stevens] and Unit 2 [Congress]. One battalion from Fort Custer will arrive at the Illinois Central station at noon and will parade up Michigan avenue with armored cars and machine guns. The other battalion will come by truck from Fort Sheridan.

All restaurants and cafés in the two hotels have been closed, with the exception of the Stevens coffee shop which will remain open until after dinner tonight. The army cooks take over at midnight and soon after will begin preparing breakfast for tomorrow.

Stored in the Stevens exhibition hall are thousands of two decked army bunks. Beginning tomorrow they will replace hotel beds in order to accommodate at least four men to a room.

Some to Keep Jobs.

Arrangements were being made, Maj. J. R. Johnston, public relations officer, said, for the army to retain many of the employés in the two establishments.

Those retained will include all maintenance men, such as engineers and firemen, elevator operators, clerks, stenographers, accountants, housekeepers, and waitresses. The waitresses will be employed in the post exchange restaurant which will be privately operated. Housemaids, waiters and bellboys will lose their jobs. The Stevens laundry and all its employés will be taken over intact by the army to handle all of the laundry of the army men for a charge of $3 per man per month.

Tonight the telephone numbers of the two hotels are to be changed. All calls will go thru one switchboard, Wabash 4440.

Acquisition by the army of the 8th Street theater, the Florists building, 729 South Wabash avenue, and a parking lot, all in the same block west of the Stevens loomed as a possibility yesterday.

Gen. Krogstad said he had received verbal authority to begin negotiations with the owners of the properties.

W-G-N TO OFFER RADIO TOUR OF ARMY'S SCHOOL

When the army air force takes over the Congress and Stevens hotels tomorrow W-G-N will be on hand to tell listeners about opening day activities. A special broadcast is scheduled from 11:45 a. m. to noon.

The program will present pickups from several stations in units No. 1 and No. 2 [as the hotels will henceforth be described] of the new army aviation radio training school soon to be instituted. Typical quarters will be visited and described. There will be word pictures of the school's dispensary, post exchange, mess hall, power plant, and other facilities.

Col. Walter C. Meyer, executive officer, will speak briefly; Col. Sheldon B. Edwards, mess officer, will tell about feeding the thousands of soldiers who will be quartered in the hotels.

Farewell to Hotels

Gus Bicker, head of the Congress hotel printing shop since 1900, and Miss Anna (Sis) O'Donnell, oldest employe of the hotel, at employe social club's farewell party in the Congress last night.

CITY TO OPERATE AUDITORIUM AS SERVICE CENTER

Hotel and Theater will Be Utilized.

The Auditorium hotel and theater will be taken over by the city immediately and within the next 30 days converted into the city's fourth service men's center, it was announced yesterday by Mayor Kelly.

The mayor said the move was made to meet the influx of another 20,000 men who soon will be attending the radio schools in the Stevens and Congress hotels. These men, he said, will need recreation facilities, food, comforts, and entertainment, and the Auditorium at Michigan avenue and Congress street, with its large theater next door, will make an ideal spot to furnish them.

Mayor Calls for New Aid.

"The service men's centers," Mayor Kelly said, "have constituted a real test of the loyalty and patriotism of Chicago's people. I know that the unselfish men, women, and girls who, so far, have given so much of their time to make them a success will be glad to extend their activities now that it becomes necessary."

Free threatrical performances and shows of all kinds will be given in the theater, the mayor said.

Only two floors of the hotel will be put into service immediately, he added. On these there will be dancing, a canteen, a library and reading rooms as well as accommodations for food.

Need Heating Facilities.

There are no heating facilities in the buildings now, Kelly said, but arrangements to provide them either with special boilers or by arrangement with surrounding buildings will be made when it becomes necessary.

Present arrangements, he said, are under the direction of Mrs. Kelly who had been working at the original center, 176 West Washington street.

Negotiations for the taking over of the hotel and theater—altho not the theater building—were completed by the mayor with John Goodrich, president of the Auditorium Hotel association, and William Scott Bond, representing the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, which has a financial interest in the buildings.

Rent and Tax Free.

The building will be rent free and tax free while being used for the service men. The lease is for a period of five years, which may be canceled on short notice by the city, or a year's notice by the property owners.

Principal financial expense to the city will be incurred in rehabilitating the part of the structure to be used. The money will be taken from a special defense fund. Necessary labor, apart from volunteer workers, will be furnished by the city and the park district. The total costs are not expected to be high.

Canteen supplies are given gratis by citizens, stores, businesses, and clubs, and those who operate the canteen donate their services free.

INSTALMENT XXXV.

HAROLD'S LETTER.

"I didn't kill him!" Maria shrieked.

"I arrest you, not for the murder of Lord Festone—" Morelos continued above her interruption—"We know who killed him—but for blackmail. Lord Festone was not the father of your child."

Maria quailed.

"Steven Anderson, husband of Mary, stand up," Morelos ordered.

A large, sunburned American cowboy rose to his feet, shuffled and grinned uneasily as the eyes of the audience turned to him.

"Steven Anderson, this is your deposition.

"It says that you married Mary Gonzales three and one-half years ago—that at the time she went to work for Señora Lathrop, you knew the child she had conceived was yours. You surprised her one day when she was posing for Lord Festone. You promised to forgive her only if she charged him with paternity of the child you both knew was yours. You wished to extort money from him. Señora Lathrop, unwittingly, helped you in your plan.

"Your wife, Mary, was frantic lest some one would find out, after Lord Festone died, what you two had been up to. That's why she shot and threw rocks at Señorita Johnson. Do you swear that this is the truth?"

"Yeah, it's all there," the stranger drawled.

"Is any one here willing to admit committing the murders of Lord Festone and Sharon Lathrop?"

Morelos, picking up a paper said: "Juan Collado?"

A blue uniformed policeman rose, smiling. "Yes, señor."

"On the night I saw you put the sedative in Señorita Johnson's drink, Sir James, I wished to know why you did it. I left Collado on night duty to see what you would do. Collado, tell your story."

Collado spoke in hesitant English.

"I sit in the garden. I see Sir James come toward the señorita's room. He go away quick. Then I see another figure with a flashlight. It go to the señorita's room. It stay a long time. It come out. I follow. It go to Sir James' room with a paper in its hand. It come out quickly."

"Did you recognize both figures, Collado?"

"Yes, sir."

"Very well, Collado. Sit down. Now, Señor José Perez."

An elderly, stout man rose and began to talk immediately.

"I am with the Mexican police department. The day after the crime was committed I checked the spot where Lord Festone's wrecked car and body were found, for tire marks."

"Did you find any?"

"Yes—marks of Lord Festone's car and one other."

"Do you know to what set of tires those second marks belong?" Morelos asked.

"I do."

"Very well—now is Tulare Almario, former house boy for Lord Festone, present?"

A gangling Mexican adolescent rose from his chair.

"You may be seated, Tulare. I will call you later. First I am going to read a letter—a letter written by the late Lord Festone to Sharon Lathrop."

He took two sheets of paper from his voluminous brief case and began to read in a monotone—pausing briefly to look over the faces of his listeners:

"'Sharon Darling—

"'Since you will no longer permit me to come to see you, and since you will not come to me—and since when you see me with other people, you refuse to discuss the most important thing in my life, I take this rather obvious means of getting your attention.

"'I've told you in a thousand ways how much I love you. I've been telling you that ever since I first saw you in Paris. You must believe me now.

"'When you first came to Cuernavaca and settled down close to me, I thought that you had, at last, begun to care. Then when you told me about the approaching child I could understand your anger. You know how sorry I was about that, darling—but by that time there was nothing that could be done.

"'I gave you all the time in the world to get over that. And you know, as soon as I could, I did all you wanted me to do for the little fellow. Of course, I never felt much like a father, but I did provide for him exactly as you wished. I've been weak, but you'll have to admit, Sharon, I kept my part of what I thought was a bargain.

"'I've even played about with that common little London showgirl so that I could pay up the settlement you demanded.'"

Morelos looked up. Elaine's eyes were blazing.

"'We have waited so many years, darling—so very many years,'" Morelos continued reading evenly, "'but my feeling toward you has never changed. If God can forgive us for the things we do, why can't you forgive me?

"'If you choose, we can take the little fellow into our home, and I will give him all the love, attention and care a son should have. If you don't want that, we can leave him where he is.

"'Please, darling, please say this time you'll marry me.

"'With all my love,

"'HAROLD.'"

Morelos paused, folded the copy and put it back in his brief case.

"Poor Sharon! Poor Sharon!" Philip said aloud.

Elaine, rising to her feet, stormed: "Poor Sharon! Poor Sharon! That's what you all think! Poor Sharon? Why not poor Elaine? Imagine me wanting to throw myself away on a good-for-nothing like that!"

Lynn looked at the floor and said nothing. She sat down.

"Now, Tulare"—Morelos spoke up—"tell your story."

The boy, enjoying his public appearance, rose promptly, grinned cheerfully and said:

"Well, Lord Festone he was writing this letter about a week before he died when he have to go into the garden to meet a visitor. He leave the letter on his desk unfinished. I am learning English, so I like to try out my eyes on new words. I look at it. That's how I know what letter it is.

"Then the visitor comes in the room alone. I see the visitor read the letter. The visitor is very mad. The visitor leaves without saying good-by."

"I presume that any one could tell by that letter that Lord Festone loved Señora Lathrop. But one who did not know the true story of Maria's child—as we know it now—might misconstrue the words in the letter to mean that Lord Festone was the father of Sharon's child. Tulare, who was his guest? Who read that letter?"

"Lady Lynn," the boy answered promptly.

"And that was one week before Lord Festone died?"

The boy nodded.

"I arrest you, Elaine Lynn," Morelos said in flat tone, "for the murder of Harold, earl of Festone."

The silence of the room was broken only by the gasps and ejaculations of her husband and friends.

"She couldn't have done it," Sir James bellowed.

"Don't worry, darlings," she said huskily. "Mr. Morelos feels that he's got to arrest some one at the end of the second act. I thought he was a pretty good investigator. Now I know I'm wrong. I did not kill Harold—and there is no way in the world he can prove I did."

"Elaine Lynn, come up here," Morelos ordered.

FRUIT CANNING IS MADE EASY BY MARY MEADE

She Has Booklet to Solve Every Problem.

Sliced, pink-cheeked peaches will appear at the table frequently these days, but they'll look good, too, on next winter's menu, if you've had the foresight to can a few jars of this luscious fruit. It's an easy task to perform if you follow the simple directions given in Mary Meade's little booklet, "Homemaker's Guide to Canning." You may obtain this booklet for 5 cents in the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower lobby; or it will be mailed to you for 7 cents in stamps.

If spiced peach jam, preserves or marmalade sound enticing to you, try the recipes included in "Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies." A list of rules for making sugar substitutions are included with the booklet, so a low supply of sugar won't excuse you from preparing these sweets. This booklet is available for 20 cents at the Public Service offices, or 23 cents in stamps by mail.

The following booklets by Mary Meade also are available at The Tribune's Public Service offices, or they'll be mailed to you. Please address mail inquiries to Mary Meade, Tribune Tower.

When Frying Chicken, Put Thick Pieces in Pan First

It's a good idea, when frying chicken, to put the thicker pieces into the frying pan first, leaving space around each piece so that fat can bubble up around it. When these pieces are browned on one side, add smaller pieces of chicken. Cover the pan to keep the fat from spattering. The thickest pieces of a 3 pound chicken will take about 20 to 25 minutes of cooking.

THIS PEACH PIE IS WORTH BAKING EVEN ON HOT DAY

It Gets Honorable Mention.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Nobody cares about doing much baking in the summertime—but it's hard to resist such good things as fresh peach pie, green apple pie, and freshly baked homemade bread. The first cool day that comes along is likely to find the woman who is a good hand at baking busy at the flour bin.

So, in spite of the time of the year, I'm going to pass along these yummy entries to the recipe contest, all of which received favorable mention awards. That peach pie is good enough to try even on a hot day!

Lattice Peach Pie.

[9 inch pie.]

Plain pastry
4 cups sliced peaches
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ cup honey
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon or ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter

Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Combine peaches and lemon juice and add honey. Mix dry ingredients and add to peaches, mixing well. Turn into pie plate and dot with butter. Cover with lattice strips of pastry, and brush top of pie with a little milk or cream. Bake in a hot oven [450 degrees] for 10 minutes; then reduce heat to moderate [350 degrees] and continue baking for 20 to 30 minutes longer.

Mrs. E. Maurer,
562 Hillside avenue, Glen Ellyn, Ill.

New England Cookies.

⅓ cup butter
¼ teaspoon lemon extract
⅓ cup brown sugar
⅓ cup granulated sugar
1 egg yolk
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon baking powder
⅓ teaspoon soda
½ cup nutmeats
½ cup raisins
½ cup strong coffee
1 egg white, stiffly beaten

Cream butter until soft. Add lemon extract and mix well. Add sugars and cream until light and fluffy. Add egg yolk, beating thoroly. Sift dry ingredients together and stir in nutmeats and raisins. Add alternately to creamed mixture with coffee. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white and spread in wax paper-lined pan. Bake in moderately hot oven [375 degrees] for about half an hour. Cool, remove paper, and cut into strips.

Miss Jean Carter,
620 Cornell street, Ottawa, Ill.

Dutch Apple Pie.

[9 inch pie.]

Pastry for single crust
6 apples
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 cup sour milk
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1½ tablespoons sugar

Roll out crust to fit 9-inch pie pan. Line pan and place peeled, cored, and sliced apples in it. Mix flour, sugar, and ground cloves together. Add sour milk and mix thoroly. Pour mixture over apples. Sprinkle cinnamon and the 1½ tablespoons sugar over top of pie. Bake for 10 minutes in hot oven [450 degrees], then reduce heat to moderate [350 degrees], and bake 40 minutes longer.

2013 Parkside drive, Bremerton, Wash.

Sour Cream Bread.

⅓ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup sour cream
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon salt
Brown sugar
Chopped nutmeats

Beat sugar and eggs together. Add sour cream and flour, which has been sifted with soda, nutmeg, and salt. Turn into shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with brown sugar and chopped nutmeats. Bake in moderate oven [350 degrees] for 30 minutes.

FROSTY SALAD ATTRACTIVE TO TASTE AND EYE

Here's a frosty pink salad that looks ever so pretty on salad greens and it tastes just as good as it looks. The tartness of the cranberry sauce blends perfectly with the bland flavor of the cream cheese.

Frozen Cranberry Cheese Salad.

[Serves 5.]

1⅓ 3-ounce packages cream cheese
½ cup canned jellied cranberry sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Beat cheese until smooth. Add cranberry sauce, lemon juice, and salt. Whip until well mixed and smooth. Fold in whipped cream and turn into refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm and serve in slices on salad greens with any desired dressing.

Girl Amateur Bests Rivals in Festival Trials

Three men and a girl last night advanced a step toward prize honors in the 13th annual Chicago Music Festival by winning first place in their voice ranges from 51 competitors in the first west side sectional auditions held in the Graemere hotel, 113 North Homan avenue.

The girl is Miss Eva Coleman, a 1941 graduate of Austin High school, who was making her début in festival competition. Displaying a voice of character, she won first prize in the contralto section. Miss Coleman, who lives at 4904 West Fulton street, is a bookkeeper in the day time and practices her singing at night.

In the lyric tenor division, Duilio Pucci, 28 years old, 1411 South 51st court, Cicero, was adjudged the winner. Pucci, a veteran festival singer, won the west side auditions once in the past, and in 1940 sang as soloist with the Oak Park-River Forest symphony orchestra.

Eva Coleman, contralto.

Duilio Pucci, lyric tenor.

Earl Bichel, 20, of 4436 North Central Park avenue triumphed in the dramatic tenor division with the singing that last year carried him to the runner-up position in the male section of the entire festival.

The baritone prize last night was won by Algerd A. Brozis, 26, of 1413 South 49th avenue, Cicero, a night club performer who in 1938 toured Europe as soloist with the Pirmyn chorus.

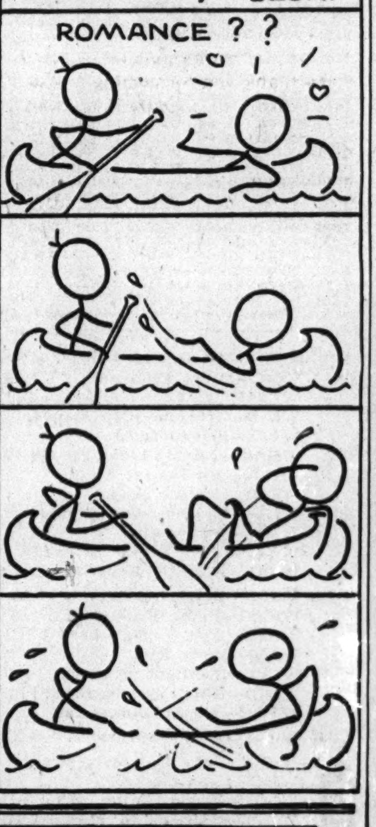
Algerd Brozis, baritone.

Approximately 125 singers will compete tonight in the second section of the west side auditions in the Graemere, with sopranos, mezzos, bass baritones and basses on the program. The admission is 30 cents and the public is invited.

Dear Diary BY BECKY



White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

The Answer Is?

According to The Tribune Public Service department, the battle that rages on the home front each Saturday is this: Is the Mississippi or the Missouri the longer river? Each week the girls at the service desk answer this question—on Saturday—at least eight or nine times. [By the way, do you know which is?]

Dispelling a Misconception.

Not long ago a letter appeared in the Voice of the People saying the reason many firms do not employ the over-forty woman is that the upper age bracket affects the company's insurance.

Being of the opinion that here was something of importance to many of us, I talked with several industrial firms and several insurance companies. All of them disagreed with the writer of the letter.

The effect on the insurance premium would be negligible, they said. First of all, the companies which come under workmen's compensation are concerned primarily with the job and job hazards not with age. The rate is the same for men and women, young and old, they explained.

Companies which have a pension plan handled thru an insurance company [not a vast number of companies do have this plan] would not be seriously affected. Generally speaking they pay a high income tax. Premiums paid for pension plans are deductible from income tax. The amount of saving, by keeping the employment age low, would be small.

"The facts are," said one insurance man, "that the most desirable age bracket for employment is between 20 and 40. After that the absenteeism is substantially greater and the span of efficiency necessarily shorter. But as for making the insurance premium higher, it would require a most drastic change in the age level, and even then it would not be noticeably expensive."

Spelling Guide.

"For those hard-to-remember-how-to-spell words," writes S. W. "it is necessary only to establish them in your mind with something that will point out the spelling immediately, for example: '*e*ffect when you mean r*e*sult; practi*c*e is always 'c' as in a*c*t; you do use 'e' in notic*e*able, as in se*e*able; you don't use the 'e' in salable or you're not capable; principl*e* is always a noun or name, meaning rul*e*, while princip*a*l can be an *a*djective as well as a noun and means m*a*in; chief has the 'i' before the 'e' as in prime, but receive has 'e' before 'i' as in reception."

Early Lesson.

"The most important thing I learned in business," said one top-flight-careerist, "I learned from my first boss—never to sign my name to anything which I had not read and did not intend to fulfill. 'If I sent you to the bank they would give you valuable papers . . . because of your name signed on the dotted line. That's how important a signature is . . . it's you,' was his wise counsel."

Free France's Spirit Reigns at Benefit Fete

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE spirit behind a Free French benefit party for which Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster opened their Lake Forest home yesterday was best expressed in that poignant moment when the host and hostess and the former French consul in Chicago, Rene Weiller, and Mme. Weiller, and a few other guests in the charming living room arose to sing the "Marseillaise" to the accompaniment of an entertainer with an accordion. The stirring strains of Free France's national anthem began softly, but swelled to a heart-warming finish.

Most of the rest of the music during the afternon was popular American, and the gay strains of current hits coupled with the gay red, white, and blue decorations and the costumed vendeuses made guests forget the rain outside.

Four organizations working in the interests of a free France helped to put over the party, which was deemed a huge success in spite of an uncooperative weather man. They were the Free French relief, France Forever, Camarades de Combat, and the Franco-American sorority, and members of each worked hard selling a variety of goods marked with French emblems, and tiny corsages done up by Mrs. Roger Bronson and Mrs. Roy Sturtevant.

Vases of Red, White and Blue Flowers Make a Hit.

The hit of the day in the way of flowers were the dainty little vases filled with red, white, and blue flower arrangements that Mrs. Brewster somehow had found time to do in addition to the many stunning flower arrangements that were scattered thruout the house. The vases looked as if they were of silver, but it was revealed that they were of glass, painted on the inside.

Early comers were able to enjoy the various divertissements offered on the lawn, but by noon Mrs. Norton V. Smith Jr. and the Punch and Judy committee had been rained out of the rose garden and were busy setting up a stage and seats in the playhouse instead.

Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr. and Mrs. Stewart Harvey came out from town early with a station wagon filled with lunch boxes—all of them sold by 1:30, incidentally—and Mrs. Stewart Harvey started to work immediately drawing portraits of various Lake Forest youngsters who had been sent over with their nurses for the purpose of posing.

Brewster Art Collection Is Admired by Visitors.

All who wandered thru Covin Tree, as the Brewster home is known, found time to admire the Brewsters' handsome collection of paintings, drawings, and etchings that cover the walls, including Mrs. Brewster's garden room, which is filled with impressionist paintings, and where Mrs. Brewster had placed equally modern flower arrangements.

A share-your-umbrella attitude on the part of those equipped with them saved many a head from the rain, and dozens of visitors were taxied from the gate around the little lake

Among the Guests at Free France Benefit

One of the most stunning young women at the Free France benefit at Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster's home in Lake Forest yesterday was Miss Franja Hutchins, the subdebutante daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins. Several hundred persons braved the rains to enjoy the delightful party, which turned out to be an indoor one instead of a lawn picnic. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Ducks Unlimited's Annual Benefit Day Shoot Opens Today

To raise funds to restore duck breeding and shooting grounds, Ducks Unlimited is holding its annual benefit shoot today, tomorrow, and Saturday at the Lincoln Park Gun club. A number of prominent feminine shooters will be taking part, among them Mrs. Potter Palmer III., Mrs. J. L. Younghusband, Mrs. William D. Cox, Mrs. William Clark, and Mrs. Walter Stern. Mr. Cox, Dexter Cummings, Stuart Logan, Waldo Logan, and his wife, who is entering her first competitive shoot; Walter Peacock, and Jack Holliday of Michigan City are others who have entered the competition.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY KATE MASSEE

Autographs.

Lily Pons, who writes many an autograph for her admirers, is quite an autograph collector herself. On a recent trip to Hollywood she added three to her collection. Robert Montgomery wrote, "We thank you for coming." Wallace Beery's contribution was "Hello, Lily dear. You promised to show me France." And from Anita Loos, author of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," came this little gem: "To Lily Pons, who makes me a liar."

Convinced.

A man we know who long ago lent his binoculars to the navy for the duration was pretty pleased out at Arlington the other day to hear a woman give a man his comeuppance after an appeal had gone out over the loud speaker for glasses of certain dimensions. The man remarked sourly that the navy would never get his prized binoculars, with which he was watching the races. Whereupon the woman, Mildred Weld, said, "It is a duty, not a favor, for you to turn them in. You should be happy that there are still races to attend, and you can see them well enough with your own two eyes." So the navy got the binoculars. The two makes that meet requirements, by the way, are Carl Zeiss and Bausch & Lomb, size 6x30 or 7x50.

The Washingest Army.

That sailor boy whom we mentioned recently as wanting to meet a girl with a washing machine didn't really mean it, according to William Shaw, who knows his w. m. statistics. He tells us that many army, navy, and marine bases are washer equipped, and that one local factory has just shipped 650 ironers to the navy. Recreation centers also have been supplied, due to the efforts of such organizations as the American Legion, Rotary clubs, chambers of commerce, and mothers' clubs. In fact the situation is so well in hand that Dr. Mark A. McCloskey, director of recreation under Paul V. McNutt, coördinator of health and welfare, recently said, "This is the cleaningest, washingest army in the world. The first thing the soldiers do when they get a chance is wash, wash, wash!"

By the Way.

A foreign correspondent, home on a visit, having luncheon in the Pump room, and eating, with great relish, her idea of nectar and ambrosia—frankfurters, potato salad, and chocolate cake. . . . The dusky beauty and lilting voice of Adrienne, daughter of opera singer Margarete Matzenauer and descendant of Johann Sebastian Bach, charming diners at the Drake's Camellia House with "The Last Time I Saw Paris." . . . The guard at the Chicago Historical society who, deploring the fact that most persons know so little about anything, said that a woman visitor had asked him whether George Washington's shield were bullet proof.

Izler Solomon Closes Chicago Concert Career

BY CECIL SMITH.

Lowering skies failed to keep an audience of moderate size away from Grant park last night, as Izler Solomon conducted his final public concert in Chicago before moving to Columbus, O., on Saturday to become permanent conductor of the symphony orchestra there.

In six years as conductor of the Illinois Symphony orchestra and four as conductor of the Woman's Symphony orchestra, Mr. Solomon has built for himself both a name and a following, and the threat of rain was not enough to frighten his admirers away from his farewell concert.

There was as much sentiment on the stage as in the audience, for Mr. Solomon had gathered together an orchestra composed mainly of players who have worked under his direction. Four of his former concertmasters occupied the first four chairs of the violin section—Helene Goldenberg, Arthur Tabachnick, Fritz Siegal, and Herman Clebanoff.

Mr. Solomon paid tribute to Chicago composition by playing Eric DeLamarter's suite from "The Betrothal" and Irwin Fischer's "Ariadne Abandoned."

At Ravinia Park

BY EDWARD BARRY,

The weather was enough to discourage all but the most rabid concertgoers, and a neighborhood dog with strong feelings on the subject of Stravinsky tried to break up a performance of the suite from "The Fire Bird," but despite all this last night's concert at Ravinia turned out a success.

Artur Rodzinski, making the second of his four 1942 appearances as guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, proved that an all-Russian program can have as much variety and contrast as one drawn from a less circumscribed geographical area. He opened with the delicate, piquant Classical symphony of Prokofieff, followed it with the suite from "The Fire Bird" [one of the most sensational products of Stravinsky's pre-first World war period] and ended with a sumptuous and mellow example of late romantic music—the Tschaikowsky Fifth symphony.

The performance of the Classical Symphony was a relaxed one which allowed the audience to sense the natural fragrance of the music.

The treatment of the Stravinsky, competent tho it was, raised the old question as to the basic value of music such as this and the wisdom of keeping it in the concert repertoire.

The performance of the Tschaikowsky recalled the great one that Hans Lange conducted at a Tuesday afternoon concert in Orchestra hall a season or two ago. It had the same songfulness and richness and the same sense of pressing on toward a glorious goal.

Opera Guild Juniors Will Usher Tonight at Lily Pons Concert

Lily Pons.

A dozen or more pretty young women who are members of the Opera Guild Juniors will act as ushers in the box section of Soldiers' field tonight at a concert to be given by Miss Lily Pons, accompanied by an orchestra conducted by her husband, André Kostelanetz.

Tonight's concert and next Saturday night's performance of "Carmen" are presented by the Chicago Opera company. The Illinois Opera guild is selling the boxes to both events.

If the concert is rained out tonight it will be presented tomorrow night. A boxoffice will be set up at Soldiers' field at noon today to supplement the regular Civic Opera house boxoffice, which will be open from 9:30 a. m. on. Popular prices will prevail.

Market Week Style Preview

New Fashions Are Forecast in Fall Colors

BY REA SEEGER.

The first fall colors foretell new fashions and new combines and contrasts. Some of the most effective shades are old gold, caramel beige, and the stunning blond tones. All are used with eye catching results in the first slim distinctive costumes for street and daytime wear.

Especially effective are the many clever two piece outfits in velveteen featuring these shades. Soft dressmaker type twosomes have individual accents like bows of the material defining the collar, the belt and the chest instead of buttons or frogs made of the material or huge buttons or stitched appliqued bands.

The tawny shades of old gold are most unusual teamed with fur jackets or fur scarfs or worn without benefit of furs with dark costume accessories of bag, hat, and gloves. Next come the fascinating shades of blond [varying tones of beige, caramel honey, and café au lait tints]. Velveteen and corduroy achieve a luxurious texture in these shades, swanky enough for your smartest party. Slim, streamlined dresses, or the duets of sheath dresses, plus the companion jacket, also are definitely on the dress parade side of fashions . . . clothes that can be worn for street, for afternoon and for informal occasions late into the evening.

Running along in popularity with the blond and gold tones are the superflattering shades of wine, mahogany, rust, henna, and burgundy, all reds that are flattering to gray or white coiffures, as well as foils for brunette, blonde, and copper top.

Color for Co-eds

A preview yesterday of apparel and accessories, which will be displayed next week at the Hotel Morrison as part of Chicago Fall Market week, indicated women's fashions will sacrifice no charm for practicality. The styles are creations of more than 250 of the nation's foremost manufacturers, who have fashioned clothes to suit every type of taste and to conform with wartime restrictions.

Co-eds will return this fall to school in morale boosting suits of gay colors. One pert tailored suit was modeled in plaid on a red Shetland wool background. The fitted jacket measured one inch shorter than 1941 styles, and the plaited skirt is narrower, tho it loses no affect of fullness.

A three piece hound's-tooth checked suit of brown and white was listed as practical for work, recreation, and dress. The hip-length jacket matched skirt and slacks. An olive green wool tailored coat showed the influence of World War I. styles, with its simulated all-around belt and deep patch pockets.

The Style Exhibitors, Inc., in cooperation with the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Interstate Merchants' council, is sponsoring the show, which will open Sunday and run thru Friday at the hotel.

Evening Gowns Face Style Test at Fashion Show

Fashion leaders and designers from all parts of the country will be given an opportunity to judge the merits of the short, wartime evening frock and those of the more alluring floor length model next Friday when the curtain rises on the finale of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S American Fashions contest in W-G-N's spacious studio theater.

The controversy, which has practically turned into a tug of war between the exponents of the two modes, has created indecision among retail merchants and is delaying fall buying, Mrs. India Moffett, women's editor of THE TRIBUNE, who is assisting in planning the style shows for the competition, said yesterday.

"We expect our American Fashions style shows to help settle the question," she said. "Altho evening clothes will not be worn as extensively this season because of the war, every woman who buys an evening gown will put more time and thought to its selection. Women will wear evening clothes for the opera and for very important occasions undoubtedly. Then, too, women who are doing war work and spending their days in uniforms will want to look their most feminine when they dress for a gala evening with service men."

In casting their vote for the three grand prize winners among the designers of the 30 costumes, the fashion experts are likely to indicate their choice in the controversy. The public also will vote on the three top winners at the climax of the competition Friday evening. Announcement of the awards, $3,000, $2,000, and $1,000, respectively, will be broadcast over W-G-N from 9:30 to 10 p. m. during the show. The winning frocks will be featured at the third style show open to the public Saturday afternoon.

The highlighting performance of the competition Friday evening and the Saturday afternoon show will be held for the benefit of the United Service Organizations, to which all net proceeds will be given. The tickets to the evening show will be $2.50 and those for the afternoon $1. All reservations must be made by mail, accompanied by the purchase price. They should be addressed to The Chicago Tribune Fashion Show Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

to the house by Mrs. Laird Bell and Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes Jr., who claimed they ran a ferry service.

The party that Mrs. Clive Runnells and Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson are giving at the Shoreacres club tomorrow night for Miss Olive Robbins and Miss Blissy King is to be a small dinner, and as there will be no music for dancing at the club the hostesses have asked their two dozen guests to come in informal clothes. Among the guests will be a visitor from New York, Miss Elise Linn. Her uncle and aunt, the Howard Linns, are giving a small tea for her tomorrow afternoon, and tomorrow night they are having a small dinner, also at the Shoreacres, for Miss Linn's father, W. Scott Linn, and his wife, and for Lieut. Comm. and Mrs. Lester Armour.

Sarah Elizabeth Dunn's Marriage Is Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunn of Evanston announce the marriage of their daughter, Sarah Elizabeth, to Lieut. Melvin Linthicum Hawley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin M. Hawley of Kenilworth. The former Miss Dunn and one of the bridegroom's sisters, Mrs. Whitman Ridgeway [Priscilla Hawley] of Schenectady, N. Y., traveled out to Fort Lewis, Wash., last Saturday, and the wedding took place there on Tuesday in the post chapel. The bride was graduated in June from Smith college. Lieut. Hawley attended St. John's Military academy and left Yale university in the middle of his senior year last January to enter the army. He has three sisters, Mrs. Ridgeway, Mrs. T. Gerald McGraw of Falls Church, Va. [Brenna Hawley], and Lois Hawley.

Capt. and Mrs. Dwight P. Green Jr. [Barbara Munn] are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter yesterday in the University hospital in Enid, Okla. The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Green Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Munn. The baby will be named Mary Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. James Albert Lytle of Highland Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Lieut. George M. Murray of the army air corps. Miss Lytle attended Skidmore college and received her degree last month from Northwestern university. Lieut. Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray of Glencoe, was graduated from Washington and Lee university and is serving as a flying instructor at a western field. The wedding is planned for the fall.

Jean Elisabeth Hickok to Be Bride on Aug. 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hickok of Evanston announce the engagement and approaching marriage on Aug. 8 of their daughter, Jean Elisabeth, to Lieut. William R. Otter of the army air corps, son of William Otter of Glencoe. The ceremony will take place at 8 o'clock in the evening in the Hickok home, with a reception following at the Georgian hotel.

Miss Hickok is a graduate of the Evanston High school and attended the Science Hill school in Shelbyville, Ky. Lieut. Otter attended the University of Illinois. One of his sisters, Miss Margaret, will be bridesmaid, and their brother, Richard Otter, will be best man. Miss Alice Ross is to be maid of honor, with Margaret Kimball as flower girl. Lieut. Otter and his bride will be at home near his middle west post.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

When a defender finds himself in the fortunate position of holding the high trump, he should, in 99 out of 100 cases, get rid of it as tho it were a sizzling potato. From the way many defenders hold on to said high trump, one might be led to believe that they hoped it would grow into two tricks. Actually, however, a large proportion of throw-in plays becomes possible only because of that remarkable hope. Witness today's hand:

North, dealer.

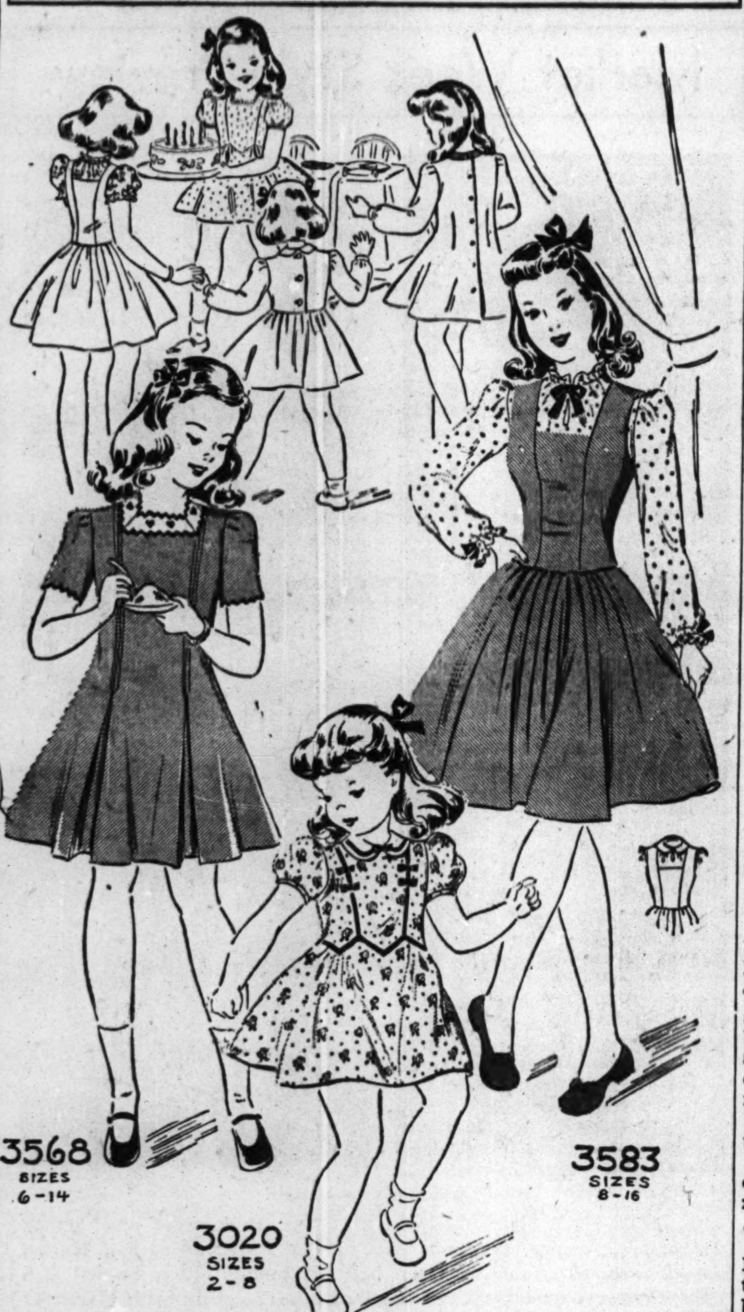
The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Double [final bid]

West, looking for a good lead, could find nothing more satisfactory than the doubleton diamond. Dummy played low, East did likewise, and declarer's blank ace won. With no clearly defined plan in mind, but merely with the general idea of getting the opponents to lead, declarer cashed the heart ace and exited with a heart. West ducked, East won with the nine and cashed the king, then shifted to his top club. Declarer put up the jack, West covered, and dummy's ace won. The singleton spade was returned and, since dummy now was out of entries, East properly split his honors. Declarer captured the jack with the king, cashed the ace, cashed the queen of clubs, and then led the spade ten. East won with the queen and, at this point, of course, had the good nine spot. What purpose he thought he could fill by holding on to it is more than I can say, but hold on to it he did. He laid down the diamond king. This, of course, was very soothing to the declarer, who ruffed and promptly threw East back on lead with the nine of spades. East then was under the unpleasant necessity of returning a diamond from the J-8 up to dummy's Q-10, thereby permitting declarer to discard his club loser.

Perhaps East was pleased at having defeated the contract 200 points, but his partner, thinking of the other 300 points that had been thrown away, was not inclined to be complimentary.

Fashions for Children



CHILDREN'S FROCKS.

That subdeb in your family comes in for her full share of fashion consideration in today's pattern offerings. These three frocks will please daughters of many juvenile ages. They're dresses she'll like for parties as well as for more practical wear.

Style No. 3568 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14. Size 8 requires 2 yards of 35 inch material with ¼ yard contrasting and 2¼ yards of braid. Applique included in pattern.

Style No. 3020 is designed for sizes 2, 4, 6, and 8. Size 4 requires 1⅝ yards of 35 inch material with ¼ yard contrasting and 3 yards of binding.

Style No. 3583 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, and 16. Size 12 requires 2 yards of 35 inch material for jumper and 1¾ yards for long sleeved blouse.

Each pattern costs 10 cents, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents for mailing costs (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT: Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The summer pattern book costs 15 cents—10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Good Morning!

How about being a child again—just for today?

It's been a long time since we've seen a Tarzan picture—which is all right. Too much of him is—too much. . . . But it's a relief occasionally to escape from the jungles of reality into those of never-neverness, and I, for one, gladly welcome back to the screen that noble untamed giant from the lands "far beyond civilization's outposts." [Mama, where is civilization?] Also Mrs. Tarzan, gently bred city girl who succumbed to the spell of the Great Unrestrained, and Boy, a little feller adopted by the Tarzans after his parents had met death in their fastnesses.

Three men had come to the uncharted forests inhabited by the Tarzans and their adoring animal friends . . . via airplane.

They are Jimmie Shields, a pilot; Manchester Mountford, an animal trainer, and Buck Rand, a bringer-back-aliver. . . . The last is there to collect some tigers for a circus. . . . They return with Boy. . . . Buck has seen him boss some elephants around and realizes he'll be a greater asset to the circus than any lion. . . . A native uprising creates the confusion which enables the strangers to make off with the lad. . . .

The Tarzans hotfoot it to New York after him—and it is with Pop Tarzan's adventures among skyscrapers, shyster lawyers, and varied folks who in no way speak his language that the action is concerned. . . .

I recommend the piece for that "down" feeling; that old, tired, what-the-blank's-the-use! feeling. You see, there ain't no such animal as Hitler in the world where Tarzan reigns.

See you tomorrow.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. Ann Mann, 6430 North Francisco avenue.]

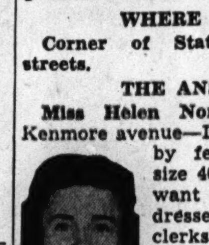
THE QUESTION.

What is the funniest experience you have witnessed at a crowded bargain counter?

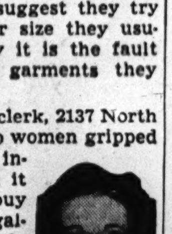
WHERE ASKED.

Corner of State and Madison streets.

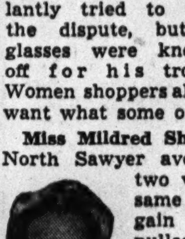
THE ANSWERS.



Miss Helen Norvell, clerk, 5441 Kenmore avenue—I'm always amused by feminine shoppers, size 40, who insist they want to try size 14 dresses. When the clerks suggest they try a larger size they usually say it is the fault of the garments they wear.



Mrs. Violet Linley, clerk, 2137 North Leclaire avenue—Two women gripped the same dress, each insisting she had seen it first and wanted to buy it. The floorman gallantly tried to settle the dispute, but his glasses were knocked off for his trouble. Women shoppers always want what some one else has.



Miss Mildred Shore, shopper, 4849 North Sawyer avenue—I once saw two women snatch the same blouse at a bargain counter. Both pulled on the blouse, which tore in two pieces. It was an even decision, but the women were certainly embarrassed.

Miss Viola Bawker, elevator operator, 2817 East 76th place—Nylon stockings cause many counterside battles these days. I have yet to see a woman who didn't want to buy what the clerk just had folded and put away. Then, too, they all want the same shade, the name of which they never know.

Miss Elaine Shore, shopper, 4849 North Sawyer avenue—The funniest sights at bargain counters are men buying perfume. They look around uncomfortably and then ask to see everything. They ask the prices and then they buy the perfume with the prettiest bottle and the fanciest name.

Thru the Looking Glass

We have a new family of fragrance products that deserves your attention if you like a fine, flowery perfume, containers with dainty charm, and moderate price tags.

Most important are three different mediums of the unusual fragrance—a toilet water, a cologne, and a triple extract, each container a hand painted copy of an antique apothecary jar.

The three mediums present interesting modulations of the perfume that gives the charming family its basic theme. The cologne, for example, has all the character of the floral, plus a faintly spicy tang. The toilet water is the same scent, but in a frothier, lighter key. The extract, several times stronger than the toilet water, has seductive overtones that will make it your inevitable choice when you dress your best for a date with a man who really matters.

The scent is a bouquet of spring and summer floral fragrances, with identifiable notes of the lilac and the rose. The bottles are in character with this artful blend.

Companion items are talcum, in a hand painted apothecary jar; bath essence, luxuriously concentrated, and some fascinating pot pourri sachets. These last are made of flower petals imbedded in a waxy substance, pressed in the shape of the ancient jar with a satin loop for hanging. When the fragrance fades the outer waxy layer is scraped off and fresh waves of fragrance are released! It's a neat trick.

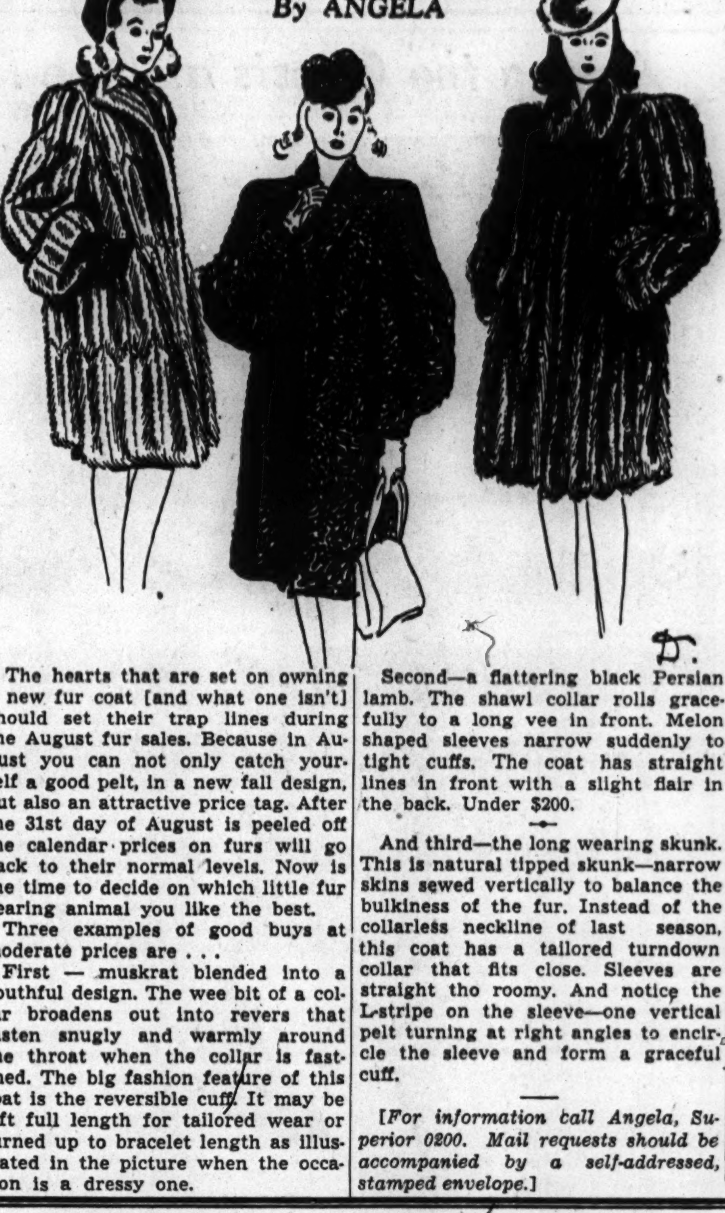
FASHIONS

By ANGELA



The hearts that are set on owning a new fur coat [and what one isn't] should set their trap lines during the August fur sales. Because in August you can not only catch yourself a good pelt, in a new fall design, but also an attractive price tag. After the 31st day of August is peeled off the calendar prices on furs will go back to their normal levels. Now is the time to decide on which little fur bearing animal you like the best.

First — muskrat blended into a youthful design. The wee bit of a collar broadens out into revers that fasten snugly and warmly around the throat when the collar is fastened. The big fashion feature of this coat is the reversible cuff. It may be left full length for tailored wear or turned up to bracelet length as illustrated in the picture when the occasion is a dressy one.

Second—a flattering black Persian lamb. The shawl collar rolls gracefully to a long vee in front. Melon shaped sleeves narrow suddenly to tight cuffs. The coat has straight lines in front with a slight flair in the back. Under $200.

And third—the long wearing skunk. This is natural tipped skunk—narrow skins sewed vertically to balance the bulkiness of the fur. Instead of the collarless neckline of last season, this coat has a tailored turndown collar that fits close. Sleeves are straight tho roomy. And notice the L-stripe on the sleeve—one vertical pelt turning at right angles to encircle the sleeve and form a graceful cuff.

Tavern Club Party.

The Tavern club will give another roof garden party tonight in its regular Friday series. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock, and there will be a regular dinner service.

Looking at Hollywood . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., July 30.—"Yours with Love" was just a whiff of a story thought up by Frank Tuttle and Val Burton, but when the two of them got their noses into it, it developed into a grand idea for Helen Hayes. And Frank, being a great friend of Helen's, took it back east, read it to her, and she liked it. Now they're writing it as a screen play, and if she likes that as well as the original, they may persuade her to come out here and make another picture, which would be good news for all of us.

Bob Hope and Bing Crosby, at their own expense, flew to Salt Lake for a benefit golf match. Bob's luck was phenomenal. He made a birdie on the first three holes, and when he came back on the set of "They Got Me Covered" said, "It wouldn't surprise me if Bing gave up golf forever. As an actor—yes; as a singer—yes; as a golfer—I've got him covered with confusion!" O. K., Hope, but luck like that can't last.

You can expect the Jack Oakies to be making headlines again, 'cause Jack's at it again. . . . I wonder why Paulette Goddard is so depressed these days. Not even her work seems to matter to her any more.

Always Something Cooking.

Orson Welles is all hopped up over producing "Land of the Free," which is hot off the typewriters of Sidney Harmon and Budd Schulberg, and chances are that he'll begin lining it up as soon as he arrives from Brazil. Oddly enough, Orson and Harmon both competed for title "boy wonder of Broadway." When Orson did his "Man from Mars" broadcast Harmon had two stage hits on Broadway—"Men in White" and "The Milky Way." So if those two get together in Hollywood they ought to make things hum. Budd Schulberg has been humming ever since he wrote his novel, "What Makes Sammy Run." If an outsider had written it, he'd have been strung up long ago! . . . Carmen D'Antonio is testing at Warners. She was the native dancer in "Panama Hattie" on Broadway. . . . I don't blame Estelle Taylor, who's back in town looking like a million, for turning down the part of a Nazi spy. Estelle's a darned good actress and deserves much better than that. . . . Remember Beverly Bayne? She's been playing the mother in "Claudia" in St. Louis, and is building up more fans. It would be pretty swell if David Selznick gave her the rôle in the picture.

Sounds Good.

Mary Astor's under contract to Metro, and has been given "Feast of Reason," written by Dorothy Walworth, the story of a beautiful woman who suffers a deformity in the foot from an accident as a young girl. She becomes dean of a New England school, which, she learns, is used as a front for a racket; and it's her fight to clean it out and her love for the head man which make her forget her own deformity. They want Walter Pidgeon to play opposite her, but may settle for Philip Dorn. . . . Speaking of Pidgeon, just as he was about to spend a week-end in Chicago, he got an SOS that he was wanted for retakes with Hedy Lamarr. On arrival here he found he wouldn't have to work for two days. That's the reason "Mr. Miniver's" nose is out of joint—and I, for one, don't blame him.

Thanks, Boys.

A letter from Pvt. Bill Jacobson, Tucson, Ariz., says that Ronald Reagan and Burgess Meredith are up there making a picture. "They've been grand to the boys," Bill writes, "and I've heard many comments from the small town boys to the effect that these weren't at all the type of Hollywoodians they expected. Buzz stood in line, sweating like all of us, for a milkshake." Bill adds: "You're officially informed that you've been elected unanimously as the columnist of the 60th bomb squadron." Well, boys, nothing has ever flattered me more. And that picture you wanted is in the mail.

That's Hollywood.

Warners spent plenty do-re-mi trying to develop Gloria Warren as a classical singer, so now she's wiggling boogie-woogie in "Scattergood Swings It." . . . When Gregory Ratoff was rehearsing an acrobatic dance for "Something to Shout About," one of the dancers fell, which slowed up the thing no end. And Gregory, instead of tearing his hair as many would do, said, "That's all right, honey, it's just a mistake. That's how I became a director!" . . . Marie McDonald, who's opposite Alan Ladd in "Prelude to Glory," will do all right. Usually actresses object to being photographed in shortie shorts, but not with a chassis like Marie's. She came back from a sitting for a national magazine and said, "Imagine! They put a skirt on me which reached below the knees. How can you look like class in a thing like that?"

Very Warm for June.

June Havoc, who rides to work on a motor scooter, is certainly popular at Paramount. When dressed in a couple of ostrich feathers, for a number which is a take-off on the Rockettes [who are done up like red, white, and blue ostriches], June was asked whether she didn't want a smock to cover herself with as she walked to the set. She looked at herself in the mirror, then at Edith Head, who'd asked the question, and said, "Why, darling, this is much more than I usually wear." Edith escorted her over, and when she got back to her office she had 15 calls from men behind the windows they'd passed, saying, "Who was the beauty you convoyed?" . . . Eddie Stevenson, RKO's ex-designer, is in Manhattan Beach taking a course in modeling plastic, prior to his being drafted. . . . You wouldn't think that Charles Laughton, by the rôles he plays, would go for the birds and the bees and the pretty trees—in other words, for horticulture. But in his off moments, he's a-workin' in his garden with the fervent prayer that next year it will be included in the garden clubs of America. No one is fussier about the flowers going into it. He's partial to green, doesn't grouse too much if a little yellow filters thru. While he loves the exotic shape of orchids, he can't stand that lavender tinge—got fed up with it while eating a side of beef for "Henry VIII.," so he says.

Rest, Quiet and Coolness Help the Baby

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Measures for you to observe in keeping your baby son or daughter happy and well in the hot weather:

1. Feed your baby properly.
2. Keep him and everything concerning him clean.
3. Keep him as cool as care and thought can make him.
4. Keep him rested and quiet.

Having covered the first two measures on preceding days, let us look into the third and fourth.

How can we keep our baby cool? Well, if we would apply some of the common sense means we use to keep ourselves cool we'd get results.

To keep ourselves cool we dress as lightly as possible, we don't overexert, we bathe frequently, and we choose the coolest spots we can for work or rest when feasible.

So the baby should wear as few clothes as possible, being protected from direct draughts, of course. Outdoors for a young baby a slip is enough besides his diaper, little shirt and band [if he wears one]. In the house the slip and even the shirt may be dispensed with.

Bathing is the next aid to the reduction of high body temperature and to equalizing the circulation. This doesn't mean frequent tubbings, but, instead, sponge baths.

Choose the coolest spots, indoors and out, for your baby's carriage. In the city, parks and squares provide purer air and coolness.

Be very wary in giving sunbaths. Never at noon. But that subject will be taken up another day.

Other details worth attention are a soft but firm mattress, a well ventilated room, and a screen for drafts.

Wagon Wheel Medallion

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is a wagon wheel medallion which is designed to break all speed records in crochet time. One little medallion may be created in about 10 minutes by the average crochet worker, and the expert can name her own time. It is simple, attractive, and thoroly original in design. Ivory, mercerized, crochet cotton is the medium suggested for luncheon doilies.

For instructions in crocheting the wagon wheel medallion, No. 961, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Sally's Guests Thrill to Story of West Point

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

The little band of men crept silently toward the Indian encampment. The forest was quiet in the early dawn and only the sound of the crickets could be heard.

At the Chicago theater, where 100 boys and girls were seeing this scene from the adventures of "Ten Gentlemen from West Point" yesterday morning, every child was breathlessly watching the screen. Not one of them moved until the United States soldiers frightened and demoralized the Indians. Then they squealed and laughed and applauded loudly. My party guests loved every minute of the entire program, and when Gen. Douglas MacArthur's picture was flashed on the screen among those of other famous generals who are West Point graduates, they simply couldn't stay in their seats. Every single child jumped up and just yelled!

We also saw a gay and tuneful stage show, featuring Horace Heidt and his band. Music, dancing, singing, and a lot of good laughs made the time pass very quickly, and the show came to a brisk conclusion, with all the youngsters standing up and singing "God Bless America" at the top of their lungs.

Evangelical Home Ladies Will Hold Meeting Today

The ladies' auxiliary of the Evangelical Home for Children and the Aged will gather today at Immanuel Evangelical church, Michigan avenue and 70th street, for its annnual business meeting, a luncheon, and program. Mrs. Edward C. Hammann will preside. The home is in Bensenville.

Women in War Work . . . . By India Moffett

Miss Helen Bower.

This nation's war effort appears to have converted the country's adult population into one gigantic graduation class. Civilians and men and women in service alike are enrolled and working toward graduation courses designed to make them proficient in everything from giving first aid at home to keeping production lines moving and to actual combat.

Part and parcel of this new order is today's graduation for more than 100 women who have completed the intensive 10 week course offered by the University of Chicago school of business in coöperation with the United States office of education. This is the second such course given at the school, and the graduates are double the number completing the first course. There were 108 who registered, but a few have dropped out because of illness.

Several women will receive their certificates in absentia because jobs couldn't wait completion of the training. Among them is Ethel Cornell, 4035 Sheridan road. She is now organizing the system of communications in the stenographic department of the Green River ordnance plant at Dixon.

Another is Mrs. Kathleen Hamilton, who gave up doing secretarial work at the university to enroll for training. Now she is employed at the Acme Steel company scheduling and routing work thru the plant. Miss Janis Wolfson, 7725 North Marshfield avenue, is an interviewer at the signal corps personnel office, 209 West Jackson boulevard.

Miss Helen Bower of Wilmette is doing statistical work in the Chicago office of the United States health department. And Miss Ruth Dunn, 5748 Blackstone avenue, is employed with the Charles Main company in Tennessee, now engaged in constructing a large ordnance plant. Miss Ann Brewington, professor of business education, said that other class members have had offers of positions but preferred to finish the course at school.

Three Chicagoans, Mrs. John P. Cohane, Mrs. Paul Chittenden, and Mrs. Gilbert Jones, will be at the Battle Creek, Mich., training station tomorrow for ceremonies dedicating the United States coast guard's first permanent training station in the middle west. The three will not be merely spectators. They will be there as representatives of Bundles for America, and they'll present 1,000 comfort kits to the station for recruits. Miniature copies of the navy ditty bags, these kits contain a few items the navy doesn't supply—shoe polish, tooth paste, shaving cream, notebook, nail file, styptic pencil, soap, razor blades, cards, writing paper, and a puzzle.

Mrs. Cohane is regional director of Bundles for America; Mrs. Chittenden is kit chairman, and Mrs. Jones is a member of the office staff at 337 North Michigan avenue.

Of the women who are completing their course by receiving certificates at 9 o'clock this morning at the School of Business, 32 per cent are college graduates and 9 per cent have done graduate work. Other statistics include the facts that 63 per cent have had one to seven years of business experience and 22 per cent have had 8 to 15 years.

The course included four major units of work—problems of office organization and supervision and procurement, cost accounting and budgetary procurement, industrial relations, and organization for production. Under these headings, women learned about such subjects as time and motion study, labor laws and employment regulations, and problems of personnel management. Women in the course have gone to class five days a week from 9 o'clock until 5 o'clock and on Saturdays from 9:30 until 11:30. A third class will be organized, but the beginning time will be set in Washington, D. C. However, interested women may write to the university business school now for application blanks.

Mothers of Flying Officers is the name of another of the groups which have organized since the country entered the war. Mrs. Adeline Young, 1614 North Central avenue, decided last winter that she would like to meet the other mothers of boys in her son's class at Foster field, Victoria, Tex. She wrote to all of the Illinois mothers whose names she had, and the result was a luncheon here in Chicago on Feb. 23. The women enjoyed themselves so much, they planned to meet on the last Monday of every month. Finally they organized, and now they are to apply for a state charter. They are inviting all mothers of flying officers to be members.

Mrs. Young's son, Lieut. Martin W. Young, was graduated April 23, and he is the first of his class to be made a first pilot of a four motored bomber. A graduate of Proviso High school, he studied two years at Armour institute.

The next meeting of the mothers' group will be on Aug. 31 in the Old Town room of the Hotel Sherman.

Illinois kitchens are yielding waste fats literally by the ton. The third week of the campaign shows that fat collections have risen to 22,000 pounds. This is a gain of 6,000 pounds over the first week of the campaign and 4,000 pounds over the second. Robert Tieken, chairman of the salvage committee of the Illinois state council for defense, says that these amounts were collected in communities representing just one-eighth of the state's population. The campaign goal is 50,000 pounds a week.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and answers questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

HEAD START WINS $5,000 HYDE PARK; LITTLETOWN 6TH

DIXIANA FILLY BEATS OFF BID BY RINGMENOW

Alquest Finishes in Third Place.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Head Start, Dixiana farm's speedy filly, beat a formidable band of seven colts in the $5,000 Hyde Park stakes at Arlington Park yesterday. After disposing of the early challenge of Burnt Cork, she took command on the turn, opened up an ample advantage in the stretch, and withstood Ringmenow's late bid to win by a length and a half. Alquest was third, a length farther back.

Meanwhile the even money favorite, Littletown, was finishing sixth after never being a factor in the race. This colt, which holds two stake victories over Occupation, had been conceded an excellent chance of figuring prominently in the battle for the No. 1 national rating in the juvenile division. His performance yesterday, however, indicated that he can't run in sloppy going, which will count heavily against him as the struggle for supremacy develops.

Has No Excuses.

Littletown had no excuses. He was handled by one of the country's top riders, George Woolf, but he just slouched along sluggishly as tho he had no interest in running under the conditions which prevailed.

Head Start made her debut during the current meeting and raced successfully in a series of allowance events before undertaking yesterday's stake engagement. Her record now is four victories and one third place in six starts.

She and her stablemate, Amber Light, were second choice at 9 to 5 in the betting. Her mutuel prices were $5.80, $3, and $2.60 across the board. She ran the six furlongs in 1:12 2-5.

Burnt Cork Forges Ahead.

Immediately after the break Burnt Cork forged ahead with Head Start right beside him. Alacyon, Littletown, and Ringmenow were bunched in the second flight, about two lengths off the leaders as they went into the far turn.

On the curve Willie Garner sent Head Start past Burnt Cork. The Dixiana filly was clear, a length and a half in the lead, as they approached the stretch. Meanwhile Littletown was refusing to respond to urging and was slogging along in the center of the pack. From the head of the stretch to the finish, Head Start came right along on a line, the only incident of the drive being Ringmenow's late bid. But he was unable to threaten the leader.

Shut Eye Wins Epinard Purse.

Mrs. Thelma Ott's Shut Eye won the Epinard purse, secondary feature of the afternoon, under a strong ride by Frankie Grill. In this six furlong dash, Shut Eye was badly outrun during the earlier stages, being second last in a field of six as they went into the turn. Meanwhile Equistar was setting the pace with Kesargo and All Lizzie close up.

Approaching the stretch Grill sent Shut Eye past Polymelior and Kesargo with a burst of speed. Going into the stretch he drove him between horses and got thru to the inside of the two leaders, Equistar and All Lizzie. By midstretch Shut Eye had these two beaten and went on to finish two lengths in front of All Lizzie, Equistar saving third money.

Shut Eye, the favorite in the betting, ran the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5 thru sloppy going. He paid $5.40, $4, and $3.20.

80 to 1 Shot Just Misses.

Orphan Toy, an 80 to 1 shot upon which a $1,114.20 daily double was riding, missed by the margin of a nose in the second race. Closing swiftly, he failed by a fraction of a stride to catch Sidetrack, a 22 to 1 shot, which was staggering thru the

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 30.—The Cubs looked as tho they were prepared to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a real challenge here this evening until many horrible things, mostly base hits growing into runs, transpired in the home fifth inning. The Cubs were leading, 2 to 0, before the Dodgers had made their second hit and were feeling grand as a result of a homer by Lou Novikoff in the fifth.

Then came the avalanche. Six hits in six times at bat against Vern Olsen and another off Lon Warneke came in the home fifth, and it was of little additional consequence that the Dodgers added three runs in the sixth and eighth innings to effect a final tally of 9 to 2.

Can't Hit 'Em with Men On.

It was the Dodgers' 70th victory in 99 games, the first time in 30 years that a National league pace setter has had such a ratio before reaching the century mark. It also was the champs' 13th victory over the Cubs in 16 tries, and, if we must keep on being morbid, it was the Cubs' sixth loss in their last seven games and their seventh loss in the 10 games on their present harrowing journey.

Of course, it was something to see Lou Novikoff make a homer, even tho it was a typical Cub solo homer. Don't take our word for it, but we're telling you it was the ninth homer in eight games and not one of 'em has been swatted with a man on base.

It was Olsen's second defeat in three days. His six game winning streak, you know, was ended day before yesterday, when the Giants knocked him out on hits by the first five batsmen. He looked great tonight—until the Dodgers really opened up in the fifth. Then he looked just like he did in the Polo grounds, except the lighting was different.

Olsen Drives In One.

With one out in the fourth, Clyde McCullough singled past Camilli, went to second on Bob Sturgeon's out, and scored on Olsen's single to right. Stan Hack bounced to Camilli.

At the start of the home fourth, the Dodgers hadn't made a hit off Olsen. After Stringer had made neat plays to retire Herman and Pete Reiser in this Brooklyn fourth, Medwick dropped a single over second and Camilli walked, but the inning ended when Johnny Rizzo struck out for the second time.

And here is the grim record of that horrible Brooklyn fifth; there's no

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

JIMMY WILSON scoffs at players who claim the major league ball has been deprived of some of its resiliency. . . . "I can see no difference in the ball," says Jim. . . . "The real trouble in both leagues is the lack of hitters who swing as Babe Ruth did and as Jimmy Foxx did before he lost the knack. . . . I'm a great believer in the Lefty O'Doul system of swinging from the bench. He has his men waving their bats from the time they leave the dugout and when they get up there they're in the mood." . . . Mike Getto's first move after signing as coach of the football Dodgers was to pick up Don Pierce who played in his Kansas line two years ago. . . . Pierce, who was deferred in the draft because of asthma, has been writing sports for the Kansas City Star since leaving school. . . . Lee Handley, who starred at third base for the Pirates until an automobile accident forced him out of the majors, is working the soreness from his injured right shoulder by playing the outfield for Toronto. . . . Johnny Pingel, the former Michigan State back who played in the 1939 All-Star game, has a system of his own for backgrounding his football broadcasts from Lansing. . . . He is thoroly familiar with Coach Charley Bachman's style of play, of course, and borrows Charley's scouting reports for the lowdown on the opposition. . . . The Dade Park race track, which will open its 1942 meeting on Aug. 8, has stable reservations for 660 horses, capacity, and has a record waiting list of 400. . . . American association fans are asking that Manager Frankie Frisch use discretion in handling Huck Geary, the Pirates' new shortstop from the Millers. . . . They say Huck is a sensitive chap and will go to pieces if Frank tries his mailed fist tactics. . . . During the recent series with the White Sox Joe DiMaggio boosted his batting average to .300. . . . He has been struggling to reach that figure all season.

Nebraska's football stock rose several points with the announcement of the expected return of Bob McNutt, 225 pound tackle, who has been engaged in defense work on the Island of St. Lucia in the West Indies. . . . Mike Kelley, the Minneapolis club owner, is determined there shall be no radio broadcasts from his park next summer, if he can help it. . . . Claims it hurts the gate. . . . Three steeplechase stakes will be renewed at the Belmont park meeting opening Aug. 15. . . . They are the Grand National with a $15,000 purse; the Brooke at $5,000, and the Broad Hollow at $3,000. . . . Mildred [Muscles] Burke, 130 pound wrestler, claims to be undefeated in 600 matches in the last eight years. . . . Ernie Bonham, the Yankee mound ace, is one of the fastest workers in the majors. . . . Rarely does one of Ernie's games run over two hours. . . . Add unimportant items: The Cubs and White Sox both were 24½ games behind the leaders in their respective leagues after the Cubs' defeat in Brooklyn last night. And now what of that city series?

Overture.

The twittering birds in the treetops,
Come the breaking of the day,
Are to me an orchestra tuning up
Just before a play;
The tentative scales on the violins,
The clarinets' reedy trill,
Are amplified a hundred-fold
Each morning on Kelly's hill.
Then the sun steals up o'er the river's edge
Like the spotlight in a play,
And the little people come hurrying forth,
Eager and zestful and gay;
And they take their places to be right there
When the curtain is taken away
On by far the most wonderful drama of all—
Another brand new day!

—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

Happiness.

Beneath the plume-like clouds that drift on high
Tall trees soar upward, patient as all time.
Of softest blue, pale hyacinth, the sky
Looms far beyond, celestial and sublime;
And in another hour I know the stars,
Like scattered gems will glow with sparkling fire—
While Luna streaks the heavens with silv'ry bars
Whose shafts of light reach higher, ever higher.
Dear, nights like this are made for you and me
When all the witchery that love commands
Ensnares bright rapture, sweet as it can be,
And held beside my heart within your hands.

There lies my fate, caught in your tender clasp—
I pluck the stars you bring within my grasp.

BOB ROSECRANCE WINS JUNIOR OPEN FOR THIRD TIME

George Jemsek Beaten in Final, 1 Up.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Robert Rosecrance of the Rockford Rosecrances yesterday brought off one of the few triples in Chicago District Golf association records by winning the CDGA Junior Open championship for the third consecutive year with a 1 up victory over George Jemsek of St. Andrews in the 18 hole final match at the Edgewood Valley Country club.

The title match might well have been a preview to the sort of man-to-man battling you will find in the National Intercollegiate, for both of these 19 year olds are eligibles for the next gathering of the undergraduate swingers. Bob hopes to be a regular on the Stanford team, while George, a younger brother of the St. Andrews pro, Joe Jemsek, won his freshman golf numerals at Illinois last season and also took the intramural championship.

Another Rockford Golfer.

The Rosecrance victory demonstrated that Bob not only is real Stanford timber, but also a true Rockford golfer, another in the long line of players that includes Johnny Holmstrom, Alex Welsh, the Brothers Wolfley and Harry Forbes. The last named, a tall 17 year old blond who won the qualifying medal, appeared headed for an all-Rockford final with Rosecrance until the 510 yard 16th hole of yesterday morning's semi-final bout with Jemsek. Harry brought down a birdie there, but George, who had been 1 up at the turn and then had taken the 15th with a par 3, hauled out an 8 iron and dropped in an eagle from 75 yards for the shot that gave him a 3 and 2 victory.

Rosecrance, who aims to join the roster of such Stanford stars as Lawson Little, Art Doering, Jack Hoerner, Warren Berl, Ray Brownell and Sandy Tatum, repeated last year's championship victory by eliminating the 1941 runner-up, Fred Fassnacht of Paw Paw, Mich., 5 and 3, in the other semi-final match.

Rosecrance 1 Up at First Turn.

The two finalists, who sandwiched their argument in between the regular series of West District Golf league matches yesterday afternoon, found an admixture of spanking breezes, rain, and sunshine for their fight. Rosecrance was 1 up after the first nine and got a birdie at No. 10, where his second shot struck the flag. Jemsek, who had been one of the best finishers in the tournament, drew a bird at the 12th, and pulled up even with a par on the 17th. Rosecrance's second to the home green landed on the front fringe, while Jemsek, bunkered to the right of the carpet, took two to escape from there and yielded the hole and the match to Bob's par.

The cards for the final follow:

Par—Out ..............544  353  444—36
Rosecrance—Out .......554  353  744—40
Jemsek—Out ...........644  374  544—41
```

Rosecrance leads, 1 up.

```
Par—In ...............444  353  544—36—72
Rosecrance—In ........354  353  564—38—78
Jemsek—In ............453  353  546—38—79
```

Rosecrance wins, 1 up.

SOX PURCHASE 4 PLAYERS FROM SHREVEPORT CLUB

The White Sox last night announced the purchase of two pitchers and two outfielders from the Shreveport, La., team of the Texas league, with which Chicago has a working agreement. The players, recommended by Scout Billy Webb, will report after the Texas league season or next year.

The pitchers are Doyle Lade and Ralph Hamner, both right handers. Lade is 21 years old, 6 feet in height, and weighs 190 pounds. He has won 14 and lost 5 in the Texas league. Hamner has won 11 and lost 7. He is 6 feet 3 inches tall, weighs 165 pounds, and is 25 years old.

The outfielders include Tom Jordan, who led the Three Eye league this year in home runs and runs batted in, and Cecil Trent. Jordan was recently recalled by Shreveport.

Another Member of All-Star Staff

Lon Stiner, head coach at Oregon State college, yesterday was added to the staff which will prepare the College All-Star squad for its game with the Bears in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28. Stiner is the west coast's representative on the four man board of strategy.

Angott and Robinson to Meet Tonight

New York, July 30 (AP).—There is something going on in the better known 49th street betting shops today that is puzzling the price makers. The leading citizens of the industry are baffled over the betting support being shown for Sammy Angott in his fight with unbeaten Ray Robinson tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden.

It's not so much that the boys and girls are putting their bobs right on Sammy's nose. It's the reason they give for doing it—that they're betting on the little Washington [Pa.] Italian simply because he's already been beaten once by Robinson.

Hopes for 15,000 Crowd.

It is plain to see that this just doesn't add up, especially to the bookies, who have made the skinny Robinson a 1 to 2 choice to repeat his previous victory over the lightweight champion, this time in a non-title ten round bout, which Promoter Mike Jacobs hopes will attract a crowd of 15,000.

Yet it may happen, tho the Harlem boxer carries into the ring the longest winning streak in modern fight history—121 in a row as an amateur and a pro.

For Sammy enjoys getting a second crack at a fellow who's beaten him before. Only seven clouters have beaten him in the last six years. Four of them didn't know when they were well off and tried it again. And Sammy reversed the procedure on each.

Angott Closes Fast.

The last time they fought, Robinson nearly took Sammy's head off with a right hand haymaker in the second round, then had to go all out to stand off Angott's closing rush. As a matter of fact, Angott won three of the last four rounds.

Sammy's crowding, body banging style of workmanship is just the system that's unpleasant for Robinson. Marty Servo showed that in giving Ray a rough evening a couple of months ago with the same sort of stuff.

Don Dunphy will broadcast a blow by blow description of the bout on W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system beginning at 9 p. m. [CWT].

OREGON STATE LEADER 2D OF 4 TO BE NAMED

Two More Players Accept; Total 64.

BY ARCH WARD.

Alonzo L. [Lon] Stiner of Oregon State, youngest coach in the Pacific Coast conference, will represent the far west on this year's four-man All-Star staff. Appointment of Homer Norton of Texas A. & M. as the southern member of the board was announced yesterday.

Stiner, whose Oregon State Beavers, defeated Duke university in the transplanted Rose bowl game last New Year's day, will arrive in Chicago a week from today to greet the squad of 65 All-Stars who will begin training Aug. 8 for their game with the Chicago Bears in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28.

Two more players yesterday wired their acceptance of THE TRIBUNE'S invitation to join the All-Star squad. They are Raymond Kreick, Wisconsin end, who is an ensign in the navy's preflight school in Iowa City, and Jack Hunt, Marshall college half back, who is a private in the Blytheville, Ark., army flying school. This brings the total acceptances to 64. Last year's squad numbered 69.

Lon's from Middle West.

While Coach Stiner has established his gridiron reputation on the Pacific coast, he is a product of the middle west. Stiner was born in Hastings, Neb., June 20, 1903, and played high school football in his home town. From Hastings he went to Lombard college, Galesburg, Ill., but during the two years he played football for Lombard he couldn't get Nebraska off his mind and he transferred to the University of Nebraska in his junior year.

The Cornhuskers liked Stiner so well they elected him captain in his senior year. He was picked on various All-American teams his last year in Lincoln. Just previous to his graduation Lon married Caroline Parker of Hastings, his childhood sweetheart.

That fall, 1927, Stiner accepted his first coaching position as assistant in football and track at the University of Colorado. Meanwhile, his old head coach at Lombard, Paul Schissler, had gone to Oregon State college as gridiron chief. In 1928 Schissler called Stiner to Corvallis as varsity football assistant and freshman track coach.

Schissler's tenure came to an end in 1932 and the athletic officers of Oregon State, after looking far and wide for a football boss, finally decided the young man who probably could do the best job was right under their eyes. So they named Lon Stiner head coach.

Stiner showed in his first year that he had what it takes. His famous 1933 Ironmen, playing without substitution, brought to an end the 26 game winning streak of Southern California by holding the Trojans to a scoreless tie in Portland. From there, the Beavers went to New York, where they checked Fordham's victory streak by a 9 to 6 score, a defeat that deprived the Rams of a Rose bowl bid. The East not only liked Stiner, It liked his football, especially an invention of his own called the pyramid play.

He Has Quite a Record.

When an opponent scored a touchdown and snapped the ball for the attempted extra point Oregon State's tackles hoisted into the ozone their 6 foot 6 inch center Clyde Devine, who usually blocked the kick.

In his nine years as head coach, Stiner's teams have won 51, lost 30 and tied 11 games. His success has grown since the Pacific Coast conference adopted the round robin type of competition with each league member meeting every other member each season.

600 FISHERMEN, HUNTERS GATHER THIS WEEK-END

Skeet, Trap Shooting and Casting on Program.

BY BEN MARKLAND.

Lincoln park will be the gathering place for more than 600 of the middle west's most expert hunters and fishermen this week-end, but no fish will be caught and the hunters will be firing at clay targets instead of live game.

The shotgun experts will be competing in the Ducks Unlimited Skeet and Trap tournament which opens this morning at the Lincoln Park Gun club, on the lake front at the foot of Diversey parkway. Competition involving more than 500 shooters will continue thru tomorrow and Sunday. More than 100 anglers will be in the park for the Illinois State Casting tournament to be held Sunday at the Lincoln Park Casting club, Fullerton avenue and Stockton drive.

50 Target Events.

There are four 50 target events on the schedule for the Ducks Unlimited shoot, and among those already entered are several Illinois skeet champions who won their titles in the state tournament held last week-end at the same club. These include Larry H. Smith and Gerald Batten, each of whom broke 100 straight targets to tie the world record in the two-man team event, and Mrs. Potter Palmer III., state women's champion. Lieut. Gov. Hugh Cross also will compete.

Sunday's state casting competition will serve as a prelude to the national tournament to be held at the Lincoln Park club Aug. 29 and 30, and several former national bait and fly casting champions will compete in both meets. Among the ex-champions who will toss for state titles Sunday are Howard Chatt and Conrad Nordholm, both of Chicago, Walter Mewes, Milwaukee, and George Morrison, Gary.

All Accuracy Events Sunday.

All of the accuracy events to be held during the national tournament will be on Sunday's schedule, including the dry fly, wet fly, bass bug, ⅝ ounce bait accuracy, ⅜ ounce bait accuracy, and a five-man team shoot. The fly events will start at 9 a. m. and be completed before any of the bait competition is started.

Whirlaway to Run—but Not Against Alsab

The closing of the Arlington Park meeting and launching of Washington Park's program will provide racing fans with a series of seven stake events during the period beginning tomorrow and ending Saturday of next week.

Among the attractions during that period will be Whirlaway, the all-time record money winner certain to run in tomorrow's $25,000 Arlington handicap. And just about as certain not to run—as he hasn't since the Belmont stakes nearly two months ago—is Alsab. There's considerable question whether Alsab will go in Washington Park's opening feature, the $2,500 Lakeside handicap, a seven furlong event, Monday.

Open Turf Course Wednesday.

Along with the running of the $25,000 Arlington handicap, the $7,500 Victory handicap and the $7,500 Cleopatra handicap are scheduled at Arlington tomorrow.

The first of the stake events on Washington Park's new turf course will be run Wednesday. This will be a mile and an eighth gallop called the Flossmoor handicap carrying a $3,000 purse. On Thursday, two of the leading 2 year olds of the Chicago area—Occupation and Littletown — are scheduled to meet in the $3,000 Juvenile stakes. The first week at Washington Park will be concluded with the running of the $7,500 Sheridan handicap.

May Be 3-5 Favorite.

Chicago fans will get their first look at Whirlaway this season in tomorrow's Arlington handicap. The world's leading money winner is scheduled to oppose a field drawn from among Best Seller, Reading II., Rounders, Moscow II., Daily Trouble, Staretor, and Sirocco. He will be an overwhelming favorite, probably at no longer odds than 3 to 5. He is scheduled to return to Chicago for the $25,000 Washington Park handicap on Labor day.

In addition to Alsab, the nominees for Washington Park's opening feature include With Regards, Best Seller, Smacked, Thumbs Up, and other speedy contenders.

Falkenburg Team Enters Semi-Finals

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 30 [Special].—The two top seeded doubles teams—Bob and Tom Falkenburg of Hollywood, Cal., and Fred Kovaleski of Hamtramck, Mich., and Art MacDonald of Los Angeles—reached the semi-finals in the junior doubles of the Western Junior and Boys' Tennis tournament today. Weather halted play just as the quarter-finals were being completed.

The Falkenburgs won a hard fought match from Howe Atwater of Winnetka, Ill., and Dick Randall of Chicago, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. Kovaleski and MacDonald swamped the Milwaukee duo of Ted Petersen and Bob Stuckert, 6-0, 6-2.

Kovaleski Wins in Singles.

Kovaleski and Ted Norpoth of Houston, Tex., filled semi-final berths in the junior singles division with victories over Frank Willett of Anniston, Ala., and Tom Falkenburg, third and fourth seeded, respectively.

Kovaleski outlasted his California rival to win, 6-2, 10-12, 6-4. Norpoth, who yesterday conquered Chicago's Benny Migdow, posted his second upset in a row, defeating Willett, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

The top seeded Bob Falkenburg and MacDonald won easily over Charles Samson, Denver, Colo., and John Brock, San Diego, Cal., to enter the semi-finals.

Watson and Smith Win.

Alan Watson, Elizabeth, N. J., and Billy Smith, Orlando, Fla., first and third seeded boys, led the boys' division into the semi-finals where they were joined by Ed Ray, Taft, Tex., and Ed Adams, Columbus, Ga.

Junior Singles.

Ted Norpoth, Houston, Tex., beat Frank Willett, Anniston, Ala., 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Alan Watson, Elizabeth, N. J., beat Jack Blanton, Houston, Tex., 6-3, 6-4.

Ed Adams, Columbus, Ga., beat Billy Day, Short Hills, N. J., 6-3, 6-0.

GREENBERG IS BEATEN IN ROUND ROBIN BY SEGURA

Southampton, N. Y., July 30 (AP).—Francis Segura of Ecuador, who suffered his first defeat in the Meadow club's invitation round robin tournament yesterday, came back today to defeat Seymour Greenberg of Chicago, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, and run his record in the event to three victories against one defeat. Greenberg is national clay court champion.

Sidney Wood, New York veteran, kept his record intact when he beat Billy Talbert of Cincinnati, 6-2, 8-6. Talbert had dealt Segura his only defeat. Wood and Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Cal., have scored four victories apiece and are the only players in the 12 man field who are unbeaten. Schroeder whipped Alejo Russell, Argentine champion, 6-2, 6-0, today.

Charley Mattman of New York, who lost his first three matches, handed Ladislav Hecht, former Czech Davis cup star, his first defeat, 6-4, 6-3, today. Frank Bowden of New York beat Frank Shields, 8-6, 8-6, and Victor Seixas scored his first triumph by beating Harris Everett of Jacksonville, Fla., 6-3, 2-6, 8-6.

EDGEWOOD GOLF TEAM RETAINS LEAGUE LEAD

Edgewood Valley scored 19½ points yesterday at Edgewood Valley to hold its place at the top of the West District Golf league standings. BECKWITH DROPS HIS GLOVES FOR GUN TOMORROW

Gary Boxer Leaves Good Record Behind.

Booker Beckwith, 1938 international and intercity Golden Gloves middleweight champion, will be inducted into the army tomorrow, Harry Green, his co-manager, said last night. The Gary light heavyweight, who is 22 years old, recently was knocked out by Ezzard Charles, his first such experience in 22 bouts during a three year professional campaign. It was only the third setback suffered by Beckwith, the others being inflicted by Melio Bettina and Bob Pastor.

By his conquest, Charles earned a contest in Pittsburgh against Anton Christoforidis, former light heavyweight champion. No date has been set for this match, but it will not be held until after Christoforidis attempts to dispose of Nate Bolden, south side boxer, in 10 rounds in Marigold outdoor arena Aug. 10.

An amateur boxing show will be offered tonight in Madison-Cicero outdoor arena, 4820 Madison street. . . . Jimmy Kallas, veteran Illinois Athletic commission wrestling referee, has applied for a commission in the army as a chemical engineer. Kallas, who is 44 years old, is employed as a chemist by the city. . . . Leo Rodak, who defeated Slugger White in Baltimore on Monday, has been matched with Chalky Wright, New York featherweight champion, in Baltimore and Sammy Angott, lightweight title holder, in Cincinnati in August. Both will be overweight contests.

Mike Sopko, Indiana Harbor middleweight, who has scored 11 victories and earned three draw decisions in 18 starts, yesterday was matched with Tito Taylor for a four round contest on the card headed by Charley Eagle and Bill Peterson in Marigold Gardens Monday. Other matches will bring together Walter Schramm, East Chicago heavyweight, and Al Jordan, and Al Walker, south side junior welterweight, and Bill Jordan. Ramey McKnight, Milwaukee welterweight, will face Joe Dupont in a six round event. Taylor, who has been deferred for six months by his draft board, left last night for Indianapolis, where he opposes Al Sheridan at eight rounds tonight.

NEED YACHTSMEN FOR ARMY'S NEW AMPHIBIAN GROUP

Lieut. Fred R. Hayes, war department personnel officer, will be in Chicago Wednesday to seek yachtsmen and others experienced in handling small craft for the army's new Engineer Amphibian command. This was announced yesterday by Rear Commodore L. T. Rountree of the Chicago Yacht club.

Commissions as officers and instructors are open for the next two months. College training is not necessary. Commissions open are for captain, ages 34-41; first lieutenant, 31-34, and second lieutenant, 24-30.

Lieut. Hayes has been meeting yachtsmen at Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit and other fresh water boating centers the last few days. In addition to the army's usual officer standards, the new command can use men with these qualifications:

Motor and sailboat skippers and crews, both Corinthians [amateurs] and professionals, with piloting or navigating ability.

Yacht builders and superintendents of boatyards employing more than six men.

CWDGA TO HOLD ONE DAY MEET AT CALUMET TODAY

The Chicago Women's District Golf association will hold its second one day tournament today at Calumet Country club. Tomorrow's program includes the 15th annual Pottowottomie invitational tournament of the Big Foot Country club in Lake Geneva and Nordic's annual Hullabaloo.

The CDGA will resume its program for youngsters Monday, when it opens the four day closed junior event at Medinah. Practice rounds will be permitted today over Medinah's No. 3 course.

Monday also will witness the beginning of the 38th city amateur tournament at Jackson park, oldest of all Chicago fairway competitions. Such former champions as Chick Evans, Harold Mathiesen, Gene Budd, and Bill Fitzgerald have entered.

closing stages of this 6 furlong event. Sidetrack had forced to the front soon after the break, had opened up a lead of three lengths on the turn and had increased this to five lengths in the stretch. Then in the last furlong he began weakening in the sloppy going. Meanwhile, Orphan Toy had emerged from the pack after racing wide and was cutting down the gap at every stride. A split second after they crossed the line, he pushed his nose to the front.

The prices went up with $46.20, $27 and $13.40 for the winner. Orphan Toy's backers got $84.80 and $35.20 for place and show. Daily double tickets on Sidetrack and the winner of the first race, Iron Barge, were worth $256.20.

Chicago Dr., owned by Dr. Charles Laury, scored his second success of the Arlington meeting, but this time he had to share it with I. Crew's Putitthere. These two opened up a long lead over their nearest rivals during the swing around the turn in this 6 furlong dash. Chicago Dr., racing beside the rail, held an advantage of half a length over his rival during the earlier part of the stretch drive, but just before the finish, Putitthere got up in time to earn a dead heat. Prices on Chicago Dr. were $11, $9.20, and $4.80 and upon Putitthere $5.40, $6.60, and $4.

ROCKFORD MEETS NORMAL LEGION NINE TOMORROW

Bloomington, Ill., July 30 [Special].—Rockford and Normal post teams will clash Saturday morning in Quincy for the downstate Junior American Legion baseball championship, Commander Ray Shotwell of Normal announced here today.

This arrangement will save both teams money and travel since the winner of the battle will play Oak Park, Chicagoland champion, for the Illinois championship in a best two out of three games series in Quincy starting Saturday evening. The series will continue Sunday evening and if a third game is necessary, it will be played Monday evening. Starting time for the evening contests is 5 o'clock.

MRS. MOORE AND MRS. KRAUSS TO CLASH FOR TITLE

Miss Sorenson, Mrs. Sick Lose in County Golf.

It will be the defending champion against a former title holder for the 28th annual Women's Cook County golf championship today over the Jackson park course. The two finalists, Mrs. Evelyn Moore of Navajo Fields, defending champion, and the veteran Mrs. Lillian Zech Krauss of Tam o' Shanter, medalist and holder of the crown in 1930, will play 36 holes.

In reaching the finals for the second consecutive year, Mrs. Moore yesterday turned back her final opponent of last year, Miss Elaine Sorenson of Twin Orchards, 3 and 1. Mrs. Krauss started to click with her putting at the turn, and finished her match with Mrs. Bernie Sick of the Crystal Lawn club of Joliet, Ill., on the 15th green, winning, 4 and 3.

Even at Turn.

Mrs. Moore, who has been playing golf for 11 years, won the title in 1939 and again last year. In 1938 and 1940 she was runner-up. The last appearance of Mrs. Krauss was in 1930 when she took the county title and continued her winning streak by capturing the state and city championships.

The Krauss-Sick match was all even at the end of nine holes. They halved the 10th. Then, shooting par golf, Mrs. Krauss won the next four holes to lead 4 up going into the 15th. They halved the 15th.

Mrs. Moore carded a 38 on the out nine and came in with a 39 for a 77. Miss Sorenson three putted the third, seventh, and ninth holes. Her three putts on the ninth green gave Mrs. Moore a 1 up lead at the turn. A stymie on No. 10 cost her another hole.

Miss Sorenson Wins 11th.

On the 11th, a water hole, Mrs. Moore drove into the bushes and was on with her next shot, but conceded the hole when Miss Sorenson's approach was six inches from the cup. The 12th was halved with fours, and Mrs. Moore regained her 2 up advantage when she holed out in 3 on No. 13, while Elaine took a 4 as the result of another stymie. Each turned up a 6 on the 14th, while on the long 15th the defending title holder's lead was cut down to one hole.

A perfect approach shot which landed five feet from the pin on the 16th green gave Mrs. Moore a par 4 and a 2 up lead. The match was concluded on the following hole.

CHAMPIONSHIP.

Evelyn Moore, Navajo Fields, beat Elaine Sorenson, Twin Orchards, 3 and 1.

Lillian Zech Krauss, Tam o'Shanter, beat Bernie Sick, Crystal Lawn, Joliet, 4 and 3.

CHAMPIONSHIP CONSOLATION.

KEN ZIMMERMAN NAMED TO ILLINI TEACHING STAFF

Champaign, Ill., July 30 (AP).—Ken Zimmerman of Gurnee, Illinois varsity end for three seasons, has been appointed physical education instructor at the University of Illinois, Seward E. Staley, director of the school, announced today.

Zimmerman resigned his post as athletic coach at Woodstock High school earlier this summer. A fine end under Bob Zuppke in 1936, 1937 and 1938, Zimmerman was voted the outstanding graduate in the school of physical education in June, 1939.

He coached at Wyoming High school before going to Woodstock in 1940.

JUNIOR SKIPPER TO SAIL SLOOP IN RACES AT SARNIA

Robert Cameron, who will represent the Southern Lake Michigan Star fleet, left here Wednesday with his Chicago Yacht club sloop Loch Lomond.

Yankees Whip Blues, 7-6, on Gordon's Homer

Kansas City, Mo., July 30 (AP).—The New York Yankees paid their annual visit to their farm team here tonight and defeated the Blues, 7 to 6, with Joe Gordon accounting for the winning run in the fifth with a home run. The Yankees used Ernie Bonham and Norman Branch on the mound. Score:

New York [A. L.]...204 010 000—7 14 2
Kansas City [A. A.]..201 200 001—6 8 3

Miss Foster, Miss Ingram in State Final

Peoria, Ill., July 30 (AP).—Dorothy Foster of Springfield, winner of the first state women's golf tournament in 1934 but never able to reach the finals since then, finally made it again today when she defeated Jeanne Cline, youthful favorite from Bloomington on the 20th hole of their overtime semi-final match.

Miss Foster's opponent in the 36 hole championship match over the Peoria Country club course tomorrow will be Virginia Ingram of Winnetka. Miss Ingram also was carried into an overtime today, finally conquering Ruth More of Peoria on the 19th hole.

Miss Cline Leads Only Once.

The 18 year old Miss Cline held the lead only once in her duel with the Springfield veteran. That was at the fourth hole. When they reached the turn, Miss Foster was 2 up. Three times thereafter Miss Cline rallied to even the match, the third time on the 18th green when Miss Foster's drive landed on the edge of a trap to the left of the green.

They halved the 19th, but on the 20th Miss Cline sliced slightly on her drive, landed in the rough behind two trees, and had no recourse but to chip out on the fairway. Miss Foster, meantime, got a good drive and approach and wound up sinking an 11 foot putt for a par five and victory when Miss Cline's putt for her five from 30 feet out was four inches short.

Par Ends Ingram Match.

The two rivals had a medal score of 82 for the first 18 holes.

In the other match Miss Ingram put an end to a tight finish by getting her par four on the 19th green while Miss More was taking a five.

Miss More had squared the match on the 14th hole with a birdie three and the two had battled down the finish halving each of the next four holes to send the match into an overtime.

RHEINGOLD GIRLS BEAT MATCHES; ROCKOLAS WIN

The Rheingold Girls' softball team scored two runs in the last of the ninth to defeat the Match Corporation Girls, 2 to 1, in Pepsi-Cola stadium last night. Catherine Fellmeth was the winning pitcher. The Rockolas scored one run on one hit off Bernadette Maxwell to beat the Parichy Bloomer Girls, 1 to 0, in Parichy stadium. Tommy Castator held the Bloomer Girls to three hits. The Pittsburgh Girls-Garden City Maids' game was postponed. Tonight's schedule:

C. & G. Bowlers Score Twice Over Monarchs

The Chapin & Gores bowlers of the Randolph and North End Major league won two games from the Monarch Beers of the Classic league before 1,500 at last night's opening of the enlarged Faetz & Son center, 5961 Ridge avenue. Bill Lenzen, recently transferred from the Monarchs to the C. & G.'s, rolled a 246 game and Capt. Leo Faetz of the C. & G.'s high series, 657. Monarch Encores beat the Pogues, 2,915 to 2,715, in a second match. Scores:

City Tennis Postponed; to Resume Play Today

The City tennis tournament at the Chicago Town and Tennis club was postponed yesterday. Play will be resumed today.

HEAFNER POSTS 68 IN ST. PAUL OPEN GOLF TRIAL

St. Paul, Minn., July 30 (AP).—Two of golf's distance hitters, Clayton Heafner of Linville, N. C., and Jimmy Thomson of Del Monte, Cal., along with less known Leland Gibson of Kansas City, today completed their tuneups for tomorrow's start in the $5,000 St. Paul Open by firing 68s.

Heafner was out in even par 36, but came back in 32 with four one-putt greens. His last nine tally was the low of the day as the pros paired with women golfers in the tournament's annual preliminary. Heafner and Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Ia., runnerup in the recent Western Women's Open in Chicago, won the mixed foursome matches. Miss Otto posted a 77, by far the lowest woman's card of the day.

Four Get 69s.

Thomson had 33—35. Other low rounds included 69s by Johnny Revolta and Jim Foulis of Chicago, Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich., and Joe Coria of St. Paul; and 70s by Jim Ferrier of Chicago and Ralph Guldahl of Rancho Santa Fe, Cal.

Dick Metz of Chicago, 1939 tourney winner, had 71 while the defending champion, Horton Smith of Springfield, Mo., and the three time winner Harry Cooper of Minneapolis carded 73s. Ben Hogan, leading money winner, also posted 73.

A field of some 150 players begin teeing off at 9 a. m. tomorrow in the first lap of the 72 hole event.

War Bonds as Awards.

The low scorer at the end of 36 holes Saturday will be given a $25 war bond in a plan suggested by Fred Corcoran, PGA tournament manager, honoring Corp. Ed Oliver of the army. The low scorer in Sunday's final 36 hole round also will get a bond for "Seaman Sam Snead day." Snead and Oliver, both former St. Paul Open champions whose duties prevented their competition this year, will be sent similar $25 bonds.

Discounting rumors that tournament golf is reaching the end of the line for the duration of the war, Corcoran said that no cancellations have been made on this winter's tour.

"The only probable changes," he said, "will be readjustment of some dates."

TIGERS TOP A'S, 11-5, IN OPENER, THEN LOSE, 7 TO 6

Eighth Inning Uprisings Take Both Games.

Detroit, Mich., July 30 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers scored six runs in the eighth inning to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics, 11 to 5, in the opener of a double header here today, but the Macks took the second game, 7 to 6, on tight relief pitching by Roger Wolff. Detroit clinched the series, however, two games to one, its first in a month.

Pinky Higgins, returning to the lineup after a day on the bench, drove home six Detroit runs in the opener, climaxing the big eighth with a four run homer off Luman Harris, who was charged with his ninth setback against 10 victories. It was Higgin's ninth of the year.

In the second game the A's spotted Phil Marchildon, their leading pitcher, a four run lead but he suddenly lost his stuff in the fourth as Detroit collected five runs on five hits including Birdie Tebbetts' first homer of the season with one on. Scores:

INDIANS WIN, 4-3.

Cleveland, O., July 30 (AP).—The Indians climbed back to a virtual tie with second place Boston today by coming from behind to wallop the Red Sox, 4 to 3, finishing the four game series with an even break.

Mel Harder, trying for his ninth victory in 17 starts, won his own ball game in the seventh inning with a single good for two runs. Oscar Judd suffered his eighth defeat, against seven victories. Cleveland and Boston trail New York by 13 games, but the Red Sox hold an edge of three percentage points.

BROWNS BOW AGAIN.

St. Louis, Mo., July 30 (AP).—Just when the rejuvenated St. Louis Browns were beginning to look hopefully at second place, along came the Washington Senators to knock them off three times in a row, winning today's final game, 11 to 6. A four run rally after two were out in the fifth inning, accomplished on three hits, three walks, and a wild pitch, gave the Senators sufficient margin altho they added three tallies for good measure in the eighth and ninth. Bragan Hits Triple as Phils Beat Reds, 4-2

Philadelphia, Pa., July 30 (AP).—Shortstop Bobby Bragan, making his debut as a catcher, lined out a triple that drove in one run tonight to help the Phils to a 4 to 2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Another converted Phils player, Pitcher Earl Naylor, a former outfielder, started the game, but Ike Pearson replaced him in the fourth after he tossed two wild pitches.

Eric Tipton, former Duke university star, hit Naylor for a home run in the second. The Reds' other run was tallied in the fourth by Max Marshall after one of Naylor's wild throws. Score:

Cubs, Dodgers Clash Again Tomorrow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 30.—The Cubs and Dodgers will be back at it again in a single game Saturday and will conclude the series in a double header Sunday. Johnny Schmitz, who shut out the Dodgers, 7 to 0, the last time they were in Chicago, will pitch Saturday, then proceed immediately to his home in Wausau, Wis., where he has business with his draft board. Claude Passeau and Bill Lee are scheduled to pitch Sunday. The Dodgers haven't made specific assignments, but probably will employ Kirby Higbe, Curt Davis, and Max Macon. Macon is one of the few Dodgers who never played for a Chicago team.

Chase's Condition Critical Following Heart Attack

Oakland, Cal., July 30 (AP).—Hal Chase, 59 years old, old time baseball player, was reported in a critical condition today at Highland hospital as a result of a heart attack. Attendants said he was conscious but incoherent.

WHITE SOX AND SENATORS OPEN SERIES TONIGHT

Chicagoans Have an Open Date Tomorrow.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Having had a day to recover from their two victories over the top of the league [Yes, the Yankees], the White Sox will have a chance to try their luck tonight on a less formidable adversary. At least the standings indicate the foe—Washington's seventh place Senators—isn't so tough, but just what James Dykes' unpredictable boys will be able to do about it is anybody's guess. They'll start trying at about 8:30 p. m. under the Comiskey park electric lights. Johnny Humphries probably will handle the Sox's pitching and Sid Hudson the Senators'.

Mr. Dykes is still being questioned daily about when he is going to open his customary late season drive toward the first division. The manager just doesn't know anything about it. The once gay warrior is back on his heels, his baseball life so dull that even his beloved friends, the umpires, have trouble arousing him with a bum decision. And all the others seem to be down—that is all except the pitchers in whom hope appears to spring eternal.

No Wonder They're Daffy.

Maybe it's the schedule that has the Sox running in circles. Night games in profusion, twilight games linked with night games as double headers, off days for no apparent reason except that the date makers must have wanted to make the thing last as long as possible, Sunday double headers, etc., have got the boys slightly daffy. Then there's that congestion in travel, upper berths, etc. The poor guys don't even have space in which to stage an evening card game en route. It's too much for 'em.

The schedule isn't going to get any better. After playing tonight the Sox, also the Senators, can do as they darned please tomorrow. They'll make up for it with a double header Sunday afternoon. On Monday the Sox, instead of resting, will bus ride to Camp Grant for an exhibition with the soldier team. Then on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday everything will be normal. Three games with the Tigers—all in the afternoon. A week from tonight the lights will be on again for an affair with Cleveland. Saturday will be open and on Sunday there'll be a pair with the Indians. And so on indefinitely.

Kennedy to Be Sworn In.

Bob Kennedy is to be sworn into the navy as an air cadet between games of Sunday's Sox-Senator bill. He will go into training after the close of the season.

SIX FINAL BIKE RACES ON CYO CARD TONIGHT

Six final races, including the one mile Illinois state title event and a one hour team race make up the racing program tonight in Humboldt park bicycle bowl under the auspices of the Catholic Youth organization. In addition to the finals three heats are scheduled in the championship event. Thirty-one entries will have to compete in qualifying races.

Al Stiller, Mazzini club, and Bob Jackson, Edison park.
Don Griffe, Barrett A. C., and Heinz Richter, CYO.
Joe Gaspari, Mazzini club, and Bill Johann, CYO.
Frank Brilando, Barrett A. C., and Harvey Spigelhoff, Milwaukee, Wis.
Sears Taylor, Barrett A. C., and Joe Koukl, Barrett A. C.
Jimmy Drake, CYO, and Armendo DiPietro, Mazzini club.

A five mile race for riders not in the team race, and one mile sprints for juniors, beginners, and class C boys complete the card. The title sprints will open the racing program at 8:30 o'clock.

DODGERS BATTER OLSEN, WARNEKE; CRUSH CUBS, 9-2

Novikoff Hits Homer in Fifth Inning.

use trying to delay the telling of the sad tale: Arky Vaughan opened with the second Dodger hit of the evening, a single, and went to third on Mickey Owen's single. Stanley Bordagaray batted for John Allen and doubled to left, scoring Vaughan and Mickey Owen to tie the score. Peewee Reese moved Bordagaray to third with a sacrifice.

Warneke Is Easy, Too.

Successive singles by Herman, Reiser and Medwick followed before Warneke was summoned. Camilli, first to face Warneke, bounced a single past Russell, the scoring parade continuing. Dixie Walker batted for Rizzo and fouled to McCullough, who made a nice catch near the screen, but when Camilli ran to second after the catch, McCullough tried to head him off, Medwick scoring the sixth and last run of the inning.

Max Macon replaced Allen and his task was made easier when the Dodgers added two runs off Warneke in the sixth on a single by Owen, a triple by Reese, and a belated fielder's choice play at the plate on Herman's grounder. The Dodgers made a run in the eighth on Herman's single, a double by Reiser, and a long fly by Medwick.

Within the ivy-covered walls of this distillery no whiskey other than Old Taylor has ever been made.

THE only time a product need be described in superlatives is when it doesn't deserve them. So, when the late Col. E. H. Taylor Jr. created this bourbon he designated its worth simply by giving it his name. Try OLD TAYLOR and let your own tongue tell you of its glorious good taste.

RAILS ADVANCE, CHEMICALS WEAK IN MIXED MARKET

Mild Buying Fails to Start Recovery Trend.

New York, July 30 (AP).—Rails and scattered industrials attracted mild buying support in today's stock trading but leading chemicals were soft, and no real recovery trend moved the mixed market.

Rising carrier earnings contrasted with falling profits for most industrial corporations owing to mounting taxes and other costs. Bids and offers in both groups apparently continued to be based on these considerations.

Changes Are Fractional.

Selling dried up at the start, but rallying tendencies were limited. There were a few relatively wide declines toward the close altho most changes were in fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 0.1 of a point at 36.2.

Union Pacific was up ⅞ as the road disclosed six months' net, treble that a year ago.

Monsanto Chemical was off 3; Allied Chemical, 2¼; du Pont, 1¾, and Eastman Kodak 1¾. Lesser losers were United States Steel, Boeing, Anaconda, American Can, and United States Gypsum.

CHICAGO STOCKS MIXED.

Chicago Stock Exchange prices were mixed yesterday. Advances by 22 stocks were matched by declines of 25 and no change in 18. Transfers totaled 12,000, equaling Wednesday's volume. Brown Fence and Wire, the volume leader, advanced ¼. Consumers preferred advanced ½, and reached a new 1942 high of 8¾. Chicago corporation dropped 1-16. Commonwealth Edison closed unchanged.

SALES OF CORN BY GOVERNMENT TO BE RESUMED

Wheat Futures Are Down Near Season Lows.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Elmer F. Messman, State Agricultural Adjustment administration committeeman, announced last night that sales of government owned corn will be resumed immediately by the Commodity Credit corporation. The price for immediate delivery will be 7 cents above the 1941 corn loan value in each county, or about 82 cents a bushel in central sections of the state.

Sale of the government grain was halted last Saturday, Messman explained, until a 3 cent price increase [heretofore the price had been raised ½ cent a month] could be established "to protect feed grain prices." The new order covers only corn held in steel bins and country elevators and is for sale only to farmers.

To List Prices Monday.

The Chicago office of the CCC said it expects to issue prices Monday on wheat for feed—125 million bushels was made available under the agriculture appropriations bill at 85 per cent of corn parity.

Wheat futures retreated about 1 cent a bushel more yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade to near season lows, the September delivery closing at $1.17¼ a bushel.

Corn futures finished ½ to ⅝ cent lower. Oats closed unchanged to ¼ cent lower, and rye was ½ to ¾ cent lower. Soy beans ran ⅛ cent higher to ¼ cent lower.

Corn Is Depressed.

Expectations that the government price for feed wheat will be lowered to encourage its use for fattening live stock depressed the corn market in face of several bullish developments.

Hope for More Rain.

July 30, 1942.

TWO light rainfalls in the last few days helped the corn and hay crops on the Wheaton farm, but by no means was there enough precipitation to keep the men from worrying about the outlook. The corn got an excellent start on its growing season because of the abundance of spring rainfall, but the deficiency of moisture during the past month has left the fields dry and cracked.

The Wednesday morning rain, like the one which fell Monday afternoon, was spotty. Areas within 10 miles of the farm received good soakings, but it rained for only about half an hour during a thunderstorm around 2 a. m. Wednesday. The rain was so light, in fact, that the farm workers were able to work in the oat fields that same afternoon. There was very little wind with the Wednesday rain, and the standing oats did not lodge.

Ducks Good Foragers.

The Muscovy ducks which recently were moved from the barnyard to the farm ponds didn't require much time to learn how to take care of their food requirements. While they were in the barnyard they didn't have to worry about where their next meal was coming from because the flockmaster made sure that their hoppers were full most of the time. Since being moved to the ponds they have had to learn how to scratch around and fend for themselves.

One of the men was telling us the other day that the Muscovys have taken advantage of the oat harvest to get several free meals of grain. The big white ducks stayed on the water while the combine and baler were in operation in a field adjoining the Half Moon pond, but as soon as these noisy machines moved out, the ducks waddled thru the abandoned grain plot to glean the few kernels left by the rumbling combine.

The antics of a pair of house wrens have given the residents of one of the farm cottages a lot of laughs during the past few weeks. Two wren houses were put in place in this yard in the spring, one on the west side of the cottage and one on the east side. A pair of vociferous wrens took the house on the west side of the lawn, and when we visited them two weeks ago the young were about ready to leave the nest.

Male Builds New Nest.

While the female bird was taking care of the feeding and training chores necessary to getting her first brood launched into the world, the male bird built a nest in the second house and kept singing most of the day in an effort to convince the female that she should get the first brood started and take over the nest which he made for her special benefit.

The residents of the cottage report that the female now has moved into the second house, altho we doubt if she was satisfied with the nest which the male built. If she follows the usual wren pattern she moved in, tore up the nest built by Mr. Wren, and made a new one to her personal specifications.

BIGGER 3 MONTH PROFIT SHOWN BY BETHLEHEM

Eugene G. Grace.

The Bethlehem Steel corporation yesterday reported that its profit for the second quarter of this year increased over that of the corresponding 1941 period, totaling $6,070,913, equal to $1.49 a share on common stock, against $5,651,457, or $1.34 a share, last year. Two other steel producers, Republic Steel corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, reported declines from a year ago.

Directors of Bethlehem declared a dividend of $1.50 on common stock, continuing the rate paid in recent quarters.

Scrap Lack Cuts Output.

Eugene G. Grace, Bethlehem president, said that a slight drop in the company's operations was chiefly the result of an insufficient supply of scrap metal.

He expressed gratification over the progress of Bethlehem's shipbuilding program which he termed "enormous," and said it was ahead of schedule in every category, altho subject to future limitations because of material shortages.

Furnace repairs and the raw material situation in general, Grace said, were factors in the lower operations, but he considered the scrap situation the most serious handicap.

The company's provision of $25,210,000 for taxes based on income for the second quarter included 5 million dollars in anticipation of a substantial increase in federal tax rates.

Six Month Profit Lower.

The company's indicated net profit for the six months to June 30 was $12,211,601, equal to $3 a share on the company against $16,087,485, or $4.29 a share in the same period last year.

Net billings for the second quarter totaled $360,118,243 against $305,653,318 in the first quarter and $218,555,719 in the 1941 second quarter.

The wage increase recently awarded to "little steel" workers, Grace said, would be put into effect in all Bethlehem's manufacturing and fabricating plants retroactive to last Feb. 6. The estimated cost for the period to June 30 was $5,600,000, all of which was provided out of income for the second quarter.

Grace also disclosed that salaried employés of Bethlehem receiving up to $5,000 a year had been given a percentage increase equal to that awarded steel workers, also retroactive to Feb. 6.

Republic Earnings Fall.

Republic, the nation's third largest producer, reported second quarter net income of $3,335,158 against $5,428,748 a year ago. Net profit for the first six months this year was $8,072,120, against $13,618,714.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube had a profit of $2,291,119 for the quarter ended June 30, slightly below the first quarter net of $2,576,597 and compared with $4,765,997 last year in the second quarter.

Profit from operations, after deduction of maintenance and repair charges and provision for payment of additional wages ordered by the War Labor board, totaled $14,099,277.

STORE SALES TOP WEEK AND YEAR AGO IN CHICAGO

Department store sales in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district in the week ended July 25 increased 2 per cent from the preceding week and 9 per cent compared with the corresponding 1941 period, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Chicago volume gained 2 and 5 per cent, respectively.

Indianapolis led the cities in the district with an increase of 24 per cent over the 1941 week.

Marshall Field Earnings Drop Tho Sales Rise

Marshall Field & Co. sales and retail income for the quarter and six months ended June 30 were the largest for those periods in the 4½ years since the company revamped its operating structure, but steep increases in federal tax provisions pushed net income far below year ago levels, a report by F. D. Corley, president, disclosed yesterday.

Profit for the June quarter was $478,588 or 13 cents per common share, compared with a revised figure of $1,086,481 or 44 cents a share, in the corresponding 1941 period. Corley said the profit in the 1942 quarter was adversely affected by an additional $284,060 federal tax provision to supplement the provision previously made for the first quarter.

Earnings Higher Before Taxes.

The June quarter provision for federal taxes was boosted to $2,572,005, from $1,067,478 in the 1941 period. Earnings before federal taxes were $3,050,593 in the second quarter, against $2,153,959 a year earlier.

Sales and rental income for the June quarter rose to $27,741,423, 13.9 per cent over the $24,352,805 reported for the 1941 period.

For the six months ended with June, profit was $1,472,800, equal to 53 cents a share, compared with $1,752,220, or 67 cents a share, in the first half of 1941. The company made a $200,000 provision out of the six month profit this year for possible future declines in the market value of inventories, leaving a balance of $1,272,800 transferred to earned surplus. No similar provision was made in the first half of 1941.

Taxes Rise 160 Per Cent.

Federal tax provisions for the first half of 1942 rose to $4,418,398, from $1,721,575. Earnings before federal taxes were $5,891,198, against $3,473,795. Sales and rental income for the half year climbed 17.5 per cent to $54,004,248, compared with $45,945,365 in the first six months of 1941.

Corley said federal tax provisions for the 1942 six month period were based on rates contained in the tax bill recently passed by the house of representatives.

WARNS RETAILER, LANDLORD CAN BE SUED BY BUYERS

Retail merchants and landlords were warned by John C. Weigel, OPA regional administrator, yesterday that violators of maximum price regulations and rent orders are liable to civil damage suits beginning today. Any suits for recovery of damages under OPA price and rent orders should be instituted by the consumer or tenant who is overcharged, he said.

"Housewives and other members of the buying public acquire the legal right beginning July 31 to bring civil suits for a minimum of $50 or treble the amount of an overcharge, whichever is the larger, plus attorney's fees and costs, against any storekeeper who charges them more for an article than OPA regulations allow," Weigel said. "Similar suits may be filed by tenants in defense rental areas against landlords who collect rents above those permitted by OPA rent orders."

INCREASE QUOTA ON COFFEE, TEA FOR SOME AREAS

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—Increases in the monthly coffee and tea delivery quotas, ranging from 10 to 100 per cent, were granted the District of Columbia and 204 counties in 42 states today by the WPB.

Officials said every county which had a population increase of at least 10 per cent during the last year had benefited under the quota increase, which will total nearly 2⅛ million pounds of coffee and about a million pounds of tea each month, beginning in August.

The adjustment was necessary to allow for population shifts resulting from the war program.

American Tobacco Stock Is Offered Over Counter

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane announced yesterday the offering of 46,000 shares of American Tobacco company B stock at $44 a share, less a dealer discount of 80 cents.

Fights Live Stock Ceiling

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—W. R. Sinclair, president of Kingan & Co. of Indianapolis, packer, today urged Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard against the imposition of a ceiling on live stock prices paid the farmer.

The packer said he was willing to operate under the ceiling imposed against packers on the prices they can charge for processed meats, but insisted none be fixed against the farmer. He said he saw no necessity for fixing ceiling prices on live animals, altho the recent rise in prices has wiped out the small margin of profit for packe

Asserts Margin Will Return.

This margin will be restored, he said, as soon as spring hogs come on the market because the large production will lower the price.

Sinclair attended a conference of packers called by the secretary. He was the first packer to speak against the imposition of a ceiling on prices paid farmers. He said his company believes in keeping meat supplies up and prices down, and is willing to coöperate with the department of agriculture and the price administration in the war effort.

"There has been a recent temporary meat shortage, especially in the east, but that is only seasonal," he said. "Farmers, it is heartening to know, are producing 20 million more hogs this year than in any previous year. July and August, of course, are the low marketing months.

Expects Ample Pork Products.

"There should be ample pork products, tho beef, due to purchases for our soldiers, may be less plentiful. To ease the temporary meat situation Secretary Wickard has announced reduced purchases for lend-lease purposes for the next few weeks. The mistaken policy of placing heavy lend-lease orders in the two summer months when few pigs reach the market has been corrected.

"The larger meat processors of the corn-hog belt have been supplying a large percentage of the lend-lease and government orders. But it should be remembered the eastern states largely depend upon packers of the middle west for their meat supplies. I advocate extending these enormous lend-lease purchases and government orders to a greatly increased number of meat packers. The smaller packers should be allowed or even requested to join in helping supply the army and the lend-lease buyers."

New M-4 Tanks Ready for War

Wagon Output Restricted by Scarce Items

The clatter of steel rimmed wagon wheels and the clickety-clack of flying hoofs, those once familiar sounds that heralded the approach of the high wheeled wagon of the corner grocer, seem likely to remain memories despite the shortage of rubber.

Wayne Dinsmore.

"The scarcity of steel for use in nondefense items makes a return to the horse and buggy days of yore seem quite unlikely." Wayne Dinsmore, executive secretary of the Horse and Mule Association of America said yesterday.

"Many persons have come to me wanting to know where they can obtain delivery wagons or buggies. With the shortage of tires and prospects for gas rationing, they are looking for horse drawn vehicles.

Three Companies Make Wagons.

"As far as I have been able to determine, there are only three companies in the United States making delivery wagons. One is in, and the other two are near Chicago. All have been working at capacity of men and materials.

"All of these formerly made truck or trailer bodies. When the demand developed for delivery wagons, milk and newspaper wagons in particular, and the war restricted markets for their regular products, they began wagon making. But their production has been greatly restricted by the shortage of metals."

The Batavia Body company, Batavia, Ill., which had been turning out from 38 to 40 delivery wagons a week since May, reported it was stopping production because of inability to obtain materials. Its plant is converted almost 100 per cent to war production.

The General Body company, Chicago, is understood to have about 200 delivery wagons under construction. The De Kalb [Ill.] Body company is reported working at capacity.

Buggy Deliveries Lag.

Spokesmen for the large mail order companies say orders for buggies are far in excess of deliveries. They are several months behind on their orders for buggy and delivery wagon harness. The harness manufacturers, in turn, find it difficult to obtain both hardware and leather.

The mail order companies said "no revival of the buggy and delivery wagon manufacturing business is in the air." They said most companies consider it too risky because their markets would be lost when the war ends.

INLAND'S RECORD DAY NETS STEEL FOR TWO SHIPS

Approximately enough steel plate for the hulls of two Liberty ships moved out of the Indiana Harbor, Ind., plant of the Inland Steel company yesterday, representing the 24 hour output from a single mill. This new all-time shipping record for the 76 inch continuous strip mill was established by three crews totaling 664 men.

The new record surpassed by 25 per cent the previous high mark set less than a month ago.

Each of the three shifts set individual records, and Inland also announced a new 24 hour record for its 14 inch merchant mill.

TEMPORARY EMBARGO RESTRICTS EASTBOUND GREAT LAKES TRAFFIC

In order to prevent congestion of railroad freight cars needed for war transportation, the Canadian Pacific Great Lakes Lines has placed a temporary embargo on eastbound carload freight via the ports of Chicago and Milwaukee, it was announced yesterday.

The situation was brought about mainly by the suspension of operations of the Great Lakes Transit corporation out of Duluth, thus requisitioning of the Line's boats by the government, a spokesman said. This caused congestion at Milwaukee and Chicago of shipments destined for trans-shipment by lake.

The embargo went into effect at midnight Wednesday and will expire at Midnight Aug. 5, unless the situation warrants its extension, it was announced.

STRIKERS RETURN TO JOBS ON PLEA FROM PRESIDENT

Berwick, Pa., July 31 [Friday]—(AP).—The midnight shift of maintenance workers at the tank producing American Car and Foundry company plant returned to work today, ending a two day strike at the telephoned request of President Roosevelt.

Roy Constine, director of the United Steel Workers [CIO] said others of the 1,000 strikers would return with later shifts.

FOUNDRYMEN QUIT.

Approximately 500 foundrymen went out on strike yesterday at the plant of the Pettibone Mulliken corporation, 4710 Division street, which is engaged in war production.

Sergt. George Barnes of the police labor detail, called a meeting of the company officials and representatives of local 233 of the International Molders' union [AFL], which called the strike, but no agreement was reached.

The union is seeking a blanket increase of 14 cents and a fraction an hour for all foundry workers. Its present contract expires Aug. 31.

CHEMICAL FIRM GETS FLAG FOR BOND PURCHASES

Dearborn Chemical company, 310 South Michigan avenue, yesterday received a Minute Man flag from the treasury department in recognition of the subscription by more than 90 per cent of its employés to the pay roll bond buying plan.

Roland D. Hinckle of the Illinois war savings staff, presented the flag to a representative of the employés, Miss Joan Peterson, office clerk, who leaves Saturday for the officers' training school at Des Moines, Ia., of the Women's Army Auxiliary corps.

Norman B. Collins, state administrator of the war bond staff, said final figures on July purchases would not be available for five or six days until returns are received from all issuing agents in the state. The July quota for Illinois was 85 million dollars.

Warns Small Inventory Will Shrink More

Stanley G. Adams, special assistant to the director general of operations of the War Production board, told manufacturers yesterday that the margin between their inventories and production requirements will become increasingly narrower. He warned that altho current inventories are generally small, many soon would be operating on the scanty inventory bases of English industries.

Adams spoke at a session of the conference on the new priorities system sponsored by the WPB and the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Palmer House. The three-day meeting will close today.

Hits Waste of Materials.

The WPB official condemned the nation's habit of wasting materials and urged manufacturers to conserve their inventories. He appealed to them to "think of production in terms of no waste." He added parenthetically that the waste of rubber is a "disgrace to the nation."

Adams promised "some relief" in the shortage of alloys for steel manufacture. He said that one of the world's largest deposits of tungsten has been opened in the northwest and new sources of vanadium have been tapped.

The WPB's major problem of the war, Adams said, is the distribution and transportation of materials. He said that the expansion phase of the war program is past and that now the primary concern is feeding materials to consuming industries. He promised manufacturers that in the future there will be fewer government forms and orders and more production, declaring that "we can't win the war with forms."

"Don't Go to Washington."

He said the numerous changes in the federal war agencies are justified if the changes result in "getting the job done." The WPB and its final goal, he said, is a matter of evolution.

Adams asked business men to work thru WPB field offices rather than go to Washington. He declared he knew of "nothing more discouraging than having to go to Washington at this time—it would be easier to fight a war than make such a trip."

Other speakers on yesterday's program were J. C. McConnell, J. F. Driscoll, and John L. McParland, priorities specialists in the Chicago office of the WPB. Driscoll and McConnell spoke on metal controls and McParland discussed the production requirements plan.

Wouldn't Help Crisis on East Coast.

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—Emphatic opposition to nation wide gasoline rationing at this time, as a measure designed to increase petroleum deliveries to the east, was voiced today by Petroleum Coördinator Harold L. Ickes.

As to whether universal gasoline rationing would be needed to conserve rubber, he said this question was not within his jurisdiction..

Ickes told his press conference that supplies of fuel oil along the Atlantic seaboard had become so critical that many of the 1,250,000 householders using it for heating may have to set their thermostats at 65 degrees or lower next winter and turn off radiators in spare rooms.

New Cut Indicated.

He hinted that it might be necessary to cut gasoline consumption further in the east so that available transportation could be used to build up fuel oil stocks against next winter's needs.

As to nation-wide rationing Ickes declared "this won't help the east now." He took sharp issue with a program which Joel Dean, rationing executive of the Office of Price Administration, said he and OPA Chief Leon Henderson had indorsed and forwarded to President Roosevelt.

Dean contended that universal rationing would release rail tank cars and tank trucks from other areas to build up eastern stocks.

"We're taking all the tank cars from the rest of the country that the railroads can haul," Ickes said. "We'll take more as we can use them.

"I don't take anything out of OPA as authoritative except when Mr. Henderson speaks. Every little bureau chief down the line sometimes thinks he is sitting in the driver's seat, but he seldom is. I don't think Dean is an expert either in the production or transportation of petroleum and it is very embarrassing for any one to make a statement of that sort when he doesn't know the facts, and I don't agree with his conclusions."

Record Oil Movement.

Ickes reported that the rail movement of oil to the east last week reached a new record of 800,000 barrels daily, with 62,000 tank cars being used in the eastward haul.

Ickes also announced that the oil industry has uncovered capacity for production of 200,000 tons of butadiene annually.

He said this would make possible the output of 240,000 to 250,000 tons of synthetic rubber annually over and above presently projected rubber programs.

This new rubber production could be "brought in" by the end of the year by conversion of existing gasoline refining plants, he said. The material used for butadiene would be gasoline.

ABSOLVES JONES & LAUGHLIN OF OPA VIOLATIONS

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 30 (AP).—The OPA'S injunction suit charging the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation with buying scrap iron at prices in excess of price ceilings was dismissed by Federal Judge N. P. Schoonmaker today.

The court held that Jones & Laughlin had not paid for two cars of subgrade steel scrap—"nor had bound itself to pay"—and, in addition, had protested that the material in the cars did not meet specifications of No. 1 heavy melting steel.

"We cannot see," the court concluded, "that by accepting and using this scrap, the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation committed any act that would infringe the price regulations as long as it did not pay a price higher than that fixed by the regulation. That it has not done."

Doubts Silver Can Be Used in Non-War Items

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau said that it was doubtful whether there would be any more silver available for jewelry, silverware, or other non-war uses for the duration.

Treasury experts said, however, that the industry was working on some possibilities.

They explained that priorities prevent nonwar users from getting any more imported silver, which costs 35 cents an ounce in contrast to American mined silver which the treasury is required by law to buy at 71.11 cents an ounce.

Divert Some to Industry.

The treasury has made it possible for American miners to sell some of this higher priced silver to industry thru some technical postponements in delivery dates on silver already sold to the treasury. This will enable some mines to sell to industry the silver that they have technically sold to the treasury, and make good their contracts with the treasury out of future production.

However, treasury experts said, many manufacturers could not use 71 cent silver without raising the prices of the jewelry, silverware, or other items. Present price regulations prohibit this, but the industry is seeking permission to charge higher prices.

Treasury May Sell Some.

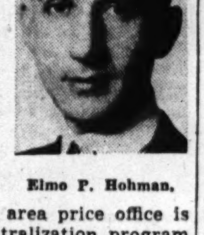
If they fail to get these higher prices for their finished products, the experts said, a few of the manufacturers might be able to use the 71 cent silver anyway, and make up the difference out of their profits, especially since the cost of the silver is not always the most important cost in making a finished silver product.

Another possibility, Morgenthau revealed, is that the treasury owns 5 million ounces of unobligated silver which could be sold to industry. However, the treasury wants to keep this silver for possible emergencies.

The treasury also owns billions of ounces of other silver, which, under the silver purchase act of 1934 it believes can not be sold.

FORM NEW OPA STAFF OF 15 FOR CHICAGO REGION

A new price administrative staff composed of 15 business specialists and economists has been established for the Chicago metropolitan area, Michael F. Mulcahy, area OPA director, announced yesterday. The staff will have headquarters in room 846 of the Builders' building, 228 North La Salle street.



Elmo P. Hohman.

Creation of the area price office is part of the decentralization program of the OPA in concentrating administrative authority in local communities. The staff is headed by Elmo P. Hohman, area price officer, who is on leave of absence from Northwestern university where he has taught economics for almost 20 years.

The metropolitan area OPA organization is now complete with rationing and price staffs with headquarters in the Builders' building to serve business men and consumers affected by OPA regulations.

Two Tax Payments Due Next Month on July Sales

The Illinois Manufacturers' association reminded merchants and business men yesterday that on Aug. 15 the state retailers' occupation tax return and payment for July is due. The federal excise tax return and payment is required on Aug. 31.

TAFT CHARGES TREASURY PLAN IS INFLATIONARY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.], member of the senate finance committee, today assailed the treasury's financing policy as inflationary in itself and proposed his own five point program for dealing with inflation.

Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Taft's remarks were made in the senate after Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau admitted to his press conference earlier that a plan of forced savings, such as has been advocated by Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the finance committee, "deserves study."

Morgenthau still expressed belief, however, in his voluntary war bond purchase plan and said he hoped to avoid compulsory purchases at least for the rest of the year.

Plan Would Raise Taxes.

Morgenthau asserted he did not mean to imply support of the George plan—which calls for higher income taxes, with part of them invested in government obligations to be refunded with interest after the war—but said it deserves attention.

Later Sen. George suggested that some form of tax credits for debt payments made by individuals and corporations should be included in the revenue bill, particularly payments on debts contracted prior to this year.

Taft criticized large treasury sales of government bonds to commercial banks. He recalled recent testimony of treasury experts that they planned to sell 25 to 30 billion dollars' worth in such fashion this fiscal year, and added that such an operation "is almost the same as printing that much paper money."

"It will create from 25 to 30 billion dollars of purchasing power out of thin air," he declared. "That tremendous purchasing power will beat against any price ceilings, no matter how skilfully maintained, until they collapse under the strain."

Asks Better Plan.

He said the treasury should develop a more adequate program to tax and borrow the money it needs, and should endeavor to get thru this year without any unusual sale of bonds to commercial banks.

These steps should be taken to combat inflation, Taft asserted:

1. Have the treasury expand its borrowing program to sell bonds entirely to corporations and individuals instead of commercial banks.
2. Revise the farm price floor to 100 per cent of parity instead of 110 per cent.
3. Adopt legislation giving the War Labor board control of wages and salaries, with admonition not to raise them more than 5 per cent in any one year. He said he questioned the wisdom of a 15 per cent increase from Jan. 1, 1941, recently recommended by the WLB.
4. Create an over-all commodity control board.
5. Adapt price control to the "stabilization" theory involving elastic control, and eliminating price fixing on the ceiling or freezing theory.

U. S. RUBBER CO. 6 MONTH PROFIT DOWN 4½ MILLION

Sales Tumble, but Federal Tax Burden Rises.

The United States Rubber company reported yesterday that its profit for the six months ended June 30 dropped to $1,554,841 from $6,203,314 in the first half of 1941. Sales totaled $130,814,895, a decrease of $19,862,844 from last year.

The company provided $8,886,477 for taxes under the 1941 law and set aside an additional $3,220,000 for proposed increases in the pending 1942 revenue act. The company also deducted $2,741,649 for war loss provisions.

Dividends Deferred.

F. B. Davis Jr., chairman and president, said action on dividends has been postponed because of "conditions due to the war and to the tentative nature of any presently determined profits." No dividends have been paid on either common or preferred stock this year.

Shipments of war products were more than three times as large as in the corresponding half of 1941. Davis said that nine war plants are now under the company's management, seven factories having been added under government contracts awarded this year.

Nash-Kelvinator corporation had net income for the third quarter of its fiscal year, the three months ending June 30, of $811,047, compared with $2,606,589 the preceding year. Profit for the nine months ended June 30 was $2,368,562, against $3,734,246 a yea rearlier.

CASUALTY FIRM HAS PROFIT ON UNDERWRITING

The Continental Casualty company, Chicago, reported yesterday an underwriting profit for the first six months of 1942 of $1,084,293, compared with an underwriting loss of $377,229 in the corresponding 1941 period. Operating profit for the first half of this year before provision for income tax was $1,497,999, while net premium writings increased $1,025,204 over the period a year ago to $15,542,005.

Admitted assets were $46,957,639, a gain of $1,812,979 since last Dec. 31. The company provided $750,000 for income taxes for the six month period.

The Continental Assurance company, an affiliate, increased its insurance in force $15,367,439 during the first half of this year to $382,413,884 on June 30. The company showed admitted assets of $42,691,477, a gain of $1,925,179 since the end of 1941.

Ruberoid Company Office to Move Into Bell Building

The Ruberoid company, manufacturer of roofing, insulation, and building materials, will move its western division offices from 5333 South Western avenue to the Bell building, 307 North Michigan avenue, on or before Sept. 1, E. M. Railton, vice president, announced.

Chicago Business Gains Offset by Government War Curbs

Some phases of Chicago business expanded in June as a result of war production, but others felt the restrictive effects of government regulation, a Chicago Association of Commerce survey for the month disclosed yesterday.

The association's analysis showed that 14 of 25 indices included in the survey declined, while 11 advanced. June was the first month this year to record a reversal of the general upward trend in business activity that followed expansion of the war program, the association said.

One of the largest gains reported was a jump of 18.3 per cent in factory pay rolls, compared with June, 1941. Outgoing telephone calls, affected by war communications requirements, increased more than 5 per cent. Consumption of electric power gained 4.8 per cent, with war production needs apparently more than offsetting the curtailing effects of curbs on civilian goods production.

EARLIER BUYING AIDS COAL SALES, TRUAX REPORTS

Tells Owners Firm Will Have Profit.

Many homeowners are complying with the government's request that winter coal supplies be laid in now to help ease the transportation rush in the autumn, Arthur H. Truax, president of Truax-Traer Coal company, Chicago, told stockholders yesterday at their annual meeting. He said "a considerable tonnage" of coal for home heating that ordinarily would not move until fall has been handled.

Truax told the stockholders that the company's first quarter sales were larger than a year earlier, and that earnings also should show improvement on the basis of federal tax rates now under consideration.

Loss Usual for Period.

The first quarter of the company's fiscal year ends on July 31. Truax-Traer usually has a small net loss for this period, but will have an operating profit this time as a result of the early coal movement, it was said.

"How much of these earnings can be carried thru to net income will depend on the final form and rates of the new tax bill," he said. "If final tax rates are no higher than those currently reported planned, the company will be able to report a first quarter net in excess of last year [profit in the 1941 first fiscal quarter was $124,385]."

Coastal Shipments Halted.

He reported that all of the company's West Virginia Cabin Creek mines' output for the rest of the navigation season has been sold on a more favorable price basis than last year, but that coastwise shipments from the West Virginia mines to New England have ceased as a result of the submarine menace.

The stockholders reëlected the directors and approved a pension plan for salaried employés earning $3,000 or more a year.

The directors declared a dividend of 20 cents on common stock and a quarterly payment of $1.37½ on the 5½ per cent preferred.

WEEK'S LOADINGS OF FREIGHT FALL BELOW YEAR AGO

Loadings of revenue freight during the week ended July 25 totaled 855,522 cars, a decrease of 1,545 cars, or 0.2 per cent, from the preceding week, and a decrease of 42,042 cars, or 4.7 per cent, from the like 1941 period, the Association of American railroads reported yesterday. The loadings were classified as follows:

before the finance committee "goes in the right direction, but in my opinion it does not go far enough," said the senator in advocating heavy taxes to absorb purchasing power.

The operator of a small war plant meanwhile told the senate finance committee he could triple his production of essential war equipment if the high corporation rates proposed in the house approved tax bill were reduced.

Paulsen Spence of Walden, N. Y., testified that the Spence Engineering company he heads could produce $1,500 000 worth of pressure reducing valves for war plants instead of its present quota of $500,000 yearly if he could retain enough money after paying his taxes to finance expansion.

"The essential point that you gentlemen should consider," Spence told committee members, "is whether you want to get taxes or to get out war production."

Spence's complaint that taxation was making it difficult for smaller war plants to expand to meet production demands was supported by President C. F. Hotchkiss Jr. of the Stow Manufacturing company, Binghampton, N. Y., maker of flexible drive shafts.

WAR PRODUCTS.

I have been told that Humble Oil and Refining company is an important producer in the industry of aviation fuel and is building facilities for the manufacture of synthetic rubber. Any information you have on this company will be appreciated. Is its stock controled by any other oil company?—T. Q.

Answer: Humble Oil and Refining company is one of the principal subsidiaries of Standard Oil company of New Jersey. Altho its chief operations are in crude oil, Humble Oil and Refining's activities cover all phases of the petroleum industry. Its crude oil reserves are estimated to exceed domestic holdings of any other company and are located mainly in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana and Mississippi.

The Humble Pipe Line company, a wholly owned subsidiary, with a larger capacity for gathering and transporting oil than any other system in the country, serves all principal oil fields in Texas and southeastern New Mexico. Retail marketing activities are confined to Texas. The bulk of gasoline and other output of four refineries in Texas are shipped to the parent company for distribution.

Last year the company produced large quantities of toluene, a liquid hydrocarbon used in making dyes and other compounds, aviation and high octane gasoline, aviation lubricants and other essential war products. Facilities have been substantially increased to meet government demand for these products.

Plans were announced this year for the construction of two plants for the manufacture of synthetic rubber from petroleum products for the government. Cost of the undertaking was estimated at 43 million dollars to be paid for by the company and the government. An additional plant for the manufacture of butadiene also is planned.

Humble Oil and Refining was organized in 1917 in Texas as successor to the Humble Oil company. Capitalization at the end of 1941 was 8,987,840 shares of no par capital stock, about 72 per cent of which is owned by Standard Oil of New Jersey, and a total funded debt of $57,606,120. A record of recent financial results follows:

1941	$232,142,043	$35,356,558	$2.00
1940	198,692,650	28,107,503	2.00
1939	199,500,589	29,950,288	2.00
1938	205,458,293	35,800,354	2.00
1937	213,266,233	46,924,001	2.00

Dividends totaling 75 cents have been paid to date this year. Capital stock is listed on the New York Curb exchange and ranged from 1937 thru 1941 from 47⅛ to 87.

9 ADVANTAGES of Getting YOUR LOAN
from 'PERSONAL'

1. Loans made to employed men and women whether single or married.
2. Business women and those working in defense plants borrow here "on your own."
3. A special plan provides loans for defense workers and others on a new job or who have just moved into the community.
4. Between pay day loans for small amounts and short periods made as readily as other loans.
5. Loans made for purchase of tools, uniforms, car or home repairs, medical or dental attention, payment of old bills, etc.
6. Your account here establishes NATIONWIDE Cash Credit at any of more than 400 "Personal" offices.
7. Monthly payments arranged that you can comfortably afford.
8. Complete privacy. Loans made on signature, furniture, or auto. No wage assignments. Outsiders not involved.
9. Friendly, considerate service. No waiting for a "Board" or committee to pass on your loan.

"We don't believe that folks should borrow unless a loan is the best solution to their problem. If it is, we want to serve them."
